BRITAIN QUITS DAKAR BATTLE

RECALLING 1916, PARTIES BATTLE FOR CALIFORNIA

State Again May Be Decisive Factor.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 25.—California is the scene of a spectacular battle over 22 electoral votes which might decide the Presidential election, if history should repeat itself.

Senator Hiram Johnson.

In 1916 the election hung in the balance until the complete returns showed Woodrow Wilson had carried California by fewer than 4,000 votes. California's 13 electoral votes at that time gave Wilson a majority of 23 in the electoral college. Had Charles Evans Hughes carried California he would have been elected by a majority of 3 electoral votes. Thus the election of 1916 was decided by 2,000 California voters.

In the opinion of many politicians at the time, Hughes lost many times those pivotal 2,000 votes in California by a political blunder.

Johnson Group Angered.

When he was campaigning in California Hughes was escorted about the state by Republican leaders directing his canvass who were antagonistic to Hiram W. Johnson, then governor, now United States senator. At one time Hughes and Johnson were in the same hotel but Hughes failed to call on the governor. Hughes left behind him in California a disgruntled Johnson faction. In the same election Johnson was elected United States senator by 296,815 votes, while Hughes lost California by 3,806 votes.

Twenty-four years have passed and again the spotlight rests upon Hiram Johnson, who has achieved the extraordinary political eminence of being the overwhelming choice of the Republican, Democratic, and Progressive parties as the candidate to succeed himself for a fifth term in the senate.

Senator's Word Awaited.

Since Johnson is the idol of the California populace, Republican leaders in the state believe that his mere indorsement of the Republican candidate would be sufficient to assure Willkie of those 22 electoral votes, despite the fact that the registration shows 900,000 more Democratic than Republican voters in this commonwealth.

Johnson is in Washington but is expected to come to California after the adjournment of congress to make one or more speeches in which he logically would state his attitude toward the Presidential candidates. So far the only indication of his attitude is a blistering retort he made to Mr. Roosevelt after the California primary.

Roosevelt Draws Retort.

The entry of Johnson not only in the Republican but in the Democratic primary, in which he received more votes than all his Democratic rivals put together, prompted a reporter at a White House press conference to ask whether the President regarded the senator as a Democrat. Mr. Roosevelt said that the record of his friend Johnson in recent years showed he no longer entertained those forward looking liberal ideas to which the Democratic party is committed.

"This is the same old purge," retorted Johnson, "the same old sham expression of regard and affection, the same old stiletto."

The Democratic leaders are prepared for a Johnson indorsement of Willkie and are discounting its effect. They say that Johnson is a political phenomenon; that he has become a California institution.

Minimize His Influence.

California will keep the 74 year old warrior in Washington as long as he lives, just for sentimental reasons, say the Democrats, but will not be influenced by any opinions he may express in the autumn of his life. He can command votes for himself, but can swing no votes to another, they profess to believe.

There is abundant evidence that the conservative trend away from the New Deal that manifested itself so unmistakably in the 1938 elections is still in progress in this state, tho whether it is sufficient to wipe out the enormous Democratic margin is

TIGERS TAKE TWO; INDIANS WIN, 4-2; BEARS LOSE, 21-7

The Detroit Tigers increased their lead over the Cleveland Indians to two games yesterday by defeating the White Sox, 10 to 9, and 3 to 2, while the Indians were beating the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 2. The New York Yankees' game with Washington was rained out. Cleveland now is two full games behind the Tigers, and the Yankees are one and one-half games farther back.

The Chicago Cardinals upset the Bears, 21 to 7, in a National Football league game in Comiskey park last night.

NELSON LINKS CHIEF COURTNEY SLEUTH TO NITTI

Charges Gilbert Met Gangster at Spa.

Judge Oscar F. Nelson turned last night on his Democratic opponent for state's attorney, Thomas J. Courtney, charging that while the prosecutor allegedly was conducting a man hunt for Frank Nitti, the hoodlum, in Chicago, Nitti was seen conferring in Hot Springs, Ark., with Courtney's own chief investigator, Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert.

Nelson's charges came in the form of instalment No. 2 of a radio series which Judge Nelson calls "Hypocrisy in Public Office." The Republican nominee for state's attorney declared that since Courtney's election in 1932 law enforcement in the county had been on a "fix-it" basis. He revived an old charge that Gilbert was under an untried indictment for assault with intent to kill at the time Courtney made him his chief investigator.

Protection Charge Hurled.

Nelson also charged that following a loop restaurant bombing in 1935, Gilbert advised restaurant men to raise a "protection fund," and suggested they seek advice from a "Mr. McGah," whom Nelson described as Courtney's former law partner.

Witnesses have been telling the grand jury that Nelson has been a close associate of George Scalise, the convicted ex-president of the Building Service Employés' International union. Nelson brought up the subject and insisted he had known Scalise only "slightly." And he declared that Courtney had shown no interest in Scalise until after District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York had convicted him.

Denies Recent Association.

Scalise became "a big shot labor man" during Courtney's term of office, Nelson asserted. He said he had known Scalise as he had known many men—"most of them good, and a few of them bad"—during 30 years in the labor movement, but defied Courtney to cite one instance when he had met or associated with Scalise since the latter's criminal record was exposed two years ago.

Nelson said he had been expecting "mud slinging" since he delivered his first radio speech a week ago, when he said that "eight years of failure to prosecute notorious criminals on the part of the state's attorney cannot go unheeded."

Charges Foe with Evasion.

"The state's attorney," he continued, "has conducted himself in this instance in accordance with my prediction. Instead of answering the charges against him and his office, he and his agents rush into print with vile, lying attacks upon me.

"By half-truths and whole lies they seek to misdirect the attention of the good people of Cook county away from his trail of incompetency, failure and worse. It is a trail that reeks with unsolved and unpunished crime."

Nelson said that "a few months ago," while newspaper headlines brought word that Courtney's office was seeking Nitti, the gangster was registered in the same hotel in Hot Springs with Capt. Gilbert, and had been seen "conferring" with him.

Says Pair "Consorted" at Spa.

"Think of it," he declared, "Courtney's chief bloodhound consorts at Hot Springs with the man they are hunting, while in Cook county, we are supposed to believe that a gigantic manhunt is under way."

The Republican nominee turned part of his broadcast over to Mai Coghlan, for a time one of his primary opponents last spring. Coghlan recalled the sensational murder of Audrey Vallette, party girl, who was shot in July, 1936. Mrs. Ruth Freed, wife of a night club owner, was absolved by a coroner's jury of her murder.

Coghlan said that his investigation of this case, as an assistant state's attorney, was hampered by Gilbert, and charged that Gilbert had "interests contrary to mine," and "wanted the failure and not the success of honest investigation."

Ex-Policeman Reaches End of His Trail

It took the Albany Park police less than 10 minutes last evening to close in on the gunman who had robbed James La Kamp, driver for a bottling company, of $43 in cash and checks at Francisco avenue and Irving Park road. But they made no capture. As they approached, their victim shot himself to death.

[The late Police Lieut. Timothy Cullinan was a proud man on the day in May, 1924, when his son, Thaddeus, 24 years old, joined the police force. The next year a daughter, Marjorie, was born to Thaddeus and his young wife, Margaret. In 1927 Thad Jr. arrived. Patricia Joan came along in 1929. The year 1930 was a happy one.

Catherine was born and shortly afterward her father was cited for bravery in action. Another citation followed in 1931. In 1933 Policeman Cullinan became Sergt. Cullinan.

Then it happened. Cullinan's drinking, which always had been moderate, began to dominate his life.

In 1936, after beating his wife and failing to appear for duty after a protracted drinking bout, Cullinan was suspended. His wife was taken to a hospital and he followed her there, terrorizing attendants by firing a bullet into the wall of her room.

He was locked up, then fined 30 days' pay, but he got back on the force. In the three years that followed Cullinan was suspended five times more—almost a record in the police department—as the result of brawls attendant upon his drinking.

Eventually Cullinan was dismissed from the service. This was on Jan. 20, 1940.

No more was heard of the former sergeant nor of his family, which now included Timothy, 3 years old, and Thomas, 2.]

Last night two of Cullinan's former fellow policemen, Carter Foss and Dennis Sullivan, were on duty when the robbery of James La Kamp was reported to the Albany Park station. At the scene they were told the gunman had fled into a tavern at 2923 Irving Park road. There La Kamp pointed out the fugitive, who ran out a side door.

The police followed in time to see their man shoot himself thru the head and fall. Approaching, Foss and Sullivan looked down into the face of Thaddeus Cullinan.

BRITISH RAID BERLIN FOR 5 HOURS; CIVILIANS KEPT UP MOST OF NIGHT

BERLIN, Sept. 26, Thursday (AP).—A 5 hour air raid alarm, Berlin's longest of the war, kept Berliners in cellars most of the night. The raid came so early it caught many persons on the way home and they had to spend the night in strange air raid shelters. Most of the raiding British planes stayed over the city's industrial suburbs. Two waves passed over the city. Antiaircraft cannon in Berlin's central district went into action twice. Officially it was stated bombs were dropped in residential and outlying districts and some houses destroyed. It was the fourth successive night raid on Berlin.

The German high command claimed a number of successes for Nazi Tuesday night and Wednesday raids on Britain. Railway facilities were reported destroyed in the area of Dover, Folkestone, and Ashford, and port facilities hit at Hastings, Liverpool, Cardiff, Newhaven, and Brighton, as well as the Woolstone airplane factory at Southampton.

[An account of Germany's air attacks on London and England will be found on page 3.]

U. S. SELLS THREE BUILDINGS FOR 15 CENTS EACH

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 25 [Special].—Alvie Frey of Mount Carroll, Ill., purchased three cabins for 15 cents each when he submitted the only bids on three buildings offered for sale at the Rock Island district office of the United States engineers.

The buildings are located on the Iowa shore of the Mississippi river and on islands near lock and dam No. 13 at Fulton, Ill. They consist of cabins and outbuildings.

Three other cabins on which awards were made were a little more expensive. Walter Crawford, Sabula, Ill., got two for $1.25 each and Donald A. Arnold, Savanna, Ill., bought one for $5.

It's cheaper to give them away at these prices, engineers said, than to go to the expense of burning them. Awards on three other items involving the lease of land will be made thru the division office, St. Louis.

Specialist Hired to Save Willkie Voice Loses Own

Aboard Willkie Special, Sept. 25.—Harold Barnard, Beverly Hills, Cal., throat specialist who came aboard this train to care for Wendell Willkie's voice, lost his own today. Dr. Barnard said he lent his voice to Willkie. However, it was generally believed he lost it yelling at Willkie to conserve his voice and strength.

3 Ton Bombs Strike Britain, Nazis Reveal

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—The German air force is now using bombs of unparalleled powers of destruction in its raids on Britain, it was disclosed here today. While to date the heaviest German bombs weigh 1,800 kilograms [a kilogram is equivalent to 2.2 pounds], the German air force is now believed to employ superbombs weighing 3,000 kilograms or three tons.

To increase the possibility of these costly superbombs hitting their marks, they are dropped by Stukas [dive bombers].

Withhold Type Plane Used.

Whether the German Stuka of the type Junkers 88, successor of the Junkers 87 used in the earlier part of the war, is able to carry these superbombs or whether the Germans have constructed a special dive bomber to hurl these deadly missiles was not made public.

Contrary to reports published abroad that the German plans for an invasion of the British Isles have been postponed probably until next spring, the fact that today's German war communique declares railways in southeast England, especially in the area of Dover, Folkestone, and Ashton, were extensively bombed, was seen by some here as a sign that the zero hour for the invasion is drawing nearer. The Germans said that an invasion would by no means be necessarily restricted to a German landing in the Dover region.

Might Land at Various Points.

The Germans argued that landings may be attempted at several points simultaneously, while at the same time "air borne troops might land at 10 or 100 various points in England." Some of these troops landed by air, the Germans maintained, would be overpowered, but others would be able to hold their own until reinforcements arrived.

The Germans declared that in view of the "gigantic air transport fleet," it will be possible to rush reinforcements to England "at a rate of 50,000 men an hour including equipment and ammunition." In reply to the argument that such troops would be without sufficient tanks and heavy artillery, German military men point to the Belgian fort of Eben Emael, which was "taken by a dozen men" and to the Dutch fortifications of Arnheim which, the Germans said, were "stormed by three men."

U. S. Makes 2 Moves to Curb Jap Expansion

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Two new moves in the Roosevelt administration's undertaking to restrain Japanese expansion were disclosed today and diplomatic quarters predicted a still more startling development in the next 48 hours.

Today's developments in the administration's program to stiffen resistance against Japan by measures short of war were:

1. Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, announced a new $25,000,000 loan to China, to be repaid over a period of years by shipments of tungsten. The new loan will make a total of $70,000,000 advanced to China by the Export-Import bank.

2. It was learned that the state department has agreed to permit French Indo-China to purchase arms in the United States if it finally determines upon a policy of resistance to Japan. The state department previously had refused to grant licenses for the shipment of munitions to French Indo-China, ostensibly on the ground they might fall into the hands of Japanese.

Hint New Embargo.

In reliable quarters President Roosevelt was reported to be considering other measures "stronger and more effective than mere words" to halt Japan's Greater East Asia expansion program.

Among other possibilities, he is said to be considering an embargo against the exportation of oil, steel, scrap metal, and other war materials to Japan. Shipments of aviation gasoline already are prohibited. The only deterring consideration, according to diplomatic sources, is the possibility that a complete embargo on war supplies might impel Japan to seize the Dutch East Indies and cut off the shipment of rubber and tin to the United States.

Intensification of the administration's "aid short of war" program in the far east followed persistent reports in diplomatic circles of an agreement between the United States and Great Britain whereby the United States fleet will police the Pacific, and, if necessary, will use the British naval base at Singapore.

Hull Denounces Invasion.

Having repeatedly warned Japan to keep hands off the Dutch East Indies and French Indo-China, Secretary of State Cordell Hull on Monday denounced the Japanese invasion of the French colony. He said it upset the status quo, under duress, and expressed the disapproval and depreciation of this government. At the same time Hull denied vehemently that the state department had approved French concessions to Japan in Indo-China.

Nevertheless, a military mission from French Indo-China, headed by Col. H. Jacomy, waited in Washington for three weeks, with $12,000,000 in certified checks, before it was able to obtain permission to purchase arms in the United States. The French embassy, presumably under instructions from the Nazi dominated Vichy government, refused to coöperate with Col. Jacomy and he got nowhere at the state department.

Coöperation Is Assured.

Before leaving Washington yesterday, en route to Indo-China by plane, Col. Jacomy was assured that his government could get licenses for the purchase of aircraft and other munitions in this country if it manifested a determination to resist Japan.

State department officials denied reports that Col. Jacomy wanted world war rifles or any other United States army equipment, or that he wanted arms for Indo-China transported by American vessels, in violation of the neutrality law.

In announcing the new $25,000,000 loan to China, Jones said the Metals Reserve company, a government corporation, had agreed to buy tungsten to the value of $30,000,000 from the national resources commission of China, which would liquidate the loan. On Dec. 15, 1938, the Export-Import bank authorized credits of $25,000,000 for China, to be repaid with wood oil, and on March 7, 1940, it authorized $20,000,000, to be repaid with tin.

Of all loans heretofore authorized to China, $43,824,000 has been disbursed and $13,160,000 has been repaid, with nothing past due, Jones said.

Writes 'Grandiose te Deum' to Be Sung When War Ends

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 25.—Lorenzo Perosi has just finished composing what is described as a "grandiose te Deum" to be sung as soon as the war ends, it was announced today. The famous composer left Rome when Italy declared war and retired voluntarily to the famous monastery of St. Benedict, 40 miles from Rome. There he composed the new work.

NAVY AND 'FREE FRENCH' FORCES ARE WITHDRAWN

Desire to Avoid Full War, London Says.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 25.—British warships and troops and the "free French" forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle have given up their costly three day battle for the strategic French West African port of Dakar, the British government announced tonight.

Gen. De Gaulle.

An official statement disclosed that the duel between the Dakar shore batteries, aided by French warships, and the British fleet caused heavy casualties on both sides. It said that the failure of De Gaulle's forces to effect a landing at Dakar in six attempts convinced the British that "only a major war operation," for which they were unprepared and unwilling, could bring about the port's capture, and so the hostilities were discontinued.

Two French Submarines Sunk.

De Gaulle, himself, it was said, was "most anxious that he should not be the cause of bloodshed to his fellow countrymen." From the outset of the expedition, it was said, De Gaulle made it clear that his forces would not be used to fight other Frenchmen.

However, that there were serious casualties in the bitter fighting for the port was revealed when the British said they had been forced to sink two French submarines, the crew of only one of which was saved. Reports from Vichy, France, said at least 250 Frenchmen had been killed and 588 wounded as the Dakar colonial garrison of 6,000 staved off landing attempts by De Gaulle's 7,000 expeditionaries aboard six transports.

The British also acknowledged that the Dakar shore batteries had scored hits on British men-of-war and the French government at Vichy announced that three British warships, the battleships Barham and Resolution and the heavy cruiser Kent, were damaged.

De Gaulle Expected Welcome.

The British communique on the withdrawal said the expedition was dispatched to the capital of French West Africa because De Gaulle believed a large portion of the French population of Senegal supported the "free French" movement. The statement added that De Gaulle was convinced the people "would welcome his arrival and that a similar [anti-German] situation might be established there to that which exists in French Equatorial Africa," which already has declared for Gen. De Gaulle.

The British said they were "all the more willing to afford Gen. De Gaulle this support, as information had reached them that German influence was spreading to Dakar."

However, the British statement said that when the Dakar batteries fired on De Gaulle's emissaries as they approached the port, and subsequently on the British warships which were standing by, the fire was returned and "both his majesty's ships and the shore batteries scored hits and incurred casualties."

"Fire from the French battleship Richelieu [which was damaged in a British raid on Dakar in July] was joined to that of the shore batteries, and consequently her fire had to be returned," the statement continued.

Britain Explains Action.

Then after three days, the communique said, the decision to stop fighting was reached "when it became plain that only a major operation of war" could win control of the strategic port.

"It has never been the intention of his majesty's government to enter into serious warlike operations against those Frenchmen who felt it their duty to obey the commands of the Vichy government," the statement added.

[The withdrawal after a bloody fight recalled similar British adversities in this war: The withdrawals from Norway, from the Low Countries, and from British Somaliland.]

De Gaulle Supporters Seized.

French circles in London explained that conditions at Dakar had changed considerably since De Gaulle left England with his expeditionary force.

Many of De Gaulle's supporters at Dakar, it was said, had been arrested by High Commissioner Pierre Boisson, while French warships, which the British had allowed to pass thru the Straits of Gibraltar, arrived at the port with trained troops, as well as crews, adhering to the Vichy government in stronger force than De Gaulle was able to combat.

Since the start of the Dakar operations, the British press has been playing up the American reaction and even tonight the Evening Standard military expert sought to show how Dakar might become a challenge to America, if used as an axis base. Declaring the United States welcomed the British action at Dakar, the paper said, "The United States is already at war with the axis. This fact seems to have eluded only the citizens of the United States."

Vichy Tells of Air Raids.

VICHY, France, Sept. 25 (AP).—Cut off from all direct communication with Dakar, the Vichy government late tonight lacked its own confirmation that the British had abandoned the three day battle for possession of that stoutly resisting African colonial capital.

Since British shells and bombs smashed the Dakar radio station, reports reaching here have been circuitous. The latest said that Charles De Gaulle, the former French general under death sentence here for treason, had withdrawn his "free" French forces.

The battle was continued ferociously by the British during the day, these reports stated. Swarms of British planes bombed the city and the naval base, and British warships hurled salvo after salvo into the capital, but three of the biggest British ships were declared damaged by shore guns and French submarines.

[The German radio broadcast a Vichy report that the grand vizier of the sultan of Morocco called upon French Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin and expressed Morocco's determination to "stand faithfully by Marshal Philippe Petain and his cabinet."]

BRITISH RAIDERS BOMB ETHIOPIAN AIRPORT AGAIN

NAIROBI, Kenya County, Sept. 25 (AP).—The Sciasciamanna airdrome in Abyssinia [Ethiopia] was raided Sunday for the third time in the last fortnight, a British communique stated today. An Italian aircraft on the ground was destroyed, it added.

Italian aircraft attempted two raids over Kenya on Monday, one at Majir and the other in the Tana river area, inflicting casualties, but doing no material damage, the report declared.

15 Killed at Tobruk.

ROME, Sept. 25 (AP).—Italy's high command reported today that enemy aviation bombed Tobruk, Libya, with explosive and incendiary bombs, striking civilian dwellings, civilian and military hospitals, and an unloaded steamer in the harbor. Fifteen persons were killed and 70 injured. An enemy plane was shot down.

Italians Report Cable Cut.

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—The Italian radio reported today that about 12½ miles of Mediterranean telegraphic cable, linking the British base of Malta and Gibraltar, had been ripped from the sea floor by a "special Italian vessel."

RADIO REPORTS TORPEDOING OF 2 BRITISH SHIPS

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—Messages received by Mackay radio stated two British steamers had been torpedoed west of Ireland.

A report from the Valencia island radio station, in Ireland, said the steamship Corrientes was torpedoed about 800 miles west of Ireland at 7:40 o'clock tonight, Chicago time.

The steamer Sulairia previously reported she was torepedoed about 475 miles west of Ireland.

The Corrientes, out of Glasgow, is listed in Lloyd's register of shipping as a 6,863 ton, 419 foot steamer owned by the Donaldson South American Line, Ltd. She was built in 1920. The Sulairia is listed as a 5,802 ton ship constructed in 1929, out of Glasgow, and owned by the Donaldson line.

Charge Nazis Set Up Illegal Latin American Mail Line

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Sept. 25.—The Diario de Costa Rica today said the German legation at Guatemala has established a private mail service in Central America in violation of postal conventions. It said the German legation circulates correspondence thru an attaché of the legation who travels by plane and is met at each capital by German consuls and Nazi agents.

Attack Abandoned

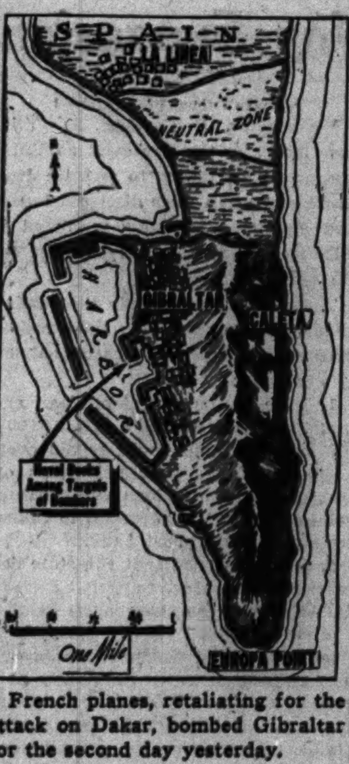
Free French forces supported by British warships gave up the attempt to land troops at Dakar yesterday.



French planes, retaliating for the attack on Dakar, bombed Gibraltar for the second day yesterday.

GERMANY DENIES TROOPS KILLED IN THE CHANNEL

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP).—Authorized German sources today said there was no truth in reports that many thousands of bodies of German soldiers had been washed ashore along the English channel.

Such accounts were declared to be an indication of a situation which compels the British "to put out such silly lies."

[British military sources Tuesday refused comment on a dispatch from the French-Spanish frontier saying Germany lost "between 50,000 and 60,000 picked troops" Sept. 16 when a gale scattered an "invasion fleet." The assertions were made in the London Daily Mail by Harold Cardozo, special correspondent.]

2 FIREMEN HURT IN STABLE BLAZE IN MORTON GROVE

Two Glenview firemen were injured slightly last night fighting flames that caused damage estimated at $5,000 to the Evanston Saddle club stables on Harms road near Golf road in Morton Grove. The fire departments of Morton Grove, Evanston, Niles Center, and Glenview assisted in extinguishing the fire. The firemen, Capt. Ray Burmeister and Assistant Chief Arthur C. Jones, were in the hayloft when its floor collapsed. Thirty horses were led to safety by Robert Pewit, the manager.

FRENCH BOMBERS IN WAVES BLAST GIBRALTAR AGAIN

Blow Up Two Magazines; Navy Base Set Afire.

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 26, Thursday (AP).—The command of this mighty British fortress, world symbol of impregnability, today announced that "large numbers" of French planes bombed the rock Wednesday for 2½ hours. More than 300 bombs were dropped by about 100 planes, the authorities stated.

Considerable damage was done to private and government properties, the British authorities reported, but there was little damage to military works and personnel. Three enemy planes were reported shot down and two others, it was said, possibly were downed.

MAGAZINES EXPLODED.

Watchers in La Linea, Spain, opposite Gibraltar, said the waves of French planes were so swift and so numerous that they defied counting. Two powder magazines exploded, and flames leaped high from the naval base installations.

Observers said an armed British trawler was sunk by a direct hit. Workers reaching La Linea from Gibraltar reported the gas plant was set afire, a building next to the governor's palace was wrecked, and streets in front of the palace flooded by water from broken mains. One bomb was said to have hit an anti-aircraft battery.

These workers said bombs fell in many parts of the town of Gibraltar, as distinguished from the fortress, and that casualties were "heavy."

Smoke billowed up from the vicinity of the arsenal and the town itself, and still the planes came over. [A French communique said Britain's 32,000 ton battle cruiser Renown was hit Tuesday and forced to steam away.]

Second Attack in Two Days.

The attack—second in two days, and carried out in reprisal for the "free French" and British assault on Dakar, French West Africa, opened at 2:40 p. m. with the planes attacking in groups of four.

Forty-five minutes later 14 planes droned across the narrow Strait of Gibraltar from Morocco. As the planes wheeled for home others appeared. By 4:15 p. m. the attackers were so numerous and moving so swiftly that observers could not count them. The bombardment ended at 4:45 p. m.

U. S. EMBARKS ON IMPERIALISM, SAYS NAZI PAPER

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP).—The Hamburger Fremdenblatt, usually well versed in German foreign office trends, today pictured the United States as embarking upon "brutal imperialism," with England's crisis regarded as a "welcome occasion" for pushing the British away from the American coast.

Recent transactions whereby the United States got western hemisphere defense bases for 50 destroyers have shown, the newspaper asserted, that the United States is determined to "profit from the great new order which has been set in motion by the living crisis of the British empire."

The newspaper said President Roosevelt "is doing his utmost to recommend himself to future histories as an augmenter of his land."

Canada, it went on, "will be increasingly controled by the United States" and "the stars and stripes will wave over the oldest colonial possession of the empire in the West Indies."

TOWN ONCE 7,000 NOW 13,000 WITH BOMB REFUGEES

Trek Goes on to Safe Places in Britain.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

A TOWN IN CENTRAL ENGLAND, Sept. 25.—Removal of civilians to safe places plays a leading rôle in modern war. Countries involved divide their territory into zones which are labeled safe or unsafe for women and children. Many English women are beginning to be offended at being classified with children, but officials carry the process thru in a businesslike manner.

This is being written in a safe zone or a receiving end of a population change. The censor will not let the names of the towns go out, but the travelers are in a typical small town of 7,000 population near the center of England. There are 13,000 people here now.

The place has all the charm one imagines in the English countryside. Sheep are grazing on the village green, cattle and chickens are on the banks of a small stream winding thru the town, and there are lots of swans in the water. Children and dogs are playing all over the place and yet the town alarm sounds for an air raid.

Three Planes Overhead.

High overhead three airplanes are flying in formation. They must be 15,000 feet high and their nationality, of course, is undetermined, but officials say they are German planes.

The people are much more interested in a train just arriving with new visitors from coastal towns. The new arrivals have cards of identification given them by officials of the evacuated town. There is a nervous, blank expression on many faces as their owners descend from the train. The look is quickly dispelled by the welcoming committee. The organization, gentleness, operation, and efficiency of the personnel are impressive. All arrangements naturally had been made in advance.

This little town was notified 10 days ago that a certain number of persons would arrive today. The women's volunteer welfare organization, working under the town billeting officer, interviewed townspeople to ascertain the space available. One family was known to have consisted of a mother, two grown daughters, and a soldier son living in a three bedroom, dining room, living room, and kitchen apartment. Their quota was two visitors.

Have Billeting Tickets.

When guests arrive a portion of the billeting ticket handed evacuees before leaving their home town is taken by their new host and presented to the postmaster for rent collection. The amount varies, but usually is approximately $2.50 a week. Another portion of the ticket is presented to the postmaster by the guest to obtain ration money of approximately $2.50 a week.

The guests are permitted to use the household, kitchen, and beds, but must bear their own food expense. In a case in which no bed is available the government will issue mattresses for use on the floors. Blankets are issued when required at the start of a journey.

BRITISH TO HALVE BUTTER RATION; GET MORE MEAT

An Increased Margarine Supply Provided.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Food Minister Lord Woolton tonight announced that butter ration for the British will be cut, beginning Monday, from 4 to 2 ounces a week. At the same time the meat ration will be increased.

The butter reduction will not affect the total fat reduction of 8 ounces weekly a person because the ration of margarine will be increased to 4 ounces from 2. Purchasers will be able to buy 2 ounces of butter, 4 of margarine, and 2 of cooking fats, or, if they desire, they may take 8 ounces of margarine.

Restaurant patrons will find their pats of butter have dwindled from 1-6 to 1-12 of an ounce. Restaurants' combined butter and margarine allowance of ¼ ounce a person each meal will not be altered, however.

A "Seasonal" Slash.

Lord Woolton said the "temporary reduction" was ordered because butter supplies from Australia and New Zealand are always lowest at this time of year.

The increased meat ration will make available to each person each week an additional 6½ cents worth. Each may buy 2 shillings 2 pence worth [about 43½ cents], 4 pence more than at present. Supplies of home grown meats were reported "good."

Lord Woolton issued a warning to the people:

"During the second year of the war you must not expect to have all the things to choose from that you had the first year."

French Bar Sale of Soap.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 25.—Strict regulation of sales of fats and oils and their derivative products was announced today in a decree law. The sale of soap was forbidden until Nov. 1.

A census of farm animals was taken thruout France today. Horses, mules, and donkeys were included. It will determine the proportion of animals that may be slaughtered for food.

Norway Cuts Rations.

OSLO, Norway [via Berlin] Sept. 25 (AP).—Sugar rations for Norway are to be reduced from 8.8 to 7 ounces a week, and bread and flour from 10.6 to 8.8 ounces. The order, also rationing soap, becomes effective Monday.

PANAMA ASSEMBLY URGES SPAIN NOT TO AID AXIS' WAR

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Sept. 25.—The national assembly of Panama today unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the government of Spain not to join Germany and Italy in the war against democracy. The resolution, it is understood, will be transmitted by the foreign office. It cites the possibility of Spain joining the totalitarian countries which, it says, would be contrary to the political ideology which not only has deep roots in Panama but in the entire continent. It claims the language, race, traditions, and customs inherited from Spain give Panama the right to make the appeal.

LONDON FORCES GERMANS TO NEW TACTICS IN RAID

Nazis Dart Thru Ceiling of Searchlights.

LONDON, Sept. 26, Thursday (AP).—German night raiders, resorting to new tactics of speed and higher flying, loosed fresh cargoes of destruction on London tonight—the 19th consecutive night of attacks—after a day in which they sent over the biggest daytime bomber formations seen in nearly two weeks.

The Germans darted about the outskirts until they found an opening in London's defenses, then sped across the metropolis and dropped their bombs. Their changed tactics apparently resulted from a new method the British themselves tried for the first time—a searchlight system in which the beams were thrown at right angles to cover every foot of the skies in the assault area.

Go to Shelters Early.

High explosive and incendiary bombs fell in central London and outlying districts as well. Antiaircraft fire was heavy thruout the night. Before the first gun had barked, London's people long since had entered their accustomed shelters underground.

London had one heavy daylight attack by Nazi raiders yesterday. But London was not the sole objective. German planes attacked nearly all of coastal England and parts of Scotland and Wales. Bristol was among the cities hit. The cotton exchange at Liverpool closed for three days.

It was disclosed tonight that one northwest coastal district was undergoing its 121st raid since the outbreak of the war.

An early morning air ministry communique said 26 German planes were destroyed in yesterday's air battles.

Bears Memorable Scars.

London bore some memorable scars of Tuesday night's Nazi raid. Censors forbade the naming of places hit, but permitted publication of the fact that the Associated Press office was among them. Activities of the bureau were transferred to a nearby newspaper building.

Squadrons of British bombers aimed new blows at Nazi ships and "invasion bases" on the continent which were indicated as the heaviest attacks to date. A single bomber was said to have sunk a German supply ship in the North sea off the Frisian Islands, northern Netherlands. Another German ship was bombed and reported left sinking off Terschelling.

British pilots reported their bombs set the infantry barracks ablaze, damaged the docks, and started a great fire in the railway yards at the German held French naval base of Brest.

Bomb Calais 7 Hours.

Calais was bombed for seven hours. Barges were reported hit, fires set on the docks and searchlight batteries disabled. In a seven hour raid on Le Havre lock gates were reported hit and warehouses set afire.

Other hits were reported on the docks and jetties at Boulogne, the basins and jetties at Ostend, the docks at Cherbourg and at Delfzijl, the Netherlands, and the German gun emplacements at Cape Gris Nez. The docks at Hamburg were reported aflame.

In Tuesday night's raid on Berlin it was reported bombs hit the Siemens and Halske factories which produce much of the electrical equipment used by the German army.

Chancellery Will Shelter Mothers-to-Be in Berlin

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—A number of expectant mothers from poorer districts where the houses have no shelters will be given asylum in the air raid shelters beneath the German chancellery. Others will be taken there from homes that have been bombed, and doctors and nurses will watch over them. Hundreds of children also find shelter there at night.

MARY MILES MINTER.

MRS. MARGARET FILLMORE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25 (AP).—Mary Miles Minter, once famed actress of the silent screen, who was cut off with only $1 in her sister's will, has won a larger share thru a compromise settlement. The sister, Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, bequeathed the bulk of the estate, including a Louisiana plantation, to her former maid. Miss Minter and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, who also was cut off with $1, contested the will, asserting Mrs. Fillmore was influenced unduly. The settlement, made public yesterday by attorneys, gave the bulk to the former actress and Mrs. Shelby.

SOCIALIST PARTY WINS PLACE ON ILLINOIS BALLOT

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 25 (AP).—The state electoral board today dismissed objections to the Socialist party nominating petitions, assuring the presence on the Illinois election ballot of four parties—Democratic, Republican, Socialist, and Prohibition.

The objection to the Socialist petitions was dismissed when neither Mrs. Mary McGann of Chicago, complainant, or her legal counsel appeared at a scheduled hearing.

Arthur G. McDowell, Socialist candidate for governor, asserted that Mrs. McGann was affiliated with a communist controled organization and charged that the objection was "a frivolous and malicious communist attempt to keep Norman Thomas [Socialist candidate for President] off the ballot."

Nominating petitions for the communist slate of candidates headed by Earl Browder, Presidential candidate, were rejected by the electoral board Monday because they did not contain the required number of signatures.

FUGITIVE BRINGS CASE OF JEWELS FROM ANTWERP

New York, Sept. 25 [Special].—Clinging tightly to a small briefcase full of diamonds, Leib Akselrod arrived here today on the Spanish liner Marques Camillas. Asked how much the gems were worth, he replied merely "enough."

Later he explained he gave them a value of $338,000 at customs in Havana, and that he and his brothers, Samuel and Joseph, and their wives and seven children brought them from their diamond firm at Antwerp after the German invasion.

The party of 13 had a wild flight. Leib Akselrod's wife was in a hospital when the Nazis struck. They got an ambulance for $200 and made their way to Spain. They lost their 70 year old mother and two other relatives en route, but the three are now back in Antwerp.

The ship brought 299 passengers, 143 bound for other ports.

LONDON'S HOPE: A PLANE GOOD AT NIGHT FIGHTS

Experts Hunt Way to Bar Winter Air Siege.

[The following story was written by a correspondent who saw the British fighting in Flanders. He analyzes the battle of London and the city's prospects of a winter-long air siege.]

BY DREW MIDDLETON.

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP).—Unless British ingenuity can provide the royal air force with fighter planes meeting the requirements of night fighting, London is doomed to winter-long assaults from German bombers who for 19 nights have penetrated the severest antiaircraft barrage in history to bomb the city.

A night fighter must be put into action at once if London is to be released from the nightly thrall of death and destruction. Such a plane must be armed to bring down big German bombers like the Dorniers and the four motored Junkers 90s.

It will need fuel capacity to stay aloft for the duration of a series of attacks such as the Germans have launched nightly. It must not reveal its whereabouts to the raiders thru exhausts glowing cherry red, or the glint of wind screens.

The finest scientific and mechanical brains of the nation are working on the problem of how to defeat the night bomber.

Three New Weapons Inadequate.

Technical experts have turned out at least three new defense weapons, but the experiments go on because the weapon desired has not been found.

The three new weapons are secrets of the military authorities but they are supposed to be a type of sky trap for planes, a shell that breaks into a spiderweb of steel cables to ensnare propellers, and a self-propelling shell that explodes with terrific force and is lethal over a wide area.

Many air experts believe the skies can be cleared of enemy bombers only by fighter planes.

Night Prey Hard to Find.

The difficulty of fast fighters operating against bombers at night lies in inability of the pursuit plane to intercept its bigger, heavier, and slower target. All planes, whether fighter or bomber, disclose their presence by the glow of exhaust pipes and gases, but the flames are visible only a short distance. Unless a bomber is silhouetted against a bright sky or caught in searchlight beams, the fighter pilot's job is tougher than trying to find a needle in a haystack.

Since the British forbid any mention of specific damage in London, the world will not know what damage the bombers are doing until after the war. It is useless to say they are not doing any, or that it is wholly "terror" bombing. Plenty of military targets have been hit. The reason for this damage is a one sided defense.

Barrage Draws Contempt.

The chief defense of London is the antiaircraft barrage, for which bomber crews have contempt. I have been watching the bombing day and night since May. I have seen just one plane knocked down by antiaircraft fire, and that was a German bomber over Boulogne. He flew too low, at 3,000 feet.

Antiaircraft guns are not enough by themselves.

COUNTESS OF PARIS.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Sept. 25.—The countess of Paris sailed for Portugal today aboard the Angola to join her husband, the count of Paris, pretender to the French throne. The countess' trip was linked to the rumor that her husband has been offered a puppet kingship of France by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler. The count is in Morocco, awaiting results of efforts of French monarchists to crown him as Henry VI.

GERMAN EDITOR IN TEXAS DEFIES HITLER ENVOY

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 25 (AP).—Criticism of a San Antonio German language newspaper for reporting "in the very same manner the Fuehrer objects to" was attributed to Baron Edgar von Spiegel, German consul at New Orleans, today by the paper's editor.

G. F. Neuheuser, editor of the Texas Free Press, said he had turned the letter over to the Dies committee and that among other things it noted: "After what I have read lately in your newspaper I consider it my duty to do this, specially if I and my government shall support you further thru our coöperation."

The editor said he considered Von Spiegel's letter an effort to make him disregard his duties as an American citizen.

"I will continue to follow my constant editorial policy of tolerance, condemnation of race hatred and strict adherence to the principles contained in the bill of rights," Neuheuser said he had written in reply to Von Spiegel.

Bulgaria Decrees Death for Food Profiteers

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 25 (AP).—The Bulgarian cabinet today decreed the death penalty for "repeated offenses" on profiteering or hoarding as the nation prepared for an expected shortage of certain commodities, chiefly flour and fats. Bulgaria is having meatless days because of heavy exports to Germany.

CANADA AND U. S. SHARE DANGERS, SAYS MINISTER

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 25 (AP).—Jay Pierrepont Moffat, United States minister to Canada, declared today that the peoples of the United States and Canada "each knows that danger to one is a danger to the other" and said the Canadian-American joint defense board marks a milestone in relations between the two countries.

"Our peoples, as much as any two peoples on earth, feel alike, think alike, behave alike," he told the Canadian club.

"Each is sure of how the other would react in a given contingency. Each knows that the spirit of neighborliness involves consultation, planning, in the face of common peril."

WE'RE READY FOR SHOWDOWN WITH U. S., SAYS JAPAN

Drops Policy of Seeking American Friendship.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 25. — If the United States wants a showdown on the far eastern question, Japan is ready to accept the challenge, THE TRIBUNE was told authoritatively today. Completely abandoning as useless its attitude of seeking American friendship, it was said, Tokio has embarked on a policy of establishing a greater east Asia sphere and bringing peace to this part of the world in a "realistic manner."

The government, as well as the public, is stirred "as never before" by reports of a deal being negotiated between Britain and the United States for joint use of the Singapore base, and the opinion is growing that Japan under no circumstances can afford to let the United States or any other nation or nations block her plans for a greater east Asia sphere.

Future Policy Uncertain.

Exactly what Japan's future policy will be is difficult to say, but she no longer will try to court the United States, authoritative sources said.

It is significant that such rightist papers as Kokumin proclaimed that "Japan should induce the world situation to develop in such a way as to favor the establishment of an east Asiatic common prosperity sphere."

Conspiracy Is Charged.

"Britain and the United States are engaged in conspiracies on the Pacific," Kokumin continued. "The recent representations of the two governments to Japan regarding Dutch-Japanese negotiations amount to open obstruction, instead of mere adherence to maintenance of a status quo."

Tokio sees the hand of Washington, D. C., behind the recent stiffening of the British attitude, political sources asserted.

PLANES TO GIVE LOOP A PREVIEW OF ARMY SHOW

A flight of three O-47 observation planes of the 15th observation squadron, Scott field, Belleville, will visit the Chicago loop in formation flight between noon and 12:45 p. m. today, weather permitting.

They are scheduled to give Chicagoans a preview of some of the equipment which will be seen in action during the regular army military show to be presented both afternoon and evening tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday at Fort Sheridan.

In the show the planes, which are based this week at Glenview airport, will tow sleeve targets at which anti-aircraft units will fire. Proceeds of the show will go to the Army Relief society.

FRANCE WITHDRAWS TROOPS FROM TOWN ON INDO-CHINA BORDER

HANOI, French Indo-China, Sept. 25 (AP).—A French communique said tonight that French troops had withdrawn today from Langson, 80 miles northeast of Hanoi and 15 miles within the Indo-China border, after being encircled by "vastly superior Japanese forces."

A military observer said the Japanese were able to continue what Tokio had termed a "passive advance" because they were taking advantage of the fact the Frenchmen were obeying orders to withhold their fire unless fired upon.

One French air force officer was reported killed today when Japanese pursuit planes attacked and forced down his observation ship 30 miles within the French border.

[The French announcement in Hanoi that French troops had withdrawn appeared in conflict with a statement by the French colonial ministry in Vichy that the Japanese troops in Indo-China had retired across the frontier. The Hanoi statement, it appeared, might have been superseded by developments.]

AXIS STAGE SET FOR PARLEY TO WOO SPAIN'S AID

Ciano of Italy Going to Berlin Meeting.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler today received Spain's minister of interior, Ramon Serrano Suner, for the second time during his visit to Germany. Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, was present and the conference lasted an hour.

Diplomatic circles expect that Italy's foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, will arrive tomorrow and that Friday an important conference will take place in Berlin under the chairmanship of Hitler with Suner, the emissary of Gen. Francisco Franco, and Ciano and Von Ribbentrop attending.

Raise Gibraltar Issue.

German, as well as Spanish circles, indicate that the "battle of Gibraltar" will play a vital part in these discussions. The Spaniards have stressed that they are not in a position to become open belligerents. Italian circles declare that to carry out their plans for an all-Italian Mediterranean, it is important that Gibraltar should be wrenched from the English. Spaniards want it.

Ciano Departs for Berlin.

ROME, Sept. 26, Thursday (AP).—Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano left for Berlin this morning.

Axis Presses Japs to Aid.

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP).—The Japanese are being urged by Germany and Italy to form a counterweight to possible closer British-American collaboration, it was learned unofficially today. Authorized sources disclosed that Max Stahmer, special Nazi envoy, had left for Tokio on an "information trip."

FARMERS PUT BIG PRICES ON SITE OF MUNITIONS PLANT

Reluctant Sellers Ask Up to $250 an Acre.

Owners of land near Wilmington, Will county, which the government is to acquire for a $24,800,000 munitions center, will demand as high as $200 to $250 an acre, many said yesterday.

The price range for fairly good land sold in the district last year was $125 to $135 an acre, according to real estate men, but farmers, few of whom want to move anyway, said this land was sold by persons eager or forced to sell.

Real estate men familiar with the district said a fair price for the better land is around $150 or $170 an acre, with some going perhaps as high as $200 to $225, and some worth not more than $50 or perhaps less.

"But instead of worrying over what they're going to get for the land," one veteran ealty dealer said, "they'd better worry about where they'll find a roof this winter."

Face Big Housing Problem.

With 400 families looking for homes and few vacant ones available, he said, many probably will be forced to leave the county or at least find nonfarm homes.

Following is typical comment from farmers who are reluctant to sell:

CLARENCE REISS, Channahon township: "I don't want to sell because I like to operate a farm and don't know where I'll find another."

J. F. O'BRIEN, Jackson township: "I've lived here all my life and inherited the land from my father. My two boys are working it and I'd like them to go on."

THOMAS HAYDEN, Florence township: "One of our reasons is sentiment. The bulk of our land has been in the family since 1860. It's very productive and worth more to us than to any one else in the world. It's not for sale. Then, too, I have a lot of good neighbors I'd hate to leave."

MRS. RAY MORGAN, Jackson township: "I don't see why the government can't find another site on less valuable land."

Owned Farm 75 Years.

JOSEPH A. CAVANAUGH, Florence township: "We've had this land 75 years. It's home to me and I can't imagine any other place being so. Besides, I couldn't get another farm for next year now. I wouldn't know where to go."

B. P. RILEY, Wilmington township: "My grandfather gave each of his four sons 120 acres. If I sell this what could I put my money into that would bring my grandchildren, if I have any, a comparable return?"

Many also are worried about how to dispose of live stock and farm machinery the government will not buy.

Raymond E. Herman of Chicago, in charge of obtaining options on the land for the government, said last night that all his expenses will come out of the 5 per cent commission he is to receive. These include paying 15 assistant brokers, title and legal costs, printing, phone calls and other items, he said.

Nation, Unprepared, Drifting to War, Says Senator Lodge

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator Lodge.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.], an army reserve officer, said in a radio address tonight that America is drifting into a war for which it is woefully unprepared —"A war which would destroy this republic as we have always known it."

To stop the drift toward war he urged preparedness for America and single minded allegiance as Americans to America.

In a senate speech earlier today, Senator Lodge deplored the current agitation for the transfer of American flying fortresses to Great Britain. Noting that the proposal most frequently mentioned in the press is to release 32 of the giant, four engined bombers, Lodge said he had ascertained that the army has only 46.

Alluding to the recent transfer of 50 navy destroyers to Great Britain, Lodge intimated that the flying fortresses may be released by President Roosevelt without consulting congress.

1,000 Planes Needed.

"In my judgment, based upon what I've been told by experts, we ought to have about a thousand flying fortresses," Lodge said. "We have 46 that are immediately available, and I simply cannot understand how we can get rid of these ships unless we are prepared to have the training program of our young aviators suffer very materially."

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], referring to William Allen White's committee to defend America by aiding the allies, observed that the flying fortress proposal was made by the propaganda agency which apparently is dominating the policy of the United States government.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] challenged the propaganda argument that the British need the flying fortresses to bomb Berlin and other parts of Germany. The British bombers, he explained, have sufficient range to cross the Alps and bomb Italian cities.

Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] commented that the Rock of Gibraltar, a British possession, was bombed by American planes that were sent to France to stop dictators.

A Record of Bluster.

In his speech tonight, Senator Lodge accused the Roosevelt administration of neglecting to prepare America while pursuing a foreign policy that has brought the country to the brink of war. "Our record," he said, "has been a wavering and a contradictory one, a record of bluster, a record of threats which we could not enforce."

In the fall of 1938, Lodge said, it was clear to every one that the specter of war was again at large in the world. Yet, he added, only 11.2 per cent of federal expenditures went for national defense in 1939, while in 1929 the percentage was 17.7.

"It was testified recently," Lodge said, "that we only had enough equipment to put an army of 75,000 men into the field completely equipped, and that it will not be until a year from next January that we shall have enough equipment for an army of 750,000—a figure only slightly in excess of the total of the late Belgian army. It is not disputed that we have only one navy and that it will take between six and seven years to develop a so-called two ocean navy."

Lodge deplored the release of the 50 destroyers to Great Britain. It amounts, he said, to sending a large part of our navy to participate in the war. He noted that the newspapers are full of stories that another deal is contemplated whereby our navy is to be given the use of Singapore and other foreign bases in the far east. He said this would be a grievous, dangerous step toward trouble.

"When matters of this kind—any one of which would be a major congressional issue in ordinary times—are settled secretly by the executive," Lodge concluded, "it is small wonder that American citizens ask themselves, 'If the executive can do these things without action by congress, can he not also declare war without congress?'"

GERMANS DEPOSE NORWAY'S KING; END MONARCHY

Name Quisling as Only Political Leader.

Vidkun Quisling.

OSLO, Norway [Via Berlin], Sept. 25 (AP).—The end of monarchy and parliament in Norway was announced today by Joseph Terboven, the Nazi high commissioner for this conquered country.

He disclosed that the exiled King Haakon had been removed as chief of state and that the succession had been broken and the king's family deprived of the privileges and power of royalty.

All political parties were abolished. Vidkun Quisling, Norwegian Nazi, was named the sole political leader, and in temporary charge of the government was placed a council of 15 selected by Terboven.

Rule Left Undefined.

It was stated that Norway henceforth would be neither a monarchy nor a German protectorate. Thus no precise definition of the new state was given. The indefinite occupation of German troops was provided and a legality was given to that occupation.

One feature of the change was that hereafter Norway is to have no sort of foreign policy, no independent foreign relations with any country, the indication being that Germany will direct such matters.

It was presumed here that King Haakon still is in Britain, but the Norwegian people generally have not heard of him for months.

British Protest to Finns.

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP).—Britain's minister to Finland has been instructed to protest strongly to the Finnish government against its "action in agreeing to allow German troops to pass thru Finland on their way to northern Norway," informed sources said tonight. In circles close to the foreign office it was said the agreement, disclosed yesterday in Helsingfors, constitutes a breach of neutrality and international law.

[Another dispatch stated that German troops had been landed at Vaasa, Finland, on the Gulf of Bothnia.]

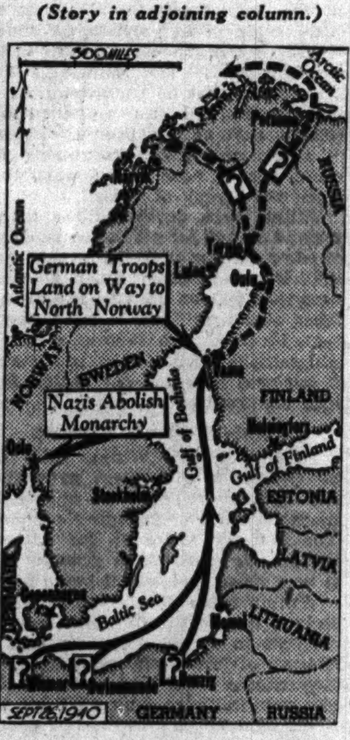
Travel in Sealed Cars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Authorized sources said today that German troops passing thru Finland, presumably to Norway, will travel in sealed cars, with their arms in other sealed cars.

Monarchy Abolished

(Story in adjoining column.)



German troops have been landed at Vaasa in Finland for transport to northern Norway. Ports from which they may have come and possible routes north are shown. The Nazis also abolished the Norwegian monarchy yesterday.

GETS 1-15 YEARS IN $5,955 THEFT OF SCHOOL FUNDS

Howard J. Davis, 35 years old, of Ingleside, Lake county, was sentenced to one to 15 years in Joliet penitentiary when he pleaded guilty yesterday before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady at Waukegan to a charge of embezzling $5,955 from the school district of township 44, of which he was treasurer.

Davis operated the North Chicago currency exchange while acting as treasurer of the district in Shields township, embracing three schools in North Chicago and one in Lake Bluff. Altho he was unable to explain what use he made of the money, it was believed he might have used part of it to keep his accounts at the exchange straight.

After the shortage was discovered in an audit in May, 1939, three North Chicago business men, one of them Leslie H. Davis, operator of a milk depot and father of the defendant, agreed to make good the missing funds under an $80,000 surety bond they had posted for Davis. Joseph Kraus, another of the bondsmen, was the complainant in the embezzlement case.

BURNED AS DRESS CATCHES FIRE.

Mrs. Anna Dusek, 56 years old, a housewife, was in a critical condition last night in the county hospital from burns incurred as she was lighting a fire of wood chips in her kitchen stove at 1714 South Clinton street. Police said her dress caught fire.

ACT TO COMBAT RISING MENACE OF STRAY DOGS

Health Board Will Study Problem Today.

Methods of combating the stray dog menace—a menace that is growing, as is shown by increased numbers of stray dogs and dog bite victims—will be discussed this morning by the board of health.

A stray dog.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board president, who called the meeting, disclosed yesterday that 45 more persons were bitten by dogs last month than in August, 1939. The stray dog, authorities agree, is the worst offender.

Records at the municipal animal shelter show that 1,024 strays were received there in August, compared with 795 in August, 1939, an increase of 229. The Illinois Humane society took in 647 and the Anti-Cruelty Society of Chicago, 1,668.

Equipment Plans Lag.

Plans for giving the police better facilities for catching dogs are expected to be speeded by the board's consideration of the problem. Police Commissioner Allman and health officials have been exchanging notes on this need since 1937, but not until this month were plans discussed with the city purchasing agent for acquiring new trucks for the dog catching detail.

A recommendation from the board of health urging the early purchase of this equipment, as well as the employment of young, trained dog catchers, will expedite the equipment program, Dr. Bundesen believes.

Urges Use of Leash.

The Anti-Cruelty society took 24,996 dogs to its shelter at 157 West Grand avenue last year, and two-thirds of these were strays, according to Dr. W. A. Young, managing director. "We could control this traffic if only owners would keep their dogs on leash," he said. "We would have 90 per cent less work to do."

Dr. Bundesen blames the homeless dog problem on rural residents, "who raise them by the litter and give them to friendly truckers, who in turn pass them out to their city friends."

The city folk soon tire of them, or find caring for them a burden, and they become strays, he believes.

PLOTTED SEIZURE OF URUGUAY AS JOKE, SAYS NAZI

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Sept. 25 (AP).—Adolfo Fuhrmann, one of eight Germans accused of plotting a Nazi conquest of Uruguay, assumed full responsibility for the plot today, but insisted it was "a joke." Fuhrmann's fellow defendants pleaded innocent at arraignment on a charge of attempting to subvert the government and institutions. Fuhrmann said he thought up the plan as a joke upon fellow Germans in Argentina following published reports of Nazi plans for an invasion of Patagonia, southernmost Argentina. The other defendants, he said, were unaware of his plot.

Thirty tall, giant late tulips, six each of five named varieties separately bagged and labeled, embracing these colors:

RED, PINK, ORANGE, YELLOW, LAVENDER

With war shutting out bulbs from Holland, tulips are a rarity this fall. These bulbs were grown in our own fields in Oregon, where we have the largest American planting. In several years of tests they proved equal or superior to imported Dutch bulbs. They are tall, giant, Darwin, Cottage and Breeder varieties, without rivals in the spring garden. With tulip bulbs so scarce few gardens will enjoy their beauty next spring. Make yours one of these few!

25 Daffodils, prepaid, $1.50

Daffodils are the first major flowers to bloom in spring. They last for years and usually multiply. A purchase of bulbs should pay in blooms for a lifetime.

HEAR PRESIDENT PLANS TO REVIVE SEAWAY SCHEME

Passamaquoddy Dream Pops Up Again.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Reports are current here that President Roosevelt will attempt in the name of national defense to revive two projects he favors but which were previously blocked by congressional disapproval. The projects are the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada and the tide harnessing effort at Passamaquoddy, Me.

There also has been talk that Mr. Roosevelt might arrange with Canada for joint power developments and inform congress of the move later, just as he did in the transfer of 50 destroyers to Great Britain.

However, most congressional experts on international law hold that any arrangement for joint development of power or navigable purposes of adjoining waters would entail a treaty and require ratification by the United States senate.

Pact Calls for Senate O. K.

The 1909 treaty establishing the international joint commission to govern the use of boundary waters between the United States and Canada specifically provided that any questions or matters of difference arising between the two countries may be referred to the commission but are subject to the advice and consent of the senate and the Canadian governor general in council.

Mr. Roosevelt has insisted upon the St. Lawrence waterway program despite congress having twice rejected proposed treaties for deeping in the river from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic and development of hydroelectric projects, with the United States bearing most of the cost.

A $7,000,000 Boondoggle.

The Passamaquoddy tide control project is a boondoggling dream that was abandoned after 7 million dollars of relief funds had been spent on it. Opponents considered even this huge expenditure relatively fortunate for the program had been scheduled to cost 40 millions.

The tide harnessing plan was pushed in the face of open disapproval of experts. Prior to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign for reëlection in 1936, an attempt was made to excite the Maine electorate with visions of prosperity for landowners and others in the vicinity of the project.

Roosevelt Lands Involved.

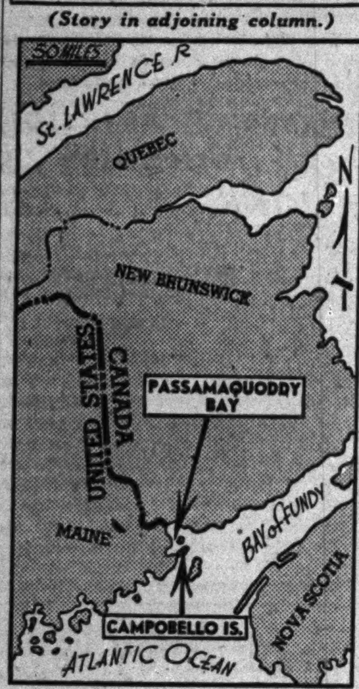
It was conceded that the vast sums of government money to be dumped into the program would have raised nearby land values, including that of Campobello Island, in Canada, where the President spends part of his summers. Not only does the President's mother own a home on the Island but Mr. Roosevelt also has a place there which his mother bought for him.

Early last year Mr. Roosevelt again requested funds—unsuccessfully—for continuance of the abandoned "Quoddy" project. He said he was convinced that the time will come when there will be a joint agreement by the United States and Canada "for development of the project which would utilize all tidal power in that bay on both sides of the international line."

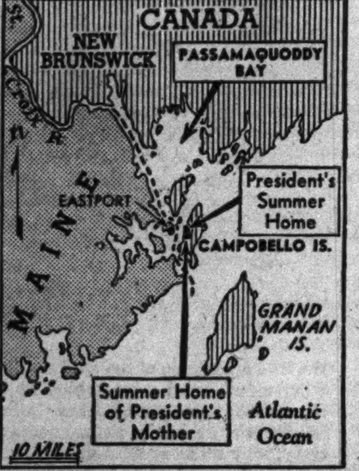
As recently as last Sept. 13, the President said that he was talking with the Canadians about the possible development of more power, leaving out entirely the question of navigation developments for the present. The discussions centered on the immediate need for power for defense purposes on both sides of the border, according to the President. The power factor might be serious within the next two or three years, he claimed. He said, however, that he was not yet ready to send a message to congress on the subject.

Dreams Revived

(Story in adjoining column.)



Location of Passamaquoddy bay and St. Lawrence river, in relation to President's summer home at Campobello Island. It is reported that he is reviving interest in the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project and the St. Lawrence seaway in the name of national defense.



Where President's summer home and that of his mother are situated on Campobello Island near Passamaquoddy bay. The island is in Canada.

DOWNSTATE HITS PLEA FOR LAKE DIVERSION HIKE

Improved conditions along the Illinois river as a result of Chicago's treatment of sewage were described by representatives of downstate cities at a hearing yesterday in the Burnham building by Monte Lemann, special master for the United States Supreme court.

The downstate witnesses opposed the state's request for a temporary increase in Lake Machigan water diversion of from 1,500 cubic feet per second to 5,000 on the ground that it would disseminate pollution downstream and would bring back the evils of former days.

WILLKIE'S GOAL: GOVERNMENT OF BENEFIT TO ALL

Warns of Concentration in Presidential Power.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 25.—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, went thru the badlands of Montana and North Dakota today, calling upon the pioneer spirit of the people to reassert itself and preaching the governmental philosophy of former President Theodore Roosevelt.

"He's a ringer for T. R." said an old-timer at a small Montana stop, as Willkie came out to greet the crowds which poured forth to meet him at every opportunity.

The philosophy of Theodore Roosevelt was that the American government must never become the government of the mob or the government of plutocrats, but one that operates to give the maximum opportunity to every man and considers the welfare of the people as a whole. This is the Willkie attitude toward government, tempered by the changes and growth in its responsibilities.

Deplores Concentrated Power.

Willkie warned of the enormous concentration of power that has been put in the hands of the President, a power which he described as "dictatorial in nature."

"You people here in the cattle and sheep section know how much power the President has exercised in your business," the Republican nominee said at station stops. "I sometimes wonder whether you want that to continue. Well, if you don't want it to continue, you had better vote for me I am your only chance to change it.

"Just think of the enormous power that, piece by piece, we have concentrated in the chief executive—so much so that the man just makes a statement and prices tumble. That is too much power for any man to have.

"Now it is proposed to go ahead and elect Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. If you elect him for a third term there will be no limit to the imagination of what he has a mandate to do.

Warns of New Deal Aids.

"I don't think the President wants to be a dictator, but I wouldn't say that for the group around him. He has a group about him that is desperate. I see that Tommy Corcoran is going out to organize support to reelect the President. That ought to elect me 100 per cent with Tommy on the other side.

"It is a very serious situation. Here is the President, with more power than any President ever had in our history. It is not alone governmental power; it is economic power. It is a power that can affect the price of your cattle, the prices of your agricultural products, and the products of your mines.

"And yet with all that power, at a time in the world's history when the very democratic system is in test, he asks you to violate the most sacred tradition of this republic, namely, that no man shall stay in power for more than two terms.

"I have tried to draw the other side out in debate. I have challenged the President. But the only reply is two speeches, which he terms either political or nonpolitical. I can never quite tell. And in those speeches he has made two points. In the last speech he said that he is the common man and that Wendell Willkie is the aristocrat. That in its connotations is just amusing. The other point that he has attempted to make is that America is divided into classes, that he has been the friend of labor, and that, presumably because I have been in business, that I am the enemy of labor."

Willkie then developed the theme that he stands for all the social gains of labor, but for something more, and that is a revitalized American business that will be the best friend that labor ever had. This is more important, he said, than talking about social gains which are of no importance if business fails and the nation falls into bankruptcy.

Wants to Create Markets.

To the farmers Willkie said that he wanted to give them more than the dole, he wanted to give them markets and an expanding economy. The farmers' share of the national income, he said, is no greater than it was seven and a half years ago.

Willkie made five stops in North Dakota during the day, with a night address in Fargo. Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and a group of Republicans from that state boarded the train in Fargo, where Willkie met a big and noisy crowd. His speech was interrupted by yells of Roosevelt partisans, chiefly boys. Gov. Stassen introduced him.

Willkie said he was glad to be associated with the new leadership of the Republican party, such as Stassen, Joseph W. Martin Jr., and Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield of South Dakota.

"No man," he told the Fargo crowd, "can advance an argument for the third term that I cannot use for a fourth term."

The North Dakota political situation appeared to be turning in Willkie's favor, with William Langer, Republican candidate for the senate, introducing him at Bismarck and William Lemke, independent Republican candidate for the senate, presenting him at Valley City.

Willkie announced he would make a major address on foreign policy in Cleveland on the night of Oct. 2. It will be an amplification of his San Francisco speech but the nominee said that it would contain "more supporting evidence" against the administration's foreign program.

WILLKIE REPLIES TO MORE VOTERS' QUERIES ON RADIO

Wendell Willkie was heard in two one-minute interviews over W-G-N yesterday. Brief interviews with the G. O. P. Presidential nominee are presented on W-G-N daily in transcribed form. The recordings were made at Rushville, Ind., several weeks ago.

In reply to a question by an Illinois voter as to where he stood on the Kelly-Nash machine and its kind of politics Willkie said:

"I owe nothing to any machine or to any other special interest. The New Deal on the other hand has wet nursed more political machines than any other administration in history. All over the country outfits like the Kelly-Nash crowd have flourished and grown fat on New Deal spending. These machines must be put out of business. They are demoralizing our American life. . . . They are the schools of dictatorship. Mr. Roosevelt cannot clean the house which he chose for his own nomination. I can and will help to see that it is done."

Asked whether WPA men and their families will go hungry if the Republicans win, Willkie replied that he expected to do a better job for the men on relief jobs than the New Deal has done.

HEADQUARTERS FOR fresh meats

You are a LUCKY housekeeper if you live near one of the 87 Jewel Stores that has a meat market!

Shoppers who visit a Jewel market for the first time tell us that they are surprised to find—at Jewel's low prices—a quality of meats they would expect to find only in fancy markets at fancy prices. They say it is worth walking two or three extra blocks.

THE SECRET—It isn't merely the huge volume of Jewel meat business that makes these low prices possible. It is because we buy whole carcasses and butcher them ourselves, according to a system that we've worked out to save in-between expenses and to give Jewel customers the cuts they have always wanted.

Boneless shoulders of lamb . . . Boneless shoulders of veal . . . Hams cut to give you exactly what you want . . . Rib roasts of beef with only the first five ribs . . . Leg of lamb with the long shank bone cut off before weighing, etc. More and better meat for your money than you've ever thought possible! Stop in and see for yourself.

For instance . . . This weekend you may buy round or Swiss steak—cut from tender, native beef—for only 33c a lb.

WILLKIE TO TALK ON FARM TOPICS IN CORN-HOG BELT

Sioux City Lays Elaborate Plans for Reception.

Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, will deliver an address at Sioux City, Ia., today and another at Omaha, Neb., tonight. Following are stories of the preparations for his reception in the two cities:

BY HAROLD MURRAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 25.—Republican leaders here plan an old time farm meeting for Wendell Willkie when the Republican Presidential nominee comes to this packing house and corn belt center tomorrow afternoon after campaigning thru the Montana and Dakota range lands.

Robert B. Pike, Republican county chairman, in charge of the reception arrangements, said elaborate plans have been made to give Willkie a genuine midwest farm welcome.

The nominee is due here at 4:20 p. m. He will be here for an hour and 25 minutes before departing on his special train for Omaha, Neb. He is scheduled to speak at the Stockyards Ball park, located in the center of the stockyards district. It was in this same ball park eight years ago that President Roosevelt outlined his New Deal farm policy.

40,000 to Hear Talks.

Leaders expect Willkie to talk on farm problems in his address. Pike said a crowd of 40,000—one of the largest political gatherings in the state—is expected to hear Willkie. Seating arrangements will accommodate 16,000 and plans have been made to take care of an additional 24,000 on the playing field and football field in the two block square park.

Delegations from farm communities thruout Iowa and from Nebraska, South Dakota, and Minnesota are expected to drive here in colorfully decorated auto caravans. Several special trains will be run from many of the towns, Pike said.

Willkie will be met at the station and escorted in a two mile tour thru the city to the ball park by Sioux City's famous Shrine horse mounted patrol. A band playing Iowa's corn song will greet the nominee and Iowa cornstalks will form the decoration of the day.

PEP RALLY AT OMAHA

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 25 [Special].—Republicans and Willkie Democrats of this agricultural state have joined to give Wendell Willkie a Nebraska cornhuskers' pep rally when the Republican Presidential nominee arrives here tomorrow night, according to Gilbert E. Carpenter, Republican national committeeman for Nebraska.

Willkie's special train is due at this stockyards and railroad city at 7:40 p. m. During his 2 hour and 20 minute stopover Willkie is scheduled to give a major campaign talk to be broadcast over a nation-wide radio hookup. He is scheduled to speak from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

Carpenter and Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan, Douglas county Republican chairman, in charge of local arrangements, said plans have been made for Willkie to give his address in the colorfully decorated Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum, a civic auditorium built by Omaha residents, which derives its name by spelling Nebraska backward.

Seats for Thousands.

Seating arrangements have been made to handle a crowd of 12,000 in the coliseum, Sheehan said. In addition, there will be plenty of seats available in the adjacent Ak-Sar-Ben race track grandstand for those unable to get in the coliseum. A loud speaker system will carry Willkie's remarks to the crowd there, and after his talk Willkie will appear before the grandstand crowd.

A special reception committee of 40, headed by Carpenter and including the Republican national committeewoman, Mrs. Curry Watson, and other party leaders will board Willkie's train at Sioux City for the trip here. Willkie will be met by a contingent of war veterans and paraded thru Farnam street, main business thorofare, to the coliseum, located on the western outskirts of the city.

Sheehan said more than 200 local nonpartisan groups have offered their coöperation in making arrangements for Willkie's welcome.

DEMOCRATS SELECT REP. M'CORMACK AS NEW HOUSE LEADER

Rep. J. W. McCormack.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 (AP).—Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts was elected democratic leader of the house late today over Clifton A. Woodrum of Virginia.

The vote was 141 for McCormack to 67 for Woodrum.

McCormack, 49, and member of the house since 1928, was chosen on the first ballot by a party caucus to fill the place vacated by Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, promoted from the leadership to the house speakership after Speaker William B. Bankhead of Alabama died last week.

COLBY ASSAILS ROOSEVELT'S 3D TERM AMBITION

Calls Use of Patronage Shameful Action.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 [Special].—President Roosevelt's personal actions in seeking to continue his tenure of the White House have supplied perhaps the most compelling arguments ever brought against a third term for any President, Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under President Woodrow Wilson, said today. He was testifying before the senate judiciary committee in favor of proposed constitutional amendment to limit Presidential tenure to one term of six years.

"By his conduct in directing the Democratic convention in Chicago and his later actions as a candidate," said Colby, "Mr. Roosevelt has contributed a perfect illustration of every danger and evil which Jefferson foresaw so clearly and against which he warned his countrymen so earnestly.

Abuse Long Anticipated.

"He has taken it upon himself to nullify the precedent of Washington and the tradition established by Jefferson, not by showing either to be wrong but by showing he does not care what they thought," continued Colby. "To their anticipation of grave abuses [from a third term], he has replied by providing the abuses.

Recalling Grover Cleveland's warning against the power of patronage at a President's disposal to force his renomination, Colby said: "We now see those influences unleashed, shamelessly pressed into service, and openly exploited in an effort to keep a President in office for a third term.

"We have seen that a tradition, no matter how cherished by the people or how long established, will not protect them against the use by an ambitious President of the vast resources of his office to prolong his tenure of it.

See Convention Manipulated.

"We have seen how a national convention can be seeded and planted in the interests of a third term and how it can be manipulated and forced into the service of a President's ambition, no matter how unprecedented and fraught with danger to our liberties such ambition may be.

"Liberty in America and the perpetuation of our free institutions, in the light of developments of the current year, evidently require a greater protection than is afforded by 'unwritten law' or tradition however sacred we may hold the latter to be," he said in urging the six year tenure limitation.

MARION'S MAYOR INDICTED WITH 29 IN ELECTION CASE

Marion, Ill., Sept. 25 [Special].—Mayor Harry L. Crisp of Marion and 29 other persons were under indictment today on charges growing out of the municipal election of April, 1939.

The mayor, a Republican, scoffed at the charges as a political attack led by State's Attorney J. O. Gallimore, a Democrat. Crisp is now serving his second four year term as mayor. He previously served a term as city commissioner.

Crisp was indicted on two charges of bribery. Prosecutor Gallimore said the mayor was accused of promising jobs to two persons during the campaign and failing to make good on the promises.

Twenty-eight of the defendants were charged with illegal voting. They voted in the city election, it was alleged, despite their residence outside the city limits. The remaining defendant, Benny Sanders, was charged with voting twice in the election. He has since joined the army.

TENNESSEE SITE IS SELECTED FOR ILLINOIS GUARD

33d Division Expects to Go Into Service Jan. 3.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

Arrow indicates Camp Peay, where 33d division will train.

The 33d division, Illinois National Guard, will go to Camp Peay, Tullahoma, Tenn., for its year's training under federal orders, it was announced yesterday. Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, division commander, said the division probably would be inducted into federal service Jan. 3.

Since 1925 Camp Peay has been the camp of the Tennessee National Guard. It is situated on a plateau called Highland rim, a sandy, wooded, level expanse at an elevation of 1,060 feet. Adjt. Gen. T. A. Frazier of Tennessee, in a telephone conversation last night, said the camp site includes 4,000 acres of the reservation proper, 20,000 acres under lease, and 15,000 acres under option to lease or buy—a total of 39,000 acres.

Wooded, Level Plateau.

"This camp, named for Austin Peay, Tennessee governor from 1924 to 1928, is wooded with pine and some oak," he said. "The plateau is level for 30 or 40 miles in each direction. About 50 miles eastward, around Chattanooga, are the Cumberland mountains, rising to 2,000 to 2,500 feet."

Gen. Frazier said the plateau is not thickly populated, since most of the land is useful only for pasture and not for general farming. He said there are quail and other small game, some foxes—and plenty of chiggers, but no snakes or mosquitoes. The temperature drops to zero once or twice a year, he added.

Frazier, who returned to Nashville yesterday from Washington, D. C., expects an officer of the quartermaster department to arrive in Tennessee this week to begin preliminary work on a $13,000,000 improvement program at Camp Peay.

Build Up Cantonment.

About half the money will be spent on construction of barracks, warehouses, kitchens, and the other structures which make up a semipermanent cantonment. The balance of the money, he understands, will be spent in the purchase of leased land for the camp. The construction work is scheduled to be completed by Jan. 2.

Altho Illinois Guard officers believe the 33d division will be quartered in tents, Frazier said the program calls for housing all men in barracks. The 33d division is the only unit expected to be quartered at the camp. It will include 907 officers and 17,894 men if built up to war strength.

Negro Regiment to Michigan.

It was learned yesterday, also, that the 184th coast artillery [antiaircraft], Chicago colored regiment which formerly was the 8th infantry, will be sent to Fort Custer, Mich., near Battle Creek, for its year of training under federal orders.

Meanwhile, the fourth and last group of the 202d coast artillery [antiaircraft], first Illinois Guard regiment called into federal service, left the Union station at 7 p. m. for Fort Bliss, near El Paso, Tex., where the unit will train. Col. Charles C. Dawes, commander of the regiment, headed the 20 officers and 421 men in the final contingent.

Turn Over Armory Today.

Custody of the unit's armory at 5917 Broadway will pass today from Lieut. Frank X. Meyers, regimental custodian since 1930, to Daniel C. Sweeney, civilian custodian named by the adjutant general's office to have charge of the property during the regiment's absence. Maj. M. B. Buck of the adjutant general's department was scheduled to witness the transfer of custody.

The state provides and maintains National Guard armories, while the federal government provides pay, clothing, and equipment of the Guardsmen.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE erroneously referred to Matthew Woll in a news story yesterday as president of the International Photo Engravers' union. Woll is a former president of that organization and is now its first vice president. The president is Edward J. Volz of New York City.

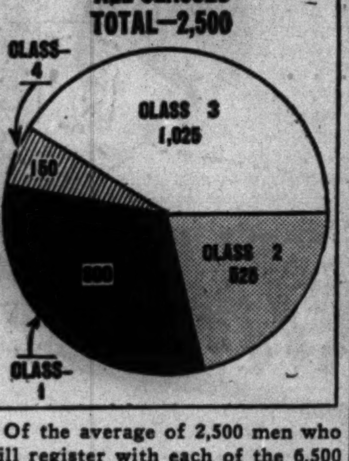
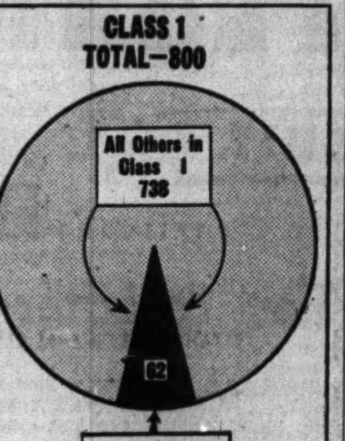
Draft Statistics



Of the average of 2,500 men who will register with each of the 6,500 draft boards, it is estimated that 800 will fall into class 1, those eligible for immediate service; 525 into class 2, those whose call is deferred because they are in an essential occupation; 1,025 into class 3, those having dependents, and 150 into class 4, whose call is deferred for moral or mental deficiencies or other reasons.



Of the 800 expected to be put into class 1 for immediate service by each draft board, 62 will be needed from each to make up the 400,000 who will be conscripted. Draft officials say that number may volunteer for service.

EXPECT TO FILL QUOTA IN DRAFT BY VOLUNTEERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—As the administration was moving forward with plans to register on Oct. 16 some 16,500,000 young men for selective service, draft officials today reported all the manpower needed under the present defense schedule may enlist voluntarily.

Under present plans, 400,000 men are to be mustered into service by Jan. 1. Because of the flood of inquiries received from men seeking to volunteer rather than await conscription, officers in charge of selective service said it may not be necessary to draft a single man to meet the 400,000 quota by the first of the year.

Altho the army is taking in recruits for the regular three year term of enlistment, it will not accept volunteers for one year of training until after Oct. 16. For this reason all applicants for the short enlistment period are being turned away at present.

To make up the required quota of 400,000 would bring about 62 men from each board. Officials are certain an average of 62 out of 800 eligible will volunteer for service.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt issued an executive order formally calling up 35,700 additional National Guardsmen for a year's service to begin Oct. 15. Plans to call these units previously had been announced by the war department. Included in the call are the 27th, 37th, and 32d divisions and a number of other units.

USE OF BUSINESS NAME PERPLEXES A DRAFT ELIGIBLE

Tribune Gives Replies to Questions.

I changed my name for business reasons. Which name should I use when registering for the draft, my legal or business name?

This is a sample among the thousands of inquiries received by the draft information bureau of the Tribune Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street. John F. Gillespie, head of the office, said hundreds of inquiries have been received by mail but that he prefers to have them made in person or over the telephone.

Business Name May Be Used.

The answer to the inquiry is: You may use the name you now use regularly providing you have no criminal record in which you used it as an alias.

Other questions and the answers given are:

Q.—If I enlist in the regular army for three years, instead of waiting for conscription, will my employer have to keep my job open three years? A.—The only provision about jobs in the conscription bill refers to one year's conscription. Nothing is said about a three year enlistment.

Q.—I saw six years active service in the marine corps and four years in the marine reserve. I am in neither now. May I be conscripted? A.—Yes. However you could avoid it by reënlisting in the marine reserve.

Religious Objections Probed.

Q.—I object to both war and conscription because of my religion. Will I be conscripted? A.—The act says no person who by reason of religious training and belief is conscientiously opposed to war in any form will be subject to combatant training. You may be assigned to noncombatant service, or if opposed to that may be assigned to work of national importance under civilian direction. However, your objection will be thoroly investigated by government agents.

Q.—My son works in a factory in Canada but has retained his United States citizenship. How will he register? A.—The law provides he must register within five days after returning to this country if he is out of the country on Oct. 16. However, local army officials have said it would be wise for him to contact the nearest American consulate on the registration date.

Q.—How long will I be kept on the reserve lists after completing my 12 months' training, if conscripted? A.—For 10 years, or until you are 45 years old. However, you will not be retained on the reserve list if instead you serve two additional years in the regular army or in the active National Guard.

THREE SOUGHT FOR RAPE.

Police were searching yesterday for three men who lured a girl 22 years old into their car near 64th street and Union avenue, earlier in the day, and drove her to Lake Calumet and raped her.

JUDGE CONVICTS 17 STRIKERS IN CONTEMPT CASE

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 25 [Special].—Seventeen striking workers of the Kawneer company at Niles were found guilty of contempt of court and 16 were found not guilty by Judge Fremont Evans in the Berrien county Circuit court today.

The men, members of local 92 of the United Automobile Workers of America, A. F. of L., were charged with creating disturbances at the Kawneer factory gates on Sept. 6, a date set by company officials as a deadline for strikers to return to work or be discharged.

The disturbances, the court ruled, were in violation of an injunction issued Aug. 1 to restrain violence in the strike. Another hearing for 41 strikers on contempt charges growing out of disturbances on Sept. 9 was begun today and will be completed tomorrow.

Coast Guard Recruiting Officer Moved to Omaha

Chief Boatswain Lee R. Scott, coast guard recruiting officer here for the last year, was notified yesterday that he is to be transferred to recruiting duty at Omaha, Neb. Government officials said he has made the Chicago district one of the outstanding recruiting districts of the nation, with more than 1,000 enlistments in the year he has been here. He has been 30 years in the government service.

THE NAVY PIPES 32 OVER SIDE—AND IT'S A PIPE!

Rush to Join Sea Service Felt in Chicago.

The United States navy recruiting office in Chicago announced yesterday that 32 more recruits will be sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training station today, boosting to 293 the number recruited in the Chicago district this month. The quota is 325 for September and recruiting officials said they expect to fill it. The Chicago district includes Wisconsin, Illinois, northern Indiana, and the peninsula of Michigan.

Of the 293 accepted, 66 were signed by the Chicago recruiting office, in room 702 of the United States courthouse, Clark and Adams street. The Chicago recruits were chosen from 198 applicants, meaning that one man in three was accepted. Recruiting officials said this percentage indicated "a good run" of men, since the usual proportion of acceptances is about one in six.

Raise Quota to 440 Men.

More men are applying for service in the navy than formerly, and enlistment quotas are being raised, according to Commander E. M. Senn, officer in charge of the recruiting office in Chicago. The Chicago district's quota for October will be 440 recruits.

"There is no way to tell, of course, but I don't believe the increased applications for the navy have anything to do with the draft," he said. "For a year we have found that 70 per cent of those who try to enlist in the navy have been influenced to do so by letters from friends in the service."

Indicative of the recruiting rush was the statement by Secretary of Navy Frank Knox in Washington yesterday that the navy would depend for the time being upon volunteers, and not use drafted men.

In July, 1939, the first enlistment term in the navy was boosted from four to six years. Navy men assert that naval service now is so highly technical that it is impossible to make a sailor in four years—let alone make a sailor in one year. Reënlistments in the navy still are for four year periods. Enlistments in the army are three years.

Lower Minimum Test Grade.

Naval requirements have been lowered in one respect, it was explained. Formerly each man was required to make a mark of 75 per cent in what is called the general classification test, a one hour written examination given all applicants. Now the requirement is 50 per cent.

The five men who passed the test in Chicago yesterday made these marks: 87, 77, 53, 51, and 58. The average recruit, it was stated, had reached the 10th grade or second year of high school, before joining the navy.

Some of the comparative requirements for enlistment in the navy and army are as follows: Age: army, 18 to 35; navy, 18 to 31. Height: army, at least 64 inches; navy, 63 inches. Weight: army, at least 115 pounds; navy, proportionate weight to age and height. Teeth: army, sufficient good teeth to perform function of mastication; navy, 20 sound teeth.

TAKE SHACKLES OFF RAILROADS, BROOKS URGES

Belleville, Ill., Sept. 25 [Special].—Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senator, speaking here tonight demanded that government remove the shackles from the transportation system of the country. This he said would give the farmer, business, and industry of Illinois and the middle west a chance to send their products to market at a price to compete with those of other sections of the country.

Earlier in the day, Brooks, accompanied by Arthur C. Lueder, Republican candidate for state auditor, and William G. Stratton, Republican candidate for congressman at large, spoke at meetings in Gillespie, Mt. Olive, Staunton, and Edwardsville.

Brooks declared the railroads, waterways, trucks and buses, and the airlines of the country must be welded into a system with the sole objective of serving all of the people of the nation.

PRINTER STUNS ELECTION BOARD WITH A LOW BID

Cuts Two-Thirds Off Competitors' Prices.

The lowest prices in many years for printing ballots for the Presidential election were submitted to the board of election commissioners yesterday by M. Kallis & Co. The Kallis firm submitted bids that were about one-third the figures named by the second lowest bidders. The job calls for more than 3 million ballots.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, head of the election machinery, termed the low bids by Kallis "very unusual" and said that all bids will be closely studied before the printing is awarded to any firm.

Prices Vary Widely.

Kallis bid $6.87 per thousand for ballots 18¾ by 21½ inches without water marking. The next lowest bid—$21.50—was submitted by Rand McNally & Co. Officials of several printing firms which submitted bids said the costs of the job would far exceed Kallis' prices.

Morton Kallis, president of the printing firm, admitted the company may suffer a loss on the job. He said he had not obtained bidding specifications until Tuesday and had less than a day to make estimates.

John Rusch, chief clerk of the board, said that ballots for the 1936 Presidential election cost $31.66 per thousand. The board plans to have 3,078,400 Presidential ballots printed—800 for each of the 3,848 precincts. These ballots will carry the names of national, state, and county candidates.

Other Bids Taken.

Bids were also taken yesterday for printing 2,918,400 judicial ballots for the 3,648 precincts in the city, for 100,000 specimen Presidential ballots, and 100,000 specimen judicial ballots, a combined total of 6,196,800 ballots.

Kallis was low bidder on all classes except for the judicial ballots with water marking. The Fred Klein company's bid of $1.59 per thousand was low on this job, with Kallis second at $1.64.

If the contracts are awarded to yesterday's low bidders, the cost of printing all ballots will run from $25,863 to $34,943, depending on the type and size of ballots decided upon.

May Tie Record

Another chilly day was in prospect for Chicago today, but fair and warmer weather is due tomorrow, Forecaster R. E. Gumpf predicted last night. He said the temperature might drop to between 35 and 38 degrees in the suburbs and that a frost might follow there and in Chicago. This would equal the record for an early Chicago frost, which was set on Sept. 26, 1928.

The normal minimum temperature for today is 53.9 degrees and the normal maximum 70.3. Gumpf said the highest temperature expected is about 60 degrees. A heavy frost probably would damage late soy bean and corn crops, stunted by drouth and slow to mature in this area.

The coast guard reported yesterday that about 50 small craft were torn loose from their moorings during the near gale of yesterday and Tuesday. About a dozen went down and many others were damaged.

4TH UNION CHIEF LINKS NELSON TO SCALISE ELECTION

The grand jury continued its investigation yesterday of the tangled affairs of the Building Service Employés' International union, which formerly was headed by George Scalise, pander and racketeer under conviction in New York for forgery and theft and now being prosecuted for income tax frauds. Witnesses have told State's Attorney Courtney that Scalise looted the union treasury of $118,000 thru fraudulent accounts.

Miss Elizabeth Grady, president of the School Janitors' union, No. 7, and a trustee of the international, was reported to have told the grand jurors that Judge Oscar Nelson, Republican nominee for state's attorney, was present at the meeting on April 30, 1937, which elected Scalise. Three other officials of the union have told the same story.

Judge Nelson has denied being present and has termed the allegations a political frameup by Courtney. He said that the state's attorney was bringing in "a witness a day" to keep the matter alive.

CHARGES HUGHES DISTRIBUTES GAS TAXES UNFAIRLY

Justus L. Johnson, Republican nominee for secretary of state, charged yesterday that his Democratic opponent, Secretary Edward J. Hughes, is guilty of "gross inefficiency" in computing gasoline tax refunds to the counties of Illinois.

Johnson said Hughes is refunding gas taxes on the basis of 1933 motor vehicle license fees, whereas the law provides that the allotment shall always be made in proportion to fees received the preceding calendar year. This method, the Republican nominee contended, has, for example, deprived Peoria county of $200,000 in refunds since 1933.

HEAT TURNED ON FORMER HELPERS TO AID WALLACE

Civil Service Employes Urged to Donate.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Employés of the department of agriculture—both civil service and noncivil service—have been asked to "make generous money contributions" for the campaign expenses of their former chief, Henry Wallace, Democratic nominee for Vice President, and his running mate, Franklin Roosevelt, it was learned today.

Altho the solicitations are being handled in such a manner that they probably do not violate the Hatch clean politics act or the federal corrupt practices act, they are reported to be causing growing resentment among veteran employés thruout the department. Letters soliciting the funds warn the employés that the contributions are for the "security" of their "firesides" and advise them that an "immediate reply will be appreciated."

Mailed to Employes' Homes.

The letters have been mailed to the homes of the employés by the national committee for agriculture, which has offices at 166 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago.

They were signed by Eugene B. Casey, secretary treasurer. Casey, it was learned, is a dairy farmer living near Gaithersburg, Md., who resigned last July from a pay roll job as special assistant to Albert G. Black, governor of the farm credit administration, to take part in the campaign. In 1938 he was identified with the New Deal attempt to "purge" Senator Millard Tydings, critic of the Roosevelt administration, having been campaign manager for Tydings' opponent.

The national committee for agriculture describes itself in its letters as an organization "working for the preservation of the national farm program" and "supporting the election of President Roosevelt and Henry Wallace."

Committee Denies Responsibility.

Today the Democratic national committee insisted it had no connection with this group and that it had no knowledge of Casey's letters.

The fact that Casey no longer is with the government and that the letters were mailed to the employés' homes, rather than to their offices, places the solicitation outside the corrupt practices act and the Hatch act, according to the justice department and the civil service commission.

"It seems to have been planned carefully to get around the law," was the opinion of a spokesman for the civil service commission.

"CO-OPERATION" EXPLAINED.

H. W. Settle, in charge of Chicago headquarters of the National Committee for Agriculture, 166 West Jackson boulevard, explained yesterday that funds which the organization collects by solicitation are used for its own promotion work. He denied that the organization had any connection with the Democratic National committee, or that the funds were turned over to the political group. "Of course we coöperate," he added.

The committee, Settle said, is the same organization that in 1936 was called the "All Parties Roosevelt Agricultural Committee." In its present form it has occupied headquarters here for the last 30 days and has set up subsidiary offices in 13 states, he said.

G. O. P. CHARGES SHAKEDOWN OF POSTMASTERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 (AP).—The Republican national committee asserted in a statement today that the Democratic national committee was shaking down postmasters for campaign contributions.

It said that according to the committee's report to congress of receipts from June 1 to Aug. 31 more than half of the 65 individuals who made contributions of $100 or more were postmasters.

It also declared that Representative J. Buell Snyder [D., Pa.] had circularized all postmasters in his district to support President Roosevelt. The committee also issued a list of postmasters it said contributed to the Democratic fund, most of whom were from Kansas and Minnesota.

Judicial Nominee and Family

William J. Campbell, who has been nominated for the federal district bench at Chicago, and Mrs. Campbell and their two daughters, Marie, 2 years old, and Karen, 4½ months old. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

United States Attorney William J. Campbell, who was nominated by President Roosevelt on Tuesday as a judge of the federal district court here, returned yesterday from a fishing trip in Wisconsin. Campbell said he was gratified at being chosen.

Campbell said the President's choice of J. A. Woll to become United States attorney was a wise one. Woll is now a special assistant attorney general in Washington, D. C.

INSURANCE MEN OPEN DRIVE TO ELECT WILLKIE

Hit Political Control of Business.

Leading insurance men of Illinois opened a campaign yesterday to elect Wendell Willkie as President and to support Republican candidates for state office in order to safeguard the existing basis of insurance investment and to curb political encroachments on the insurance business.

Organized as the Republican insurance committee of Illinois, under the leadership of Walter J. Floreen, chairman of the insurance division of the Republican state central committee, the insurance men announced that they were returning to the attack started in 1936 with stronger supporting forces.

Denounce Burocratic Control.

In affirming support for Willkie, the committee denounced burocratic federal control of the insurance business.

In Illinois, the committee asserted, the principal abuse is the diversion and coercion of insurance business from natural local channels to politicians using their public position unfairly to obtain risk business in their dual rôle as "insurance brokers."

"Political control of the insurance business in Illinois," the committee stated, "has reached such proportions during the present Democratic administration that its continuance constitutes a serious menace to every established agent, broker, and insurance employé in the state. Overnight it uproots business years of patient service has built.

"Part of Spoils System."

"Thru exceedingly sinister means, insurance men who are devoting their entire time to the business have been deprived of thousands of risks that were on their books and have been denied a fair opportunity of writing much other new business. There is no other way to protect our legitimate business interests from this insatiable greed than to mobilize insurance men into a political unit that will make office holders think twice before making the insurance business a part of the spoils system."

John L. Clarkson of Chicago is chairman of the Republican insurance committee; Alvin S. Keys of Springfield is vice chairman, in charge of downstate organizing, and Gail Reed of Wheaton vice chairman on general activities.

COLLEGIANS BAND TO BACK WILLKIE AT 56 SCHOOLS

College and university students are enrolling in large numbers as volunteer Willkie workers, it was disclosed yesterday by John Colmar, director of the College Republicans of America. This organization is an auxiliary of both the Young Republican National federation and the Republican national committee. It operates as an association of locally independent college clubs bound together by a community of interests and a desire to participate in politics. To be chartered a club must have at least 15 members.

Gordon Allott, director of the Young Republicans, said the organization of College Republicans was brought about to rid colleges and universities of the many subversive organizations who found college students fine prey for the undermining of American institutions.

Chapters of the College Republicans are located at the University of Chicago, University of Illinois, Northwestern, Purdue, Indiana university, Bradley Tech, Illinois Wesleyan, Knox, Lake Forest, Loyola, Monmouth, Butler, De Pauw, Franklin, Wabash, Cornell, Drake, Iowa State, Grinnell, Simpson, University of Michigan, Beloit, Ripon, Lawrence, Morningside, and the universities of Oklahoma, Arizona and Missouri. Clubs are being formed in the Universities of Texas, Kentucky and Tennessee.

FALL KILLS GIRL, 9.

A fall from a bed upon which she was playing in her home at 1745 Jarvis avenue was blamed yesterday for the death of Patricia Perkins, 9 years old. The accident occurred Monday night. The child died in Children's Memorial hospital.

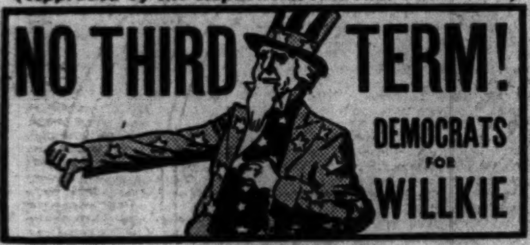
REPUBLICAN

Thumbs Down!

(Provided by the Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie.)
(Approved by the Republican National Committee.)



You will see this poster on a huge billboard in Times Square, and on 10,000 other billboards in 37 states, from now until election day.

You will also see it in subways and street cars, on auto windshields and elsewhere. It is sponsored by the no third term branch of the Democratic party, the national committee of Democrats-for-Willkie.

We believe that this poster will give every genuine Democrat who sees it something to think about. We believe it may even give the third term branch of the Democratic party, the Democrats-for-Roosevelt, something to think about.

But we doubt very much if it will give the third term branch anything to TALK about.

The third term is the one thing, above all others, that the third termers would rather not talk about.

He Won't Talk.

Chairman Flynn of the third term branch has had practically nothing to say on this issue. We understand that, in reply to a question, he did say once that it was a matter of little or no importance.

Such a remark is an insult to the intelligence of every Democrat and every American.

Has Chairman Flynn ever heard of Washington or Jefferson or Jackson or Cleveland or Wilson?

These great Presidents thought the third term was a matter of supreme importance. Our history is full of their warnings against the danger to democracy of perpetuating a President in power.

Yet Mr. Flynn thinks the third term is of no importance, and he would rather not discuss it.

Mr. Flynn puts out a statement on an average of once a day attempting to "smear" Mr. Willkie. But he never has voluntarily opened his mouth to stem the rising tide of resentment against the bid for continued power which Mr. Roosevelt is now making.

Mr. Flynn knows he cannot stem this tide, and he evidently concludes that the best thing to do about it is to do nothing about it.

Just a Reminder.

Well, we hope these posters will remind all genuine Americans that the third term is an insidious but very dangerous attack on true democracy.

Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland, and Wilson knew it.

Jim Farley and Jack Garner and other genuine Democrats know it.

Mr. Roosevelt himself used to know it before he chose to forget it.

And we believe the whole country knows it and will weigh it so heavily in the balance when the day comes to vote that true democracy will prevail over "unconscious dictatorship."

DEMOCRATIC

What About Weir and Girdler?

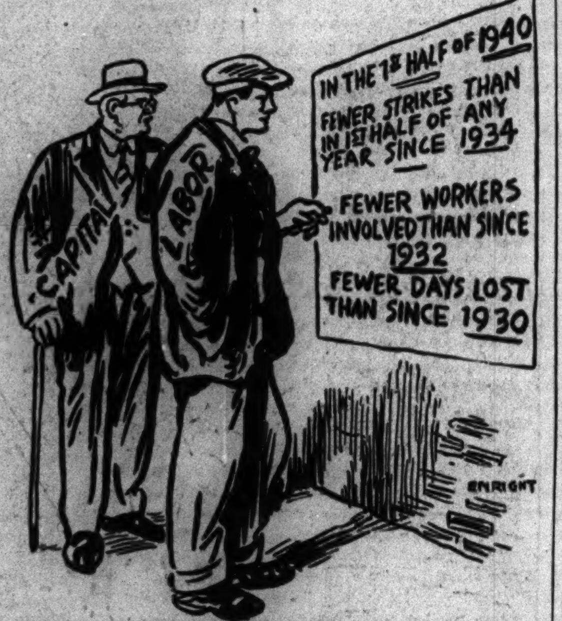
(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

Altho booming business usually carries with it an upsurge in strikes and other labor troubles, the present period of industrial expansion is remarkably free from such disturbances.

A survey recently made showed that there were fewer strikes in the first half of 1940 than in any corresponding period since 1934. There were fewer workers involved than since 1932 and fewer days lost than since 1930.

A record of this kind speaks well for the patriotism of labor and management in working together in amicable understanding for the general good. A wave of bickering and disputes, strikes and lockouts at this time might cause a serious loss of work hours and hamper the progress of the defense program when speed is essential.

Excellent work is being done by the Roosevelt administration in promoting the cause of industrial peace thru wise legislation. Despite the bitter opposition of those who dislike any form of labor legislation, the National Labor Relations act has gone a long way toward substituting the orderly consideration of disputes between employer and employé for the industrial anarchy which formerly prevailed.



IN THE 1st HALF OF 1940
FEWER STRIKES THAN IN 1st HALF OF ANY YEAR SINCE 1934
FEWER WORKERS INVOLVED THAN SINCE 1932
FEWER DAYS LOST THAN SINCE 1930 CAPITAL LABOR
ENRIGHT

The act was sponsored by Senator Wagner, New York Democrat, who has been far ahead of his contemporaries in recognizing the need for a sound national labor policy.

Wendell Willkie said in his speech at Seattle that enactment of this measure was long overdue. He added:

"But the New Deal has issued tons of propaganda to claim exclusive credit for that act. Whereas in reality the National Labor Relations act was modeled closely on the Railway Labor act which was passed by a Republican administration.

"Now let me tell you straight from the shoulder. I stand for every one of the social gains that labor has made. I stand for the National Labor Relations act and the right of collective bargaining. I stand for maximum wages and minimum hours and for legislation to enforce them."

Candidate Willkie's staff of brain-trusters, or researchers, as he prefers to call them, forgot to tell him that the Railway Labor act was forced on a reluctant Republican administration by a combination of Democrats and progressive Republicans.

RECALLING 1916, PARTIES BATTLE FOR CALIFORNIA

State May Be Decisive Factor Again.

problematical. In 1938 the conservatives beat "the ham and egg" crackpots and the 900,000 Democratic preponderance melted to the 200,000 by which Gov. Culbert L. Olson was elected.

Johnson Vote Is Cited.

In the recent primary 480,000 Democrats voted for Johnson, despite Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to defeat him in the Democratic primary. If the Johnson Democratic vote is an accurate reflection of Democratic reaction against Roosevelt policies it augurs well for a Willkie victory in this state.

There is no doubt of the alienation of large numbers of Democrats by the dictatorship trend of the Roosevelt administration. At Republican headquarters thousands of persons are volunteering to work for Willkie in their communities. Of the pledge cards for this work about one-seventh thus far have been signed by Democrats, most of whom indicated they had turned against Mr. Roosevelt because of his third term candidacy and his attempt to pack the Supreme court which, in their opinion, add up to dictatorship ambitions.

Organize Willkie Clubs.

Other Democrats unwilling to align themselves formally with the Republican organizations are organizing Willkie Democratic clubs. The Italian-American vote of 37,000, hitherto almost unanimously Democratic, is estimated to be fully 80 per cent pro-Willkie as a result of Mr. Roosevelt's "stab in the back" speech. The Italian language papers denounce the speech as unfair to Mussolini, contending that Il Duce did not stab France in the back because he had made no secret of his intentions.

The Democratic leaders profess to have no fear that California can be wrested from Mr. Roosevelt, but they are taking no chances. The campaign is being conducted under the direction of a Democratic proconsulship composed of former Gov. Leslie A. Miller of Wyoming and Oscar L. A. Chapman, who took a leave of absence from his job of assistant secretary of the interior for the purpose.

Olson Put in Background.

Pushed into the background in Gov. Olson, who has become a political liability to the Democrats by virtue of a fiasco of his legislative program and by the current circulation by Democrats of a petition for his recall from office.

The Democrats are leaning heavily for success on the labor, farm, and relief vote. AAA agents have notified farmers to get their reports in at once because this year the government subsidy is to be paid in October instead of November. Asked why by one farmer, the agent replied: "Draw your own conclusions."

Republican leaders are greatly encouraged by the large crowds Willkie drew in California and by the apparent approval of his speeches. He made no blunders, they assert, and he took the wind out of the Democratic warning to farmers that if Willkie were elected the 200 million dollar Central Valley reclamation project would be stopped. Willkie promised its completion.

WILLKIE ON PUBLIC POWER.

Some people thought that Mr. Willkie was making a mistake in going to the northwest. As the man who fought the government's unfair competition in the Tennessee valley, he was heading into the Columbia river territory where even larger amounts of public money are being spent on hydro-electric projects than were spent by the TVA. Grand Coulee alone is costing as much as the TVA in its entirety.

Mr. Willkie didn't take this advice and when he got to Portland he didn't try to dodge the issue as some of his more timid supporters had recommended. He spoke up with great frankness. He said he was not opposed, in principle, to government power plants. If the government builds a dam to control floods, improve navigation, or provide water for irrigation, it would be wasteful, he said, not to take advantage of the opportunity thus provided for generating electric power.

But it is also wasteful to permit the government to compete with existing enterprises. To do that, as the New Deal has done, is fair neither to the investors nor to the taxpayers. As Mr. Willkie said:

"It is the business of the people of these areas to say what shall be done with the power generated in such projects—to determine whether it will be distributed by public or private hands. If you want to distribute it privately, that is your business. If you want to take over the private companies, that is your business; but do it by fair values so that capital will not be driven out of these areas."

To this little need be added beyond the fact that the great objection which competent engineers and laymen have made to Grand Coulee and kindred projects is not that they are being built by the government but that they are being built. Nobody with any claim to disinterestedness has found it possible to justify the expenditure of close to half a billion dollars of the people's money on Grand Coulee. It was authorized by the President of his own motion and begun with funds from a blanket appropriation which congress had mistakenly given to him to spend as he chose.

The dam is now substantially completed and a few of the power units have been purchased and installed. The government has already sunk a couple of hundred million dollars in Grand Coulee. In the circumstances, the best way out of the difficulty would be to turn it over as it is, as a gift to the state of Washington to do with as the people of the state desire. If it is worth completing the people who will derive whatever benefits are to be obtained from it ought to welcome so magnificent a present, free of all cost to them for the major share of the work already accomplished.

TO PREVENT INFLATION.

W. Randolph Burgess is a leading financial authority, and no one knows that better than the Roosevelt administration. When war broke out and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, fearful of a world financial storm, wanted an international authority at his side to guide him, he asked for Burgess, vice chairman of the board of the National City bank, for years a leading executive of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, and manager of the investment account for all the reserve banks. Mr. Burgess gave up his important work in New York, and stayed at Morgenthau's elbow until calm had settled upon financial markets and the treasury personnel.

Mr. Burgess was listened to closely on Monday when he spoke to the delegates to the American Bankers association at their annual convention at Atlantic City. He told the bankers that they might as well get ready for serious inflation if adjustments are not speedily made in government finances. He said that our present "bank credit and national debt and our surplus bank funds are at ludicrously swollen figures. Our defense spending is piled high on top of a huge annual budgetary deficit. We have been on a wild government spending spree and our habits of control are impaired."

He mentioned the following steps that ought to be taken to avoid financial disaster:

1. Reduction of government expenditures outside of the defense program.

2. Repeal of the legislation which authorizes the President at his discretion to issue 3 billion dollars of printing press money.

3. Modification of the stringent controls and technical regulations which are stifling the security markets.

4. The adoption of a spirit of coöperation of the government with business to replace the prevailing dictatorial practices.

This is common sense from a man of integrity and ability. It comes from a man in whom the present administration has shown that it has great confidence. Mr. Roosevelt can create public confidence by taking the specific steps outlined by Mr. Burgess, which would show that he is at last willing to be guided by competent counsel. Will he do these things or will he continue in the hazardous path, guided by a gang of crackpots? We shall wait with hope, but with no confidence.

PUBLICITY FOR UNION FINANCES.

Last week it was disclosed that George Scalise, a man recently convicted of a crime in New York, for the last three years had been taking over a hundred thousand dollars a year from the treasury of the Building Service Employés International union. No one questions that union officers should be adequately paid for their services, but 10 or 15 thousand dollars or for the top men 25 thousand a year would certainly be adequate. Scalise did not pretend that he was worth as much as he was paid out of the dues contributed by scrubwomen, elevator operators, janitors, and window washers. He had control of the union and ordered its treasurer to pay him what he asked for, thru fake names and dummy accounts.

The facts came to light as a result of Scalise's conviction in a case prosecuted by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Those who know the facts could, with Scalise in custody, tell of his handling of union funds without putting their lives in jeopardy.

There are Scalises in other unions who are not awaiting sentence and are not soon to be tried. Scalise's is not an isolated case. It is true that at the head of many unions are men of high moral purpose, who never use their position or their union's finances except to further the interests of the membership in legitimate ways. But there are other unions controled by a few dishonest insiders who milk the rank and file for all they are worth. When organizations are fostered by government to the extent that labor unions have been under the New Deal, they should be required to make complete and authenticated accounting of their funds at regular intervals. If that is not done, some unions are bound to be nothing more than governmentally sponsored rackets. Honest union officers should welcome the opportunity to show that their organizations are above reproach.

HELPING THE BOYS TO ESCAPE.

Sixteen months ago the state legislature, aroused by the complaints of residents of the Fox river valley against depredations by young criminals who were escaping almost daily from the St. Charles school for boys, appropriated $26,000 for a fence around the institution.

A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, refused to carry out the legislature's mandate and build the fence. Not until 13 more inmates had escaped, after beating a guard, did he order work started.

The fence has been completed. It is 13 feet high and topped with barbed wire—and set 2 feet above the surface of the ground. There is plenty of room for a grown man to crawl under it. Altho a couple of men with tractors and bulldozers could probably raise the grade to the bottom of the fence in a week, nothing much has been done to make it escapeproof since it was finished last spring.

The most charitable view that can be taken of this latest lapse of duty by Director Bowen is that age has made him incapable of filling his office. He is now under a criminal sentence removing him from that office, as a result of the typhoid fever scandal at the Manteno state hospital, but an appeal from his conviction has stayed his sentence and the political manipulators who have usurped power at Springfield during Gov. Horner's illness have allowed him to remain in office.

Escape is the final resort of the politico-criminal alliance. When public opinion blocks release by a politically controlled parole board, it is always possible to let the favored criminal run away. The dummy fence at St. Charles defeats efforts to make that institution a safe place of custody.

A GREAT SHOW.

A good many people, reading of the bombings in Europe, may have come to think of the airplane as an unmixed evil. For such persons a visit to the airport is recommended.

The advice is largely superfluous. Every day hundreds gather there to watch the transports come and go. On a pleasant Sunday the hundreds become thousands. They line the fences, three deep, to see the show.

The spectators are richly rewarded. It's a great performance and a continuous one. Arrivals and departures follow each other with the lapse of only a few minutes between them. Everybody is in a hurry but they don't get in each other's way. The attendants are alert but not officious as they are when an ocean liner is about to depart; neither are they as bored as are the station crews in a big railroad terminal. The atmosphere of a great airport is unique and wholly satisfactory.

It's a pity that Arnold Bennett died before he had a chance to fix the picture in words. Of all the writers of our time he alone could have done it justice. He was fascinated by the luxury of trains, ships and hotels, and curious about the complex organizations which made these things possible. The airport provides better material than anything he had at hand.

MR. BROWDER IS OFF THE STUMP.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Federal Judge Knox in New York did a good job in denying Earl Browder permission to make a campaign speaking tour as a Presidential candidate.

Mr. Browder has an engagement to keep in Judge Knox's jurisdiction. He is there by compulsion, under a total sentence of four years for passport frauds, for having used another man's passports, purloined other men's names, sworn falsely. Altho Browder has an appeal pending in the Supreme court and is on bail, Judge Knox has the responsibility for his person.

As Judge Knox says, there is no reason "why a man convicted of a crime should be allowed to engage in political activities. . . ." And the judge puts a stinger into his remark by adding "particularly against the government."

We coddled Earl Browder a long time, while he abused his privileges of citizenship. It is satisfying to know that he is getting what any other citizen would expect to get were he in Browder's shoes.

NATURE, IT'S WONDERFUL.

Nature is the only safe topic for a peaceful columnist in these troubled times. History, politics, and international affairs are fields of comment that should be invaded only by cantankerous spirits eager to stir up venomous back talk.

But even nature has its perils. For example, if we speak of equinoctial storms, various knuckle rapping hair splitters will spring up to tell us that there is no relation between the autumnal equinox and storms. They will claim that the weather bureau man told them so.

Nevertheless, the period of equinoctial storms began in Chicago this week, exactly on schedule.

Among nature writers the name of Alan Sullivan is not well known; in fact, we are barren of information about him, altho we have searched several reference works. And yet his essay, "The Cycle of the North," is a masterpiece in this field of literature. It describes the coming and passing of the four seasons in the subarctic regions of North America, above the 59th parallel, in terms of flora, fauna, and landscape.

* * *

Apparently Alan Sullivan was, or is, a Canadian. We found his essay in a pocket volume of reprint called "The Lore of the Wanderer: An Open Air Anthology," published in England 20 years ago. This book has gone into our luggage on every vacation trip since we bought it.

LINES TO SHERI.

[Sept. 7, 1937-Sept. 18, 1940.]

How silent is our home without you here
To wag a welcome at the opened door,
And with your joyous greetings gayly pour
Affection on us all who held you dear.
What careless driver on our quiet street
Struck you and brought us grief? (How could one slay
A little dog that lived to romp and play
Yet seldom left the garden's safe retreat?)
No longer from beneath the davenport
Will you poke out your saucy coal-black face;
No longer take your oft-accustomed place
Beside me as I sew, nor jump in sport,
Your lithe white body leaping high. No more
Will you chase baby rabbits in our grass,
Or wave your plumy tail to friends that pass,
Or bark to keep intruders from our door.
Sheri, farewell! Gay little more-than-friend,
Our hearts are saddened and our eyes are dim.
Nor can we understand the sudden whim
That took you past the curb to tragic end.

So You Don't Believe in Milk Snakes!

In view of the frequent denial of the milk snake story by scientists, and recently in your column, I think our experience on a Wisconsin farm some years ago should be reported. Perhaps you know how much work there is on a timber farm with cows to milk, and on our farm at any rate, any labor saving device was sure to be in demand.

One spring we found our cows with most of their milk gone before we got them to the barn, and a search of the pastures discovered the culprits, a lot of healthy and well fed milk snakes. My brother and I had the happy thought of collecting these snakes, making a slit on the underside of their throats, and inserting a bent glass tube. Then a group of four snakes could be attached to the cows' teats and the glass tubes hooked over the edge of a pail. Imagine our delight at seeing four streams of milk pouring out without effort!

When we realized the value of our newly domesticated snakes, we devised a simple method of feeding them by making a very small hole at the angle of each of the glass tubes. This allowed a small amount of milk to trickle into the snakes' stomachs, and no further care was necessary.

We found a ready sale for our snakes among the neighbors at $1 a head, 25 cents extra if provided with the necessary glass tubes, making $5 for the set of four snakes. Our search of the pastures and hillsides took much of our time from the routine duties of farming, and was perhaps the origin of careers as naturalists for us both.

A "Lucky Stone" from Wisconsin.

From Appleton, Wis., comes a small box and this letter, signed by Lady of the House:

"Until you get that bit of hand carved ancient jade [Sept. 21] here is a genuine, oldtime 'lucky stone.'"

Thank you, Lady, but you can't fool us. We recognized the "lucky stone" immediately as a bone from the head of the sheepshead or fresh water drumfish [Aplidonotus grunniens]. There are two of these bones, marked with a white streak that resembles the letter L, in the sheepshead's skull. Natives of the middle west often carry them as luck pieces.

The sheepshead is a big, rough fish, regarded as inedible, of the Great Lakes and Mississippi valley region. He makes a booming or grunting sound under water.

A SENSIBLE PROGRAM IN BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

SOME day physicians will devote far more time and attention to the chronic diseases that beset mankind. The drama surrounding an acute encounter with a vicious ailment demands the highest skill. Nonetheless, the medical man is called upon to exert his reasoning powers to the utmost in combating maladies that hang on and are slowly progressive.

Among those afflictions we may include Bright's disease, in which the function of the kidneys is impaired. If a substantial portion of the secreting tissue is destroyed, the organs just cannot behave as they should. Either water will be retained in the tissues or nitrogenous matter that should be thrown off will be withheld—giving rise to a logy dull feeling.

With proper management many of these sufferers will live beyond the normal span of life, as there are scores of ways in which the renal apparatus can be spared an overload. Infections, wherever they are encountered, must be eliminated, while dietary adjustment, the correction of anemia, and restriction of the amount of fluid and salt imbibed are all on the program.

The teeth, tonsils, sinuses, and the prostate gland should also be investigated as possible sources of pus absorption. Great improvement may follow the removal of foul snags of teeth—many of which will harbor infection.

Since the patient loses considerable protein via the urine, this element must be replaced. That which is derived from animals is far more usable than a vegetable source. There seems to be no contraindication to red meats and the old dogma that nothing but chicken can be allowed is now considered unwise. In fact, double the requirements of a strong, active man may be demanded.

Anemia seems to go hand in hand with a lowered output of the kidneys. Iron particularly may need to be fed and—with more oxygen carrying power on the part of the cells—the tissues will be better nourished and thus able to do more work.

How much salt can be taken? Many a victim has observed that when he cuts down on the volume of this condiment, puffing of ankles and lower legs is far less. If there is no edema [swelling], food may be taken just as it comes to the table. On the other hand, if it is present, the quota of common salt must be reduced by at least 50 per cent. As more water is excreted and the tissues return to normal, the quantity may be augmented until the right balance is obtained.

If necessary, potassium chloride may be added to the edibles to make them more palatable. Sodium bicarbonate or like compounds should be abstained from because they contain the sodium factor—which is the one that holds the fluid.

Should too much liquid collect in the tissues, water drinking may be restricted somewhat, the protein may be increased, and certain drugs utilized which will tend to eliminate the excess. Sometimes potassium nitrate—which resembles sweet spirits of niter of many years ago—will be effective.

Fortunately most of those who develop Bright's disease may be assured that they can live a long time if they will take care of themselves. They should secure ample sleep—at least 10 hours each night. If in addition they can rest for a half hour during the forenoon and again in midafternoon, so much the better. Naturally, fatigue and strenuous exercise should be avoided. Care may be taken also to shun exposure to extremes of temperature. Chilling may have the effect of making the malady worse temporarily.

WAR NEWS; POLITICAL NEWS.

Pontiac, Ill., Sept. 24.—As a subscriber I feel like one of your family and privileged to make a suggestion.

Why make the war news prominent by putting it on the front page? You'd be helping the political war in this country more by putting our own country's important news on that page. And may I suggest that one such article should be the one I just read in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE: "New Deal Taxes Put 300 Miners on Relief Rolls."

You're helping Roosevelt by keeping the war news, much of it propaganda, in front of the people; that's the weapon he's using to try to scare the population into voting for him. It is articles such as the above that he doesn't want known.

DEEDS TO PROPERTY.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother's father died in Illinois three years ago leaving as his heirs 10 children. Nine of these children received deeds to parcels of property.

My mother's name was [1] signed on two of these deeds to receive in cash $1,000 from one and $500 from the other.

2. Two of the parties holding deeds protested them claiming that their father was [3] incompetent at the time deeds were drawn. They took it to court and tried to void the deeds and have the property sold at auction. The other parties hired a lawyer and had it taken out of court and had quit claim deeds signed on the property. They have all signed except my mother and now they want her to sign.

4. If she signs them without receiving her money from these two parties will she sign away her rights to collect?

5. I would like to know how long my mother will have to wait to get a settlement and how she should collect?

C. M.

1. Signed by whom? We assume that you are misusing this word and all that you mean is that she was mentioned in the body of the deeds.

2. In general we would expect the other parties to contest the deed and the grantees to resist.

3. This would be a ground for setting aside the deeds if the tax could be proved.

4. The effect of the deeds will depend on the wording.

5. We cannot advise without having the facts more clearly before us. It seems probable that your mother should employ an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FINDS US A HORRIBLE EXAMPLE.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—For some time, with ever increasing wrath, I've been reading your editorials and noticing your cartoons savagely denouncing "eastern seaboard war mongers."

About a year ago I moved to Chicago from New York, and in my present position I get back east three or four times a year, and travel extensively thru the New England, middle Atlantic, and midwestern territory.

During my periods in New York and New England I noticed no "eastern seaboard war mongering," no wild desire of New Yorkers or New Englanders to send an expeditionary force to Europe, and I seriously doubt that any one on the Tribune staff has, either.

It really is a damned shame that a great metropolitan newspaper such as THE TRIBUNE should use such unfair and shabby tricks as stirring up sectional hatred to build circulation. I have studied the history of American journalism and know of no other occasion since the civil war when any supposedly great newspaper attempted to stir up intersectional bad feeling. This is exactly what your policies try to do, and perhaps do accomplish among those of your readers who don't know the true picture.

Frankly, it is not only a horrible example of "yellow journalism," but it is definitely harmful to the country as a whole, coming at a time when intelligence, clear thinking, and national unity are so vitally necessary.

I think it will be only fair for you to publish this letter in your Voice of the People column, as I have never seen a fair presentation of this subject in your paper.

ROBERT M. HOFFMAN.

BUT WE DON'T HATE HIM.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—"We Don't Hate Him," how interesting? But even with the admission that THE TRIBUNE has no cause to hate Mr. Roosevelt the editorial fairly oozes over with bitterness and vitriol which evidence anything but a tolerant and "unhateful" attitude. Its highly labored and inaccurate bill of particulars is all the proof needed for THE TRIBUNE'S uncontroled hate. No, "we don't hate him, but, my God, how we despise him!"

CHIDES MRS. O'NEILL.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—I was sorry to see a lady whose independence of thought made her so useful in our state legislature joining the little group of Young Communists and others who violently condemn the principle of preparedness, and to read her insult to our President: "It adds nothing to the picture in his favor to discover that all of his sons are beyond the reach of the [conscription] bill, to which he so lately added his scrawl, as reported by the press."

I submit for Lottie Holman O'Neill's careful consideration something reported by the press: "Commenting on the conscription of married men, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said her four sons should be called to the colors in preference to men whose families would suffer by their absence. Because her sons' families would not starve if they were called away, they are more eligible for service than many family men, she said."

And don't forget, Mrs. O'Neill, that Wendell Willkie declared strongly for the conscription bill, even insisting that Republican Hamilton Fish's 60 day delay be thrown into the discard, and also that President Roosevelt has declared unequivocally against the sending of our boys to fight European wars.

[Several other letters have been received also replying to Mrs. O'Neill's letter.]

CYCLING IN SAFETY.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—In answer to the recent letter of E. J. G., I would like to say that the many adult bicycle riders who are members of the League of American Wheelmen join with him in his pleas that all bicycle riders keep to the right and carry lights.

Enforcement of this is somewhat ticklish problem, however, and probably could be best carried out thru education in the schools. We, in the meantime, are doing our best to impress these and other safety rules upon all cyclists.

Could I also request from some of the motorists a little more consideration for the many careful cyclists in the city?

The account of his accomplishments is deeply appreciated, but the title given that item was especially touching. Please let me thank you for the interest you manifested in publishing that article. Also thank the man who edited that item and gave it the title—"The Song Goes Out of a House as Tommy Dies"—words so human, so full of pathos and understanding.

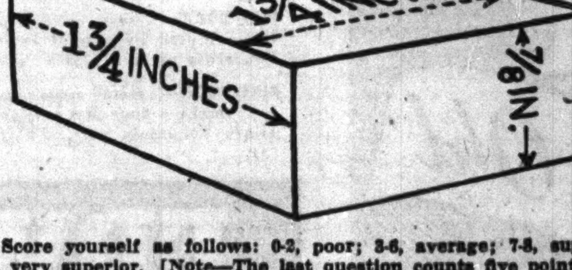
Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 32.

1. If you placed an ordinary household thermometer in a mixture of ice and water, it should read Zero 20 Degrees 32 Degrees 38 Degrees.
2. How many days are there in a fortnight 3 7 14 21.
3. Which of the following Presidents is not included in the Mount Rushmore Memorial? Washington Adams Jefferson Lincoln.
4. Barnacles usually attach themselves to Wealthy Widows Ocean Ships Monkeys Airplanes.
5. If you were fond of rutabagas, you should relish Watermelons Pumpkin Pie Green Onions Turnips.
6. Suppose you were captured as a spy. As a sporting proposition, your captors agreed to lay the ice cube pictured below on a newspaper in the blazing hot sun, and promise you that they will not shoot until the ice is entirely melted. The air temperature is 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Their rifles will carry one mile. Could you get out of rifle range before the ice melted? You deserve 3 points for this, and 2 more if you can guess within 25 per cent of the number of minutes required for the ice to disappear. The ice is an ordinary refrigerator ice cube.



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

DISCOVER SLAIN WOMAN ONCE WED DUKES' RELATIVE

Victim Clubbed to Death in Empty House.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25 [Special].—A former waitress, found mysteriously clubbed to death in an unoccupied farmhouse 20 miles from her home here, was identified today as the one time wife of a member of the wealthy Duke family.

James F. Atkins.

She was Mrs. Ethel M. Atkins, 35 years old, whose second husband is a bricklayer. Investigators said they learned she first was married in 1921 when only 16 to John Cicero Angier of Durham, N. C., a nephew of the late Mrs. B. N. Duke, whose husband helped found the family's huge tobacco fortune. The late B. N. Duke was an uncle of Doris Duke Cromwell.

The victim's second husband, James F. Atkins, 32, with whom she apparently was bigamously married in 1935, identified her body after it had lain for 14 hours in a hospital at Abington, Pa.

Twin Sons at Home.

Atkins said he had not known the whereabouts of his wife since she left home Saturday, leaving her twin sons, 3 years old. He said he was at a loss to explain her presence in the desolate farmhouse in the hamlet of Horsham, Pa.

The woman's body, clad only in stockings and one slipper, was found on a stairway by the owner as he was showing the place to prospective tenants. Her dress lay in a heap in the bare living room downstairs. On the second floor of the dusty, vacant building were evidences of a struggle and a club 3 feet long. District Attorney F. G. Snillie attributed the murder to a "maniac."

Three Children in Durham.

The slain woman, whose maiden name was Ethel Craft, was working in a restaurant when she met and married Angier 19 years ago. They had two sons and a daughter who now live in Durham, N. C. Angier, married a second time, now lives in Baltimore, Md.

Angier and his first wife separated and in 1929 she filed suit for divorce charging cruelty, but there was no record of the case's disposition. In September, 1935, she and Atkins were married. In 1938 Angier filed a counter suit and was granted a divorce last April 12 on the ground of desertion.

FACES LIE TEST TODAY ON CITY JOB SALE FRAUD

Ellsworth T. Robie, 1811 North Nashville avenue, will be questioned by the state's attorney's office with a lie detector today regarding his confessed attempt to sell a city civil service job for $500.

Thomas E. Burke [top] and Ellsworth Robie.

Robie was ordered discharged by the civil service commission yesterday from his job as electrical engineer in the bureau of parks, following a hearing. Thomas E. Burke, 3649 North Leclair avenue, testified that he paid Robie $500 in January in return for the promise of a job in the purchasing agent's office.

Robie said that a William Kennedy represented that he had obtained a note for $500 from James S. Osborne, secretary of the civil service commission, to serve as a guarantee that a job would be obtained. Osborne learned of the deal when he received a letter from Burke asking the return of the $500. An investigation disclosed that Osborne's name had been forged to the note.

BIGGEST NEW MARKETING NEWS IN YEARS!

U. S. Government Survey answers 4 of advertising's livest questions to show for the first time the huge opportunity in the Agricultural Market!

1 Today, the total retail purchases of rural families are twice as great as retail sales in rural* places!

2 Today's average rural family has as much money to spend as the average urban family!

3 Today's average rural family has even greater savings than the average urban family!

4 Today's average upper-half rural family is an even bigger, more important prospect for advertised merchandise than the average upper-half urban family!

The term "rural" in this study refers to towns under 2,500 population and adjacent farms.*

NO MARKET in all history has ever been so definitely ripe for profitable selling as the upper-half of the rural field is today. In no other market has there ever been the concentration of such vast buying power ... still undersold ... and available to advertising through a single magazine.

That magazine is Country Gentleman. We support our claim of market dominance with two uncontrovertible facts. First, our 2,000,000 circulation is among families whose income and standards of living prove them to be definitely upper-half. Second, Country Gentleman has an influence with its readers that is unique in publishing history. What other magazine can boast a hundred years of successful leadership of a single-minded group like the people of American Agriculture?

When one publication has the power to move a mighty market so obviously ready to buy, we believe that market and that magazine represent 1941's outstanding advertising opportunity!

LEGION DEMANDS DEFENSE AGAINST FOES WITHIN U. S.

Assails Politics as Curb on Arms Programs.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 25.—A vigorous program for defense of the United States against foes both outside and inside its borders was adopted today by delegates to the 22d annual convention of the American Legion.

In a harmonious session in Symphony hall the veterans of '17 and '18 adopted unanimously the recommendations of their Americanism and national defense committees for protection of the country.

The Americanism report dealt almost entirely with ways of combatting subversive activities of "fifth columnists" within the communist party and the German-American bund.

A great cheer went up when the defense committee recommended "all practicable aid to Great Britain and those aligned with her in their fight for freedom." Such aid was set forth as a sound defense measure for this country.

Favor Universal Training.

Other highlights favored in the defense policy adopted by the veterans are:

1. Establishment of a permanent system of universal military training.
2. Preparations so adequate that if fighting becomes necessary it can be carried on outside the country.
3. Stronger defenses in Alaska, the Philippines, and the Panama canal.
4. Personal and political influences must not be allowed to interfere with the work of defense agencies.
5. Acquisition of munitions, tanks, and planes to implement an army of 2,200,000.
6. All existing Reserve Officers Training Corps should be continued and expanded. Additional units should be created. Federal aid should be withdrawn from land grant colleges which do not make R. O. T. C. work a requisite for a degree.

Wants CCC Trained.

7. Make military training mandatory in all Civilian Conservation corps camps.
8. Complete the naval building program in both ships and men as speedily as possible.
9. Employment aboard American flag ships of the merchant marine should be restricted to native-born or naturalized citizens and legislation to this end should be enacted.
10. Require officers and crew aboard all vessels receiving federal subsidies to furnish affidavits that they are not members of subversive organizations.
11. To insure safety of ships at sea and prevent use of radio for espionage by fifth columnists, legislation should be adopted providing radio communications at sea be placed under the jurisdiction of the navy and all maritime radio operators aboard American flag merchant ships should be licensed by or furnished by the navy.

Lauds Dies Committee.

The Americanism committee, in its report, warmly endorsed the work of the Dies congressional committee in ferreting out un-American activities. The committee proposed, and the full body of the delegates approved, a provision banning use of the mails to the communists or bundists for distribution of propaganda.

Members of the communist party or bunds will be prevented from holding public office if one section of the Americanism committee's report is carried out. The committee also recommended the creation of a federal school for counter espionage.

Meet Next in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee was selected as the Legion convention city for next year, in an overwhelming victory over Kansas City. Wisconsin's governor, Julius P. Heil, and Milwaukee's mayor, Carl Zeidler, appeared on the stage to express their appreciation. Zeidler led the Legionnaires in the singing of "God Bless America."

FIND UNIVERSITY STUDENT SLAIN IN AUTOMOBILE

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP).—The body of an 18 year old University of Pennsylvania sophomore who was in the habit of picking up hitchhikers was found today in the rear seat of his automobile on a lonely bridle path.

Robert L. Forman.

Sheriff Albert W. Skinner said the victim, Robert L. Forman of suburban Pittsford, apparently was shot at least five times from the right hand front seat of the car in which two .32 caliber shells were found. There was no trace of a gun, the sheriff said.

Forman's suit coat was torn and two upper front teeth were missing. Investigators found a wallet containing $5.53 in his pocket.

GRAND JURY MEETS TO INDICT DE TRISTAN KIDNAPER TOMORROW

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 25 (AP).—First steps toward prosecution of Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich for the kidnaping of 3 year old Marc de Tristan Jr., were taken today by San Mateo authorities as federal agents promised to turn the prisoner over to the state.

Muhlenbroich as German soldier in world war.

The county grand jury will meet Friday to consider an indictment under the California "Lindbergh law," providing life imprisonment for kidnaping. The child was recovered uninjured and no ransom was paid.

In calling the grand jury, District Attorney Gilbert D. Ferrell explained this would speed prosecution by eliminating a preliminary hearing.

Find Gen. Honeycutt and Two Dead in Plane Crash

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 25 (AP).—Army, coast guard and civilian salvage crews today recovered the bodies of Brig. Gen. Francis W. Honeycutt, commandant of Fort Bragg, N. C.; Capt. George F. Kehoe, pilot of the observation plane, and Corporal Robert J. Schmitz, radioman and mechanic, who were killed in a plane crash near Woodbine, Ga., last Friday night.

BATTLE RAGING IN COURT OVER WHO'S GOVERNOR

Authenticity of Horner's Signature Challenged.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Savanna, Ill., Sept. 25.—The two year old question of who is governor of Illinois has become a matter at issue in the Circuit court of this district in an extradition proceeding. Authenticity of the Henry Horner signature on the warrant is challenged and it is alleged that he "did not, has not, and does not now perform the official functions and duties of his office as governor of the state of Illinois."

The warrant reads that it was issued by the governor at Springfield on Sept. 9. It is for the arrest of Adam Mink, 45 years old, a federal employé at the Savanna ordnance depot, who is wanted in Lancaster, Wis., to answer a charge of nonsupport of his wife and children.

Doubt Governor Studied It.

His removal is being fought on constitutional grounds that a governor of Illinois has not passed judgment upon the legal adequacy of Wisconsin's request for extradition. Lawrence A. Smith, attorney for Mink, announced this afternoon that he will ask the court to issue subpenas for the following witnesses:

Gov. Henry Horner, an invalid since the fall of 1938, who has been confined in a Winnetka residence since last June.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, who, under the constitution, becomes acting governor during a disability of the elected governor. Stelle has not pressed his claim to the chief executive's office since he was defeated for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in April by the Nash-Kelly-Nudelman candidate, Harry B. Hershey of Taylorville.

Nudelman Called.

Samuel L. Nudelman, former Belleville, Ill., haberdasher, appointive director of state finances head of a clique performing the functions of the governor, now in joint command in raising funds for the Hershey campaign.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes—whose duties require him to certify the signature of the governor of Illinois to state papers, including an extradition warrant.

Mrs. Ella Cornwall, Horner's confidential secretary, an important person in the unofficial sick room cabinet which functioned during the special session of the legislature last spring.

Dr. Maurice Rubel, Horner's Chicago physician, who can testify whether the governor is able to give a deposition in the case.

Everett Vandiver, a state policeman, Horner's personal bodyguard.

Butler to Be Quizzed.

Clarence Liggins, colored butler at the Springfield mansion during several administrations, now attending Horner in Winnetka. He and Vandiver can testify whether Horner was in Springfield on Sept. 9.

Attorney Smith contends that the governor can not legally delegate the authority to issue warrants. However, in similar functions, Attorney General John E. Cassidy has ruled that such authority can be delegated.

From the standpoint of the defendant this may be the main question for the court to decide and, according to lawyers, if Cassidy is sustained, the broader question of who is governor may not be answered by the court.

Circuit Judge Harry Wheat has continued the extradition proceedings to Oct. 14.

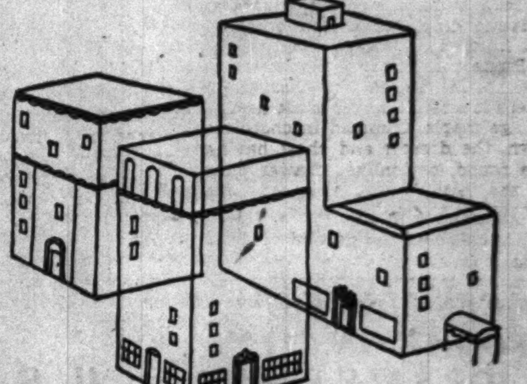
How to make your choice of an apartment a happy one

Short as the time may be in which to choose your next apartment you will find that you can make a satisfactory selection by consulting the want ads in the Tribune.



You know that the greater the selection you have from which to make a choice, the more certain you are to get what you want. Rental agents and landlords place more Apartments to Rent want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

Make up a list of apartments which are most likely to suit you. Then you can go directly to them, knowing they offer what you want.

To end your apartment hunt happily, begin it in the Tribune want ad section!

For your convenience
The Tribune want ad section lists Apartments to Rent want ads by locations in the city or suburbs, and by numbers of rooms. Thus, you can turn at once to the grouping which offers apartments of the size and in the location you prefer.

LANDLORDS! RENTAL AGENTS! With more than 730,000 circulation right in Chicago and suburbs every day of the week, the Tribune sells from 335,000 to 500,000 more copies in metropolitan Chicago than are sold by other Chicago newspapers. Stores Offer Furniture in Glowing Hues

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

National Furniture week is attracting more interest, all over the country, this year than ever before. A year ago 300 newspapers carried information about it. This week 450 are coöperating to bring to American women the latest style news in home furnishings.

Chicago stores have succeeded in making their special displays as well as their regular fall showings and their newly furnished model rooms most tempting to the shopper and visitor.

Nature's rich autumn palette—the warm red of oak leaves, the golden yellow of maple, the moss green of juniper and fir, and the clear blue of cloudless skies have found their way into decorative schemes.

Glowing with Color.

One charming American regency house we visited this week simply glows with color. It's a two story model house in a furniture store and from top to bottom all the furnishings have been coördinated.

That is, all the furniture has been especially designed, all the upholsteries, draperies, and rugs have been made in six harmonious colors, and even the lamps and accessories are part of the plan. The entrance hall, stairway, and upper hall are carpeted in a rich, warm Jefferson red. This tone is used in the dining room, too, the rug having a graceful pattern of plumes.

The draperies in this room are unusually interesting, having been woven with a border in which the plume motif is used again. They are a lovely, soft Monroe blue. The furniture here is mahogany, the chairs being done in a blue and silver striped damask, repeating the pale blue of the walls.

Excellent Foil for Red.

Franklin bisque, an exquisite, delicate gray, appears on the hall and living room walls, acting as an excellent foil for luxurious Jefferson red striped damask draperies, a bisque and red couch, a pair of mahognay armchairs done in Madison rose, a wing chair in a printed floral pattern and a velvet chair in Monroe blue.

One bedroom in this American regency house is carried out in Adams green with gay contrasting color furnished by chintz draperies of pink and white camelia design. The chintz is used like wall paper on the window wall, too, with delightful results.

Besides the rooms mentioned are also two other bedrooms a little yellow and white dressing room and bath, and the kitchen.

A loop store is exhibiting several handsome dining room groupings in light finished mahogany. Both Duncan Phyfe and Chippendale chairs are shown with the tables. Extremely modern is a bedroom ensemble nearby in beige maple, trimmed in chocolate brown, the dresser and chest having huge round, buttonlike drawer pulls and the vanity being equipped with an enormous circular mirror.

Flowered Linen Used.

Champagne is the name of the finish on another modern bedroom grouping. Here the round drawer pulls are of tenite, a synthetic pink material, with copper centers.

Flowered linen brings color and life into the darkest winter day, and the living room that has one of the artistic Lawson sofas we saw in a yellow background with big bouquets in soft colors will seem springlike even when it's snowing outside. Love seats and wing chairs are also available in prints of turquoise, deep blue, blue green, wine, or light green and each item is most reasonably priced.

One brand new rug being shown this week is called new luster, because of its shading as the light falls on it. It is woven in an all-over pattern in interesting gradations of colors, three being used but blending so softly that they look almost like one. Brown, coral beige and rosewood make the design of one rug; tan, brown and coral beige, another; deep blues, a third; wine tones, a fourth. There will be 10 colors in this new line of rugs, and they're all made by a Chicago rug manufacturer.

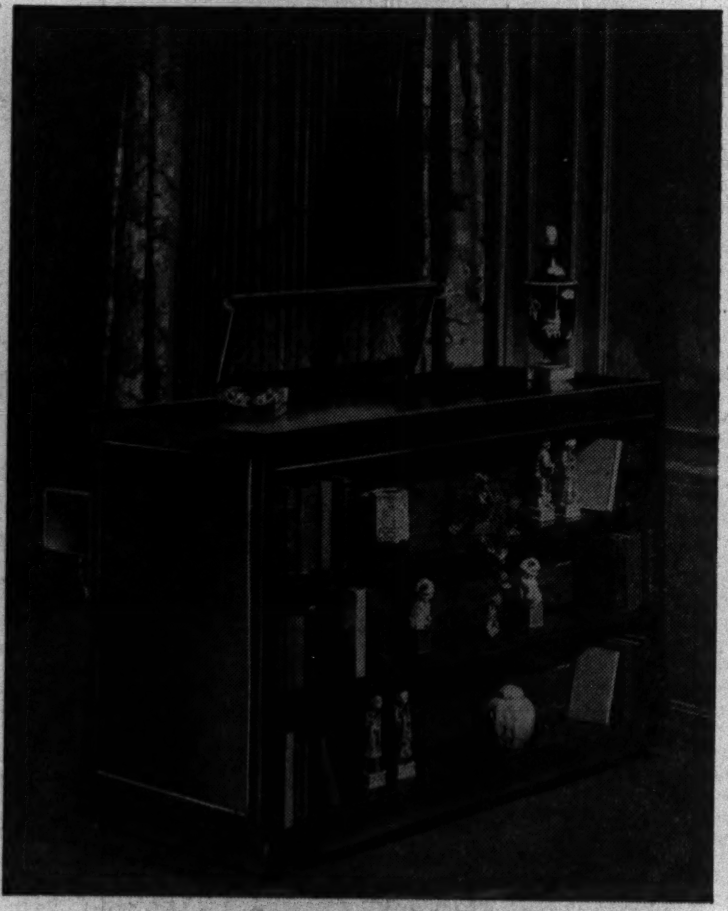
Throw Rug Will Save Big One in Front of the Hearth

By placing a small throw rug close to the hearth you can protect your large rug from the strong heat from a fireplace, which is ruinous to a rug.

New linoleum should be waxed, not varnished. Most linoleums are already finished and varnish will simply coat, not penetrate. It will start peeling quickly and look generally messy. So use wax occasionally until the finish wears off, and then varnish may be applied.

A new book by Thomas Hamilton Ormsbee, "Collecting Antiques in America" [McBride, $3.50.] discusses furniture, glass, silver, paintings, and prints, porcelains and pottery, textiles and needlework, and metal wares as they were made during the early years of our country.

A Smart Combination



A smart piano is also a handsome piece of furniture, these days. The rear end of a new piano is fitted with book shelves so that the instrument can be placed at right angles to the wall and still be of decorative interest. Clever idea!

Living Room Comes First in Furnishing Budget

Since the living room is the heart of the home, the greatest amount of the furnishing budget should be allotted to that part of the house. The bedroom deserves second consideration, not only from a furniture standpoint, but especially in the choice of good springs and mattresses. The dining room, kitchen, bathroom, hall, sunroom, library, or rumpus room also come in for their share of the budget.

Iron with Non-Kink Cord Solves Perplexing Problem

An iron that wags its tail like a pup's solves a distressing ironing problem. A new electric iron is equipped with a non-kink, swivel action cord. The cord, attached directly to the iron, wags right along behind wherever the iron goes. Thus the iron will weave around buttons and into sleeve gathers without twisting the cord. Reducing the flexing lessens the danger of a short circuit.

Resiliency an Important Factor in a Mattress

Every good mattress has certain recognizable characteristics. It gives readily when pressure is applied to it and comes back readily when the pressure is removed. Neither pumping up and down with your hands or sitting on it is a test of resiliency. The only way to really tell how much "give" a mattress has is to lie on it. In addition to resilience, a good mattress has buoyancy.

Pick Wallpaper With Few Easy Rules in Mind

What colors should you select for your new wall paper? Do you find this difficult to decide?

Many of us take color too seriously. We hesitate to rely on our own judgment. Yet there are only a few rules to remember about wall paper colors. Once these are in mind the selection of new wall paper becomes easy.

The location of the house determines one important rule for wall paper color. With few exceptions, north and east rooms get less sunshine than do rooms on the south and west sides of the house. To offset the lack of light in north and east rooms the wise decorator will choose from the variety of new wall papers available in rose and yellow tints, the warm colors. In contrast, wall papers in cool green, blue, and violet tints are more suitable for the south and west rooms where light is plentiful.

A second rule to remember is that light tints of any plain color tend to make a room appear larger, while intense shades of the same color will reduce its apparent size. But pattern can be made to modify these plain color values. For example, if plain medium blue paper is used it will darken a room. But when the same background color is patterned with closely spaced white, green, or yellow designs the room becomes bright and cheerful.

Color often prompts another question about wall paper. "Will the colors fade?" Until recently this was a common problem. But now, with unitized wall papers available everywhere, this problem is eliminated. Unitized wall papers are guaranteed to be sunfast.

Choose a wall paper in your favorite color for the living room. Then make this the key color for all of your rooms. If your favorite color is blue, choose wall papers with blue in them thruout the house.

Glass Vase

An American eagle is engraved by copper wheel on this glass vase, seen at the Merchandise Mart.

War Brings Rich Reward to U. S. Glass Designer

The American designer, heralded and sung, prophet with honor in his own country today, is nowhere more significant than he is in the china, glassware, and pottery field.

The story of the progress of American china, glassware, and pottery during the last year is almost unbelievable. War turned existing conditions upside down. Czechoslavakia, Belgium, Holland, France, and Italy, so long of first importance, were suddenly no longer the certain sources of a great bulk of merchandise.

But within a few short months after imports faltered, and in frequent cases completely stopped, many American manufacturers found themselves ready not only to make but to deliver types of glass and pottery they never had attempted before.

90% Created in U. S.

Less than a year after war was declared, Americans themselves were wholly responsible for the creation of 90% of all wares shown at the largest showing of these wares in the world, the China, Glassware, and Pottery market at the Merchandise Mart here.

Once the need was there everybody went to work and designers found themselves greatly in demand. They were ready. Soon a fruit jar maker offered fine table crystal. A window display and show case manufacturer found favor with connoisseurs with his delicately tinted and carved plates, bowls and vases in bent glass. A filling station operator who blew glass in his spare time became head of a thriving factory making vases and decorative objects.

One of the latest entrants in the ceramic field is a bath tub manufacturer who already has contributed glazes and effects or remarkable delicacy and beauty in vitreous china art objects.

Production and Quality Jump.

Companies already making dinnerware have increased their production enormously, and almost all have stepped into higher quality brackets than ever before. One of the most recent developments of domestic design is the increasing tendency to formal patterns of the type formerly made almost exclusively in Europe. Deep cream colored borders are showing a steady increase in popularity. Of course, the simple modern shapes that originated with the American designer continue so favored that manufacturers can scarcely supply the demand.

Dinnerware designers have explored nearly every American source for their new designs. Early quilts, hooked rugs, old prints, and wall paper have furnished much inspiration, and in some cases these old patterns have been copied exactly.

Famous industrial designers, among them Russell Wright, Joseph Platt, and Raymond Loewy, have turned their talents to the creation of the table ware of today. The same originality, force, and simplicity they have given new locomotives, new furniture, new packaging is apparent in their modern table ware designs.

Glass of almost every type is now made in this country. Blown glass miniatures, the little birds and animals so beloved of collectors, never before of domestic make, were already on the market in January of last year. Now the proudest boast of the American glassmaker is the type long called Bohemian, which is deeply cut and uses brilliant, unusual color combined with the clear.

Enjoys National Monopoly.

One company which began in the business of making stained glass for windows and lost out completely long ago to the importers who could offer such glass more cheaply, finds itself today the only maker of cathedral glass in the United States, and not only all its old business, but all the business there is in the country, returned in terrific volume.

The most recent china, glassware, and pottery market at the Merchandise Mart, which introduced the newest in these wares for winter showing in retail stores, started a trend for patriotic decoration. Stars, flags, and eagles are the order of the day. Stars on stemware and plates, eagles deep etched on vases and glasses, and eagle-shaped book ends and lamp bases in glass are often seen. Flags are everywhere on everything.

Charm Is Greater Attraction These Days Than Is Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Where beauty begins these days and charm, ease, grace of manner, and poise leave off, one has no way of determining. But the graces assuredly are more than superficial in the current beauty scheme. In fact, they are the determining ingredients of the 1940 winner. The pretty face, the lovely figure, the gorgeous hair, the magnificent posture arrest attention, we'll not deny. They give a girl or woman a head start in any race, but if you're putting up any money we'd suggest that you put it on the girl who may, or may not, have the native beauty but has the native wit to charm people into exaggerating her actual physical graces.

That's the miracle of this year and, we predict, one bound to continue for some time to come. Time and time again recently we've been arrested in our reviews of the beauty world representatives, finding the acclaimed conquering by sheer force of their charm. The fact that they share only a minimum amount of what-it-takes-to-be-a-magazine-cover-girl is only borne in on your consciousness after you, in the grand catty manner of our sex, have turned a mean eye on full force. Then, and only then, you say: "She isn't a beauty at all. Why, if it weren't for so-and-so, she'd be plain." The so-and-so does it. It's the thing called charm, composed of equal parts grace, poise and the knowledge that all's well as far as fine grooming is concerned.

We aren't of the opinion that a charm school attendance is one of the musts of the uninitiated. Grand if you can afford it and don't take it so seriously as to make an affected version of your true self. That isn't charm. Charm frankly is using your own gifts to their best advantage, saying the right thing, the nice thing and doing it and cultivating a certain faith in self that breeds assurance without breeding show-offness. Too, it must have the support of physical grace and ease.

More than anything else, we believe that your appeal is made or lost on your ability to listen well and slip in at the right moment that word of praise or flattery for which every human yearns.

Executive Board Is Named for 1940 Community Fund

The Community fund of Chicago yesterday organized the executive committee for its 1940 campaign. Merle J. Trees, chairman of the drive, announced the following 16 business men had accepted membership:

Philip D. Armour, T. J. Carney, James A. Cathcart, Philip R. Clarke, James H. Douglas Jr., James B. Forgan, John Holmes, Albert T. Huizinga, Roy C. Ingersoll, Samuel Insull Jr., A. H. Mellinger, Fred A. Preston, Clarence B. Randall, Frank L. Sulzberger, Rawleigh Warner, and Gen. R. E. Wood. George A. Ranney, president of the fund, and Champ Carry, Harold Swift, Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, and Mrs. King Mitchell, respectively heading the industrial sponsors, public departments and women's divisions, will serve on the executive committee as ex-officio members.

The goal for this year's drive is $3,604,000. The campaign will open officially on Thursday, Oct. 3, with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the Stevens hotel for leaders, team captains, and company representatives.

Evenness Is Wise Rule in Guiding Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Remember, I'm not saying that you must be or can be a perfect mother. After all, we're just human beings, you and I, and we get tired and say things we're sorry for, and show impatience to the children. But if we are usually loving and jolly and understanding with our children they're not going to be so seriously hurt by our lapses, provided they don't occur too often, and that we don't let ourselves get too out of hand. But that last is something we must guard against, or we may find our children getting to be problems, disobedient or whining or even unhappy. So let me ask you:

Are you often uneven in the way you handle your children? Are you sometimes patient and forbearing, and at other times impatient and quick to wrath? Are you sometimes demanding of the children, and at others quite lax? Sometimes do you let the children soft pedal their personal chores, and at other times "light into them" if they have forgotten to clean their nails or make a special job of their ears?

Children are easily confused by not knowing what your reaction will be to an accident, disobedience, or any other trespass.

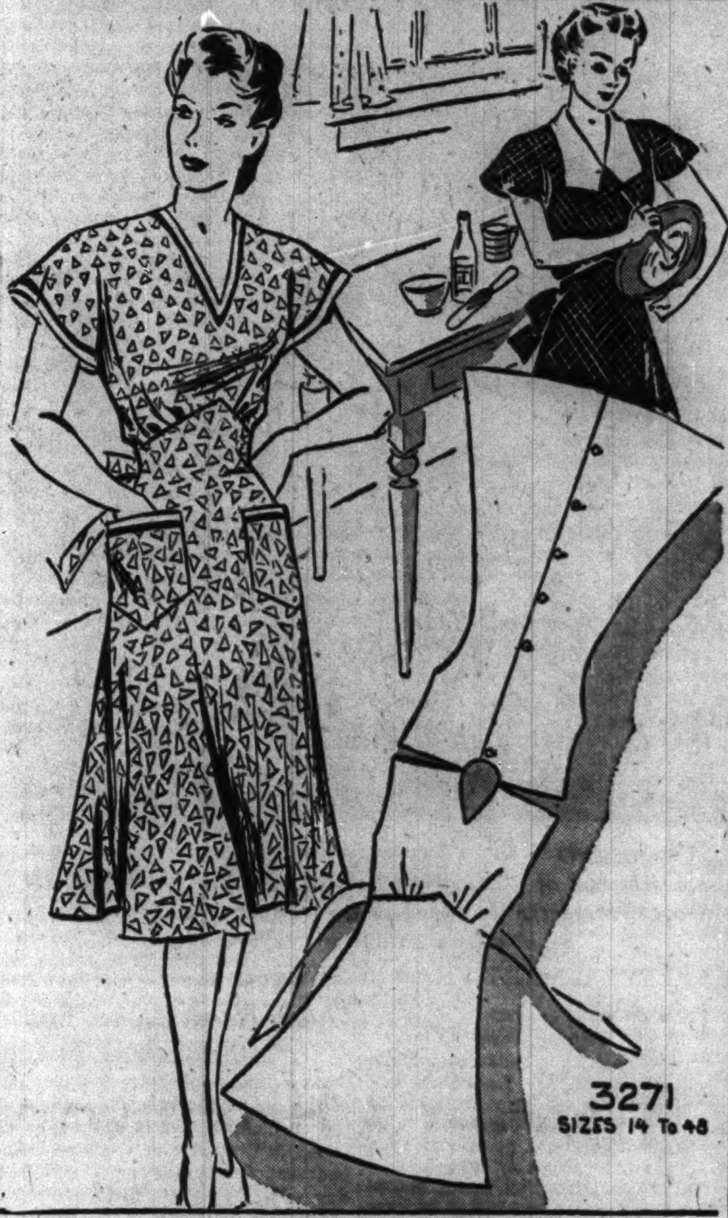
For example, one day your little boy will overturn his glass of milk, perhaps an unavoidable accident, and you will "go up in the air." It is a clean cloth and you are tired, and this is the last straw. Another time he will do the same thing and you will say calmly, "Well, hurry up and get a cloth from the kitchen and mop it up."

Or, perhaps, your little girl will be too leisurely coming in to lunch after being called repeatedly. You may rail and scold and tell her how many times you have called her and how hard it is to keep things hot, or actually punish her, whereas another time when she does the same thing you will say nothing in reproof. It is confusing when one is little.

"Gee," I heard a little boy say one day, "I've broken a window in the basement again playing baseball, and I don't know whether my mother will give me heck or not." And I, knowing the mother, had not the faintest idea, either, which she would do.

"Make Patience Your Handmaiden" is the name of a booklet sent to you on request. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Indispensable House Frock



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE FROCK.

The indispensable house frock appears in a simple, flattering version today. It's the "easiest thing in the world" to make, having the plainest of lines and employing as trimming only easy to use bias binding or rickrack braid. All the inexpensive cottons are the materials to use, and both plain shades and prints or checks are in order.

If you like, give the V neckline a contrasting collar, as illustrated in the upper right hand corner of the sketch. The diagram shows how easy this frock is to make. You'll want several for your household wardrobe.

Style No. 3271 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material; ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting for collar.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15c cents buy the fall and winter Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower: 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

The ranking schedule that will be followed in this year's self rating examination, which will start next Monday, is the same as that used in the last exam.

Each contestant starts with 1,000 points. Every time he answers a question incorrectly, he will be told exactly how many points to deduct from his running net total. Don't get discouraged if you start out losing points; there will be some questions, "tougher" than the others, which will carry, not demerits, but credits, to be added to your net total if you have answered correctly.

Now for the table that will be used in determining the final grades:

Final Standing of	Grade
950 points and over	Master
875-949 points	Expert
800-874 points	Advanced
700-799 points	Good average
600-699 points	Weak average
500-599 points	Poor
Below 500 points	Dub

To those contestants who send their answers to me for rating, and who come out with master, expert, or advanced player ranking, I will send signed certificates of merit, stating which of these ranks has been earned.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	2 clubs	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	5 clubs	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

This remarkable bidding developed from South's ridiculous one club opening. South was the sort of player who, having been told that "experts open many hands with one club, even when holding a five card suit," swallows the misinformation in one bite, and never recovers from the acute indigestion that follows. West, of course, "trapped" the club bid and when North stepped into the trap with his "sacrifice bid" of five clubs, West felt that the penalty he was about to collect would pay a month's rent. He reckoned without his own partner, however.

The king of trumps was the eminently correct opening lead. Declarer won and, probably feeling that he had taken his last trick, returned the diamond queen. East won and "pumped" declarer with a spade return. Declarer gratefully accepted the force and led the diamond jack. East won and kept right on pumping. Thus, declarer not only brought home his two worthless trumps on spade ruffs, but actually managed to establish and cash a diamond trick, and also to score one of dummy's trumps by leading a fourth round of diamonds.

West was blue in the face when it was all over. The six trick penalty [1,100 points] was very acceptable, but it was maddening to think of the four additional tricks the defenders had tossed away. West lost no time in pointing out to his partner [a] that if he [West] had wanted to "pump" the declarer, he could easily have opened a spade, and [b] that a heart return by East, after winning the first diamond trick, would have permitted West to draw every trump in dummy and declarer's hand, after which the spade suit and other diamond honor would have accounted for the rest of the tricks. Declarer should have come out with one trick, his trump ace!

Tribune Style Show Is Going to New York

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S $7,500 American Fashions Competition show will be presented in New York City on Tuesday, Oct. 8, by the American silk industry. The show will be held in the State room of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Negotiations for the appearance of the show in New York were concluded yesterday by Robert D. Jenkins, vice president of the International Silk Guild, and Noel B. Gerson, director of the W-G-N talent division. More than half of the gowns in the display are made of silk, or feature the fabric.

"I am sure that this will be an outstanding fashion event in New York this year," Jenkins said. "The American Fashions show will play a fine part in the effort to make America the fashion center of the world."

Twelve thousand of the nation's leading professional and amateur designers of women's outer wearing apparel submitted designs and fabric samples in The Tribune competition. A board of noted fashion experts chose more than 40 of the best designs, and these are now being executed in accordance with the designers' instructions.

All of these, including the 25 prize winning gowns, will be shown next Wednesday, Oct. 2, at three appearances of the fashion show in the main studio of W-G-N. The cash awards will include one for $3,000, another of $2,000, three of $500, and 20 of $50. Two matinées and one evening performance will be given. Any profits from the shows will be given to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., for distribution to charitable organizations.

The prize winning gowns will be included in the 40 to be shown in New York. The silk industry plans to use the same professional models who will wear the gowns in Chicago for the Tribune showing. Miss Ethel Herrell will direct the show in New York.

The trip to New York will be the first presentation of the show after the competition in Chicago. The fashion show will return immediately after appearance there to fulfill other engagements in Chicago and the central west.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

It isn't just because we like black for day-in and day-out good service both in clothes and accessories that we are particularly impressed with the two compacts one of the beauty houses has introduced. They're good looking as can be, well made, and sensibly priced.

One is particularly good. It's round, not too large, and it's filled with compressed powder that is especially fine. Compressed powder got out of favor a few years back for the simple reason that a lot of it wasn't any good. The cake was made of more binder than powder, with the result that after your puff had worn it down a little bit it was a struggle of physical exertion to get any more powder off it. You had to rub and rub and even then you didn't get enough to "do" your nose.

The compressed powder in the new vanity isn't like that at all. It's literally pressed into a cake, but no binder is used and the slightest pressure of the puff brings off powder in plenty. And, unlike loose powder, it doesn't fluff all over everything. The shades in the new compressed powder are beautiful; the texture is that of swansdown—but the powder clings!

If you're true to loose powder you can have that kind of a compact in the same finish, black enamel with gold metal base and ornamental bands on the top. It's a stunning case, conservative but elegant enough to do for dressup. Mirrors are excellent and the workmanship is good. Tho they're inexpensive, there is nothing tinny about either of these new vanities.

Hospitals Get Season's Last Flowers Today

Bouquets of fall flowers, the last for the season, are being brought in this week by the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild for the poor and sick in charity wards of the city's hospitals. The guild is closing its 15th season of sharing flowers and fruits with the sick who are unable to buy them.

The flowers are being sent from home gardens in the suburbs by more than 2,000 members of 81 garden clubs who work with the guild each year. More than 211,000 bouquets were given last year.

Work of the guild begins each spring when the lilacs bloom. From "Share Your Lilacs" day until late fall the flowers are brought in regularly four days a week. Then there is a Christmas collection of fruits, nuts, candies, jellies, and toys.

All the work is voluntary. The many details of cutting, collecting, shipping, and distributing the flowers and other items are expertly handled by skilled committees, supervised by guild and garden club officials.

Suburban railroads bring the flowers free to stations in Chicago, the trainmen handling them with the greatest care. Various business concerns furnish trucks to take the flowers to the hospitals, settlement houses, and other institutions. This year the trucks were provided by the Railway Express agency.

Volunteer committees meet the trucks at the hospitals and arrange the flowers and distribute them to patients. Visiting nurses distribute many of them as they visit the sick in thousands of poor homes in various parts of the city.

The guild is affiliated with the Illinois Garden club, a federation of all garden clubs in the state. Mrs. Charles G. Dawes of Evanston is honorary president, and Mrs. George Plamondon of Wheaton is chairman of the executive committee. The committees that supervise the cutting and shipping of the flowers and fruits are directed by Mrs. Standley D. Grace of Highland Park, general division chairman.

Honeymooning at French Lick Springs

[Wight Photo].

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Marshall Jr. find feeding the squirrels a restful pastime at French Lick Springs, where they are spending their honeymoon. Mrs. Marshall is the former Helen Mary Bryan. The Marshall-Bryan wedding last Saturday in Lake Forest occasioned even more interest in social circles than a large and fashionable ceremony usually does, because of a change in plans for an unannounced reason. Fifteen hundred invitations were recalled less than a week before the wedding and only about forty relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony that was solemnized in the Episcopal church in the north shore town.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 25.—Paul Muni, on the "Hudson's Bay" set at Fox, says he may retire from the screen after this picture. He has enough money to last him the rest of his life—enough, he says, to buy a yacht, only he doesn't like yachts—and he may quit the flickers and do only an occasional stage play. Could happen. But the line about having enough money and not wanting to work any more is one way of playing hard to get; it's a nice way of effecting a wage rise. . . . Walter Wanger, planning a sequel to "Foreign Correspondent," would make it about the Americas this time, with Johnny Jones covering South America and this country for whatever news A. Hitchcock might be able to dream up. . . . Tyrone Power and Annabella arrived home yesterday, Power to do some retakes on "The Mark of Zorro," which until now has been called "The Californian." Seems Mr. Zanuck wants a little more love between Tyrone and Linda Darnell. . . . Esther Ralston is New York bound again, after having finished her "Tin Pan Alley" stint—her first movie since 1937. . . . Joe E. Brown, here for his son's wedding, may go right back to N. Y. to do a Broadway revival of his hit, "Elmer the Great."

The opening of Walt Disney's "Fantasia" will disclose Deems Taylor—just as a voice—explaining that you folks are going to hear some music and see on the screen what it might look like to a lively imagination. Taylor's comments weave thru the picture and are frequently interrupted by Mickey Mouse and other Disney folk. The making of the film has involved an immense recording problem, with eight or more sound channels having to be woven together. There are different channels for male and female voices, for instance, and the sound projectors will be at the left and right of, as well as behind, the screen. You'll be able to hear a character move from left to right. The screen, incidentally, will be unusually wide and not very high. The blending of the three loudspeaker systems will be automatically governed by a control channel.

One of the first of the new season's evening dress movie previews will be the Oct. 17 showing of Alexander Korda's "The Thief of Bagdad," at the Carthay Circle. Tickets will be $5 each, proceeds going to the motion picture relief fund and the British-American ambulance corps. The press review will be held a week earlier. . . . It was the profits on "The Boys from Syracuse" that enabled Universal to buy the Olsen-Johnson stage riot, "Hellzapoppin" . . . Margaret Sullavan has bought a movie set as an extra room for her home. It is an old style, ornate carnival wagon used for scenes in "Flotsam." She says it will make a nice guest room or a playhouse for the children. . . Douglas Fairbanks Jr., after chumming around with F. D. R. at Hyde Park and the White House, soon starts on his tour of Canada with Gracie Fields . . . The Binnie Barnes-Mike Frankovitch wedding may take place any day now, at Coronado. Binnie was going to wait until she'd finished her current picture assignment. . . . Everett Riskin, after six months "off the lot," returns to Columbia next month as a producer with a two year contract.

Penny Singleton, once known on Broadway as Dancer Dorothy McNulty, will do a dance number in "Blondie Goes Latin." A Conga, of course. . . . One hundred eighty-five persons, including camera men, directors, stage hands, electricians, and a few actors, left yesterday for Kanab, Utah, to make the technicolored "Western Union" for Twentieth Epic-Fox. Actors include Dean Jagger and Randolph Scott. . . . Speaking of technicolor, this form of movie shooting has an interesting slang phrase, "give 'em a lily." When a take is finished, the actors remain in place and a guy runs in front of the still rolling camera with a color chart. This tail end of the film is developed first, and from the chart—known as the lily—the laboratory crew can tell just how long to leave the scene in the soup. On "Chad Hanna," when the cry of "give 'em a lily" goes up, all the actors whip out Willkie and Roosevelt buttons and pin them on. Henry Fonda displays a long, fluttering Roosevelt ribbon.

Alfred Hitchcock's not a bad movie technician, either. On R. K. O.'s Robert Montgomery-Carole Lombard "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," camera men and property department were arguing over a scene in which Miss L. breaks a bottle of champagne and spills it on a rug. In view of the fact that most of the day would be spent on that scene, the problem was how to make the rug show the same splash marks all day long. Camera men suggested spilling a bottle of ink. Props said nix, that would spoil a good rug. Hitchcock called for a couple of yards of black crêpe de chine and a pair of scissors. With the scissors he slashed the cloth to jagged ribbons, wadded it up, threw it down and said, "There's your splash." It worked, an old English trick, said Hitch.

"This film," says a publicity release, "will be one of the most pretentious ever made." The P. A. better go soak his head in a dictionary.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edward James Lawler of Chicago announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to James Herman of Memphis, Tenn. Miss Lawler attended the Chevy Chase school and her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Herman of Buffalo, N. Y., formerly of Memphis, attended Princeton university.

Eleanore Zeiss to Make Debut at Christmas

BY JUDITH CASS.

MISS ELEANORE ZEISS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Zeiss of Winnetka, is to make her debut in her grandmother's old home in Dearborn parkway. Mrs. Charles S. Williamson moved to Pasadena some years ago and since then her house at 1517 Dearborn has been rented. This year the Zeiss family is taking the house and Eleanore will make her debut at a small tea during the week between Christmas and New Year's. Mrs. Williamson probably will return to Chicago to be here for her granddaughter's formal bow to society.

Miss Eleanore has departed for her sophomore year at Vassar college. Her sister, Miss Josephine, who made her debut a year or two ago, is spending this winter at home and is engrossed in the work of the Children's theater of the Junior league. She spent last winter and all summer in California with her Grandmother Williamson. The Zeisses will move into town in mid-October. Mrs. Zeiss, who was Mary Josephine Williamson before her marriage, made her debut at a tea at home in Dearborn parkway, but the Williamson family then lived in another house in that street.

Miss Carlotta Lagorio Becomes Bride Today.

Since every young woman looks her loveliest when dressed in her bridal finery it is safe to say that today's bride, Miss Carlotta Lagorio, one of Chicago's outstanding beauties, will be a breath taking vision when she walks to the altar of Our Lady of Mount Carmel church to become Mrs. John Ambrose McGuire. A tall, slim, sparkling brunette, Miss Lagorio, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Lagorio, will have as her matron of honor Mrs. J. Beacham Tredennick, as blonde as the bride is dark.

The two were stunning contrasts at the marriage of the former Madelon Search and Mr. Tredennick last year, when Miss Lagorio was the only attendant. Miss Lagorio is to have several other attendants, including a maid of honor, Miss Gloria Geddes of Los Angeles, and four bridesmaids, Miss Mary Elizabeth and Miss Frances McGuire, sisters of the bridegroom; Miss Katherine Wenter, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Jean Kellogg.

Ceremony to Be Performed by Uncles of Bridegroom.

Dr. Deno F. O'Connor will be best man for Mr. McGuire, a son of Dr. Walter G. McGuire. The ceremony will be performed by the bridegroom's uncles, the Rev. Patrick J. McGuire and the Rev. Henry McGuire. The bridegroom's brother, 13 year old Walter McGuire Jr., is to serve as altar boy.

Dr. and Mrs. Lagorio will give a breakfast at the Racquet club immediately following the ceremony, which will take place at noon. Mr. McGuire and his bride will go to Honolulu on their wedding trip and then will be at home temporarily at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr. [Bettina Croft] are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, Pamela, on Saturday at the Michael Reese hospital. The baby, who is the 15th grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Sims Sr., arrived on the birthday of her aunt, Mrs. Richard G. Coffin [Susan Sims] of New York.

Mrs. William Mac Lingo Jr. will be with her mother, Mrs. Russell Lord, at the Onwentsia club until Oct. 1, when Mrs. Lingo will return to her home in Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Lord and Miss Kathleen Lord are planning a trip to South America this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Dickinson have returned to Lake Forest from Johannesburg, South Africa, and are at the Deerpath inn. They have as their guest Brian Magee of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baggot Jr. at Home in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baggot Jr. are at home in Melody road, west of Lake Forest, having moved just recently from Bannockburn. They purchased the David Everett house and 40 acres.

Mrs. Simpson Stevens and her debutante daughter, Miss Martha Stevens, will move from Lake Forest to the Homestead in Evanston on Oct. 1. Miss Jane Stevens has returned to her studies at DePauw university. The debutante will be a student at Northwestern university.

Broker's Tale.

The brokerage business being what it is, this story is getting a laugh on La Salle street: A dejected New York stock broker walked down the street and sat down in Central park to brood on his situation. A friend came along. "I saw you having lunch with a beautiful blonde in a sidewalk café this noon," he said.

"That wasn't any beautiful blonde; that was my wife," answered the broker. "And that wasn't any sidewalk café; that was my furniture."

JACKSON PARK BEACH.
A Sketch.

The dying summer passes out upon the sluggish, frozen tide, and all the greenery of spring is flown to where the sea gulls hide:

the flying spray accentuates the chilly wind that bites my remembering, but a month ago, the gayety that shook this place.

Cuff Notes.

Have you heard about the mamma kangaroo that spanked its baby severely for eating crackers in bed? , . . Jack Dempsey was in the book section of Field's autographing his autobiography the other day, looking much handsomer than he does in his pictures. "The hand is more used to the glove than the pen," he commented. . . . Elliott Nugent bought up all available copies of The Male Animal in the same book section the other day. . . . Still speaking of books, Curtis D. MacDougall, Northwestern university professor, has a new book out called Hoaxes, about swindles, frauds, legendary tales, and press agent yarns. One concerns a member of the Joliet-Marquette expedition who strayed away and got stuck in a hollow tree. He died there and his remains, petrified by sap, were discovered by a Wisconsin woodsman in 1925. Mr. MacDougall includes the oft-heard tale that John Wilkes Booth escaped and after his death became a mummy in a traveling museum, and some 500 others. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Menjou, accompanied by their small son, Peter, had sandwiches and sauterne at a kind of private preview of the Drake's new Camellia house yesterday, and Peter thought the lamps—white plaster, baroque style—were cake. "Tropical baroque," Dorothy Draper, who did the room, calls them. You enter the Camellia house thru a massive doorway flanked with giant camellia trees. The walls are hung with camellia pink satin, the carpets are black as night and are strewn with camellias.

Advice (from Walter Gamage) to those eligible for the draft: Don't start reading any continued stories.

In the Morning Mail.

Yes, there is beauty in little things—and sadness, too. I shall never pass the corner of Dearborn and Adams but what I shall long for just a glimpse of the lovely old doorway which the wreckers are only now destroying. No church had a more beautiful one. And there is that ruinous looking little kirk on Sedgwick street, about Oak—I suppose that some day I shall go by on the "L" and miss that, too, with its great circular window and gabled roof. And did you know that there is an owl sitting in all solemnity on the rooftop of a building on South Plymouth court? Yes, he is stone, but O, so wise. And the lions that hold the very weight of the canopy of the Brevoort in their teeth—so strong, so patient. . . . I almost dreaded to go into the lobby of the recently remodeled Equitable building on La Salle street, but it was still there, the most beautiful stairway in Chicago. Yes, there is beauty in everyday things.

We hope that readers who are chess fans will aid the writers of the two following letters, which come from a sanitarium on the northwest side.

"Dear Miss Brown: I am a patient in this hospital, recovering from tuberculosis. As you know, we are not permitted any form of physical exercise, which limits our activities to cards, checkers, chess, etc. We have plenty of the two former games, but for some reason there seems to be a lack of chess sets. If your readers have any sets which can be made available to us, we would be deeply appreciative. J. D."

A second letter from the same institution:

"Dear Miss Brown: Thanks to your readers, we recently received several sets of chess which we have distributed among the patients. Some of us have become quite proficient at the game, and I wondered if any of your readers might have discarded books on the game which we could have. We're all anxious to improve our games as much as possible, so we would be grateful for books on the subject. R. T."

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, a young American girl, goes down to the insolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving at night she enters the house and is frightened by footsteps. Investigating, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out, whose throat has been cut and whose body is still warm. She rushes out of the house and runs into Stephen Smedley, a man about 32 years old. While she is telling him of her discovery a man on a motorcycle passes whom she feels sure is the vicar, the Rev. Bogge, who lives next door. Rowan's suspicions of Stephen mount when he goes off to get his car and fails to return. She starts out in search of him and stumbles upon him prostrate. She arouses him and in a kind of a stupor he follows her back to the cottage and collapses on the sofa. Deciding to rest before going for help she falls asleep in her bedroom and is awakened by Stephen entering her door holding a huge butcher knife. A sharp command from her makes him drop the knife and retreat. She locks him downstairs and finding a briefcase she takes it to her room. It contains a sealed letter and a manuscript about Russia. In the morning Stephen apparently remembers nothing about the knife episode and she seems no longer terrified of him. Smedley advises her to get rid of the skirt she has on as it has blood on it and it might be incriminating. Mrs. Faithful, the housekeeper, fails to show up for breakfast, and in her stead has sent Mrs. Yalilee, mother of Egbert, the caretaker, to get Rowan's breakfast. Rowan looks for the dead man and finds he has disappeared. She hides her bloody skirt and gun in the briefcase.

VISITORS.

INSTALMENT X.

Rowan took the last crisp triangle of toast from the rack and spread marmalade on it. "O, I was just thinking. I barred both these doors last night. How could your son have got in?"

"Egbert?" Mrs. Yalilee's yellow claws dusted up a crumb. "Thru the big outside room, miss. He sleeps just above like."

"Outside room?".

"Why yes, miss, 'aven't you bin into it?"

"I didn't know there was one. What good marmalade! Now you mention it I did notice another entrance, an old building, 'round the side. It came on to rain and . . . I suppose you haven't a key?"

"Egbert keeps that." Mrs. Yalilee was sidling out. "If you was to leave a note under the door he'd slip it into the letter box. That is, 'if there's two."

"Funny," said Rowan, munching toast. "There doesn't seem any connection with the rest of the house. Surely there must be some inside door?"

"Not seen it. I'm new here myself," called Mrs. Yalilee from the kitchen. "Rare do I've 'ad finding things and all."

New? Straight as a die her eyes had gone to the ash-brown paneling. An uneasy stab, quickly gliding away. Rowan also looked, noted the empty keyhole and remembered guiltily that the key lay now in her coat pocket. Drawing it forth she wiped it hastily on her napkin, then put it not in the door but on the snow-white paper at the back of the cutlery drawer.

On her way out she stole a glance into the kitchen. Egbert's mother was standing, back turned, in the dead center of the floor. Doing nothing. Simply staring thru the window at the creeper-tangled bank. Listening—or waiting? There was an impression of both.

"Now, about this butcher?"

The woman whipped round, villainous smirk in place. Following Rowan on to the terrace she dealt blandly with the subject of meals. Rowan set out, disagreeably aware of eyes behind glued avidly to her back.

Passing the wood of last evening's adventure Rowan yielded to the temptation of retracing her steps. She found nothing to enlighten her on the problem of Mr. Smedley's curious collapse, not so much as a broken stalk to mark where he had lain. Previous footprints had been washed out by the rain and no new ones replaced them. There must be a second approach to the chapel, obligatory if the car wasn't a myth, tho it was by no means certain Mr. Smedley had returned home. Hanging over the stile she could detect no smoke from his chimney.

"Bunkum! He wasn't meaning to burn my skirt. If you ask me he's making tracks out of this just as fast as he's able."

She felt cheated, tricked—let down with a sickening bump.

The postoffice shop was open and appeared to stock a miscellany of undesirable articles ranging from cornplasters to the wrong brand of soapflakes, tho its new bread looked good. A pleasantly vacuous old man with a bush of white beard sold her cigarets, baked beans, and a currant cake made by his daughter, took her order for a newspaper, and picking an old fashioned telephone from a biscuit box set it within reach on the cluttered counter. She rang the butcher, then hesitated. Was there any one in London who could give her advice? Of her few friends, none intimate, the larger portion would be out of town over the Whitsun holiday. Anyhow, what dared she say with two pairs of ears drinking in her every word?

"Is this the beginning of the village?" she asked.

The old man cackled. "Beginning and end, miss. Round the bend you'll find the Dorset Arms, and a mile further along the schoolhouse. Church's back 'ere. Some of us has to foot it three mile and more to attend service."

"O." A flat silence. "You were closed yesterday, were you?"

"O, yes, us was closed. Bank holiday, 'twas. Wasn't nothing open but the pubs, and I hear they was abaht empty."

"And the Grapes and Thistle. How far is that?"

"Darter!" called the old man. "How far will Grapes and Thistle be?"

"Five miles," stated the daughter behind scenes.

True then—as far as it went. No village, no settlement worthy of the name within a wide radius. If she had started exploring last night she might have tramped till morning in the dark and mud only to draw blanks—while her unwelcome guest was left the free run of the house.

She pushed on till a mean little public house hove in view, flanked by a filling station and nothing else. She had inspected the metropolis. Hadn't she better go home? In her absence something might have happened. Quaking in her boots she yet prayed that it had.

Something had happened! Parked by the drive was a long, sumptuous limousine in the shelter of which a muddy motorcycle leant against the hedge. The latter brought to mind certain explosive snorts she had heard in the dark hours. Callers at Garch's Corners. Panicked, she visualized the police.

The two men instantly spied as she turned into the drive did not look official. One, lean and spry in reddish fawn plus fours, was peering in at the first of the small Tudor windows, his companion, dressed in sedate iron-gray a little too tight for his burly calves, duplicated the procedure at the second. Withdrawing their heads, they conferred by the beamed porch, and now, with one accord, their eyes noted her presence. There was but one thing to do.

"Good morning," said Rowan. "Can I be of any help?"

Even as she spoke a sickly qualm took her. In the gray-clad man she had recognized the vicar, sour-faced as he had been last evening when he had chugged past after the surly greeting to the man at her side. Still he was in holy orders—infinitely respectable by his look. Fate, perhaps, had led her into the right hands.

"Good morning." Awkward and hesitant, the vicar showed surprise. Stiffly he added, "You are——?"

"Miss Wilde. I'm a friend of Mrs. Fordyce's, and she's lent me her house. The Fordyces are abroad, you know."

"Abroad, yes, certainly." The small eyes sent her a muddy glance. "I fancied something of this kind. Pray accept our apologies. I had better explain that I am Mr. Bogge, vicar of this parish, and that this gentleman is Lord Romrytch."

Evidently he expected her to be impressed. So she was, for tho she had been told the celebrated peer owned an estate in this neighborhood she had not dimly imagined seeing him. Never indeed would she have taken this sharp, brittle-legged, entirely nondescript person for Lord Romrytch, who, for all he had risen from the ranks, had the Midas touch and represented News with a capital N.

"Don't mind us, will you?" said Lord Romrytch in an easy, cockney-flavored voice. "We'll not trouble you long, eh, Bogge?"

"No, certainly not. I suppose I had better explain."

Again the vicar hesitated, his dark, drab color seeming to seep into his very eyeballs. Lord Romrytch started hard at Rowan in her beige coat and blue jumper suit. His first glance had been careless, interrogatory. It had changed to impersonal appreciation under which her cheeks burned. Not an unlikeable man, ran her thought.

WHY WOMEN WHO MUST STAY UP AND ACTIVE THROUGH TRYING DAYS RELY ON MIDOL

Today, millions of women use Midol to make their "dreaded days" more comfortable—to keep active in those times when Nature used to cry "rest."

Don't hesitate to try it. Midol is a new formula developed for its special purpose, to ease the functional pain of menstruation. It contains no opiates. One comforting ingredient is prescribed frequently by countless doctors. Another ingredient—exclusively in Midol—is of great aid in reducing spasmodic pain peculiar to the menstrual process.

Unless you have some organic disorder requiring medical or surgical treatment, Midol should give you relief. If it doesn't, consult your doctor. Get Midol at your druggist's. Five tablets—more than enough for a convincing trial—only 20¢; 12 tablets in a trim aluminum case, 40¢.

Woman Living Alone Must Be a Puritan

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We have a letter from a young woman now approaching her 24th birthday. She writes in a despondent tone. She has admirers, plenty of them apparently, but never, never one of the right kind. They are married, or they're divorced, or they're drinkers, or something is wrong with every single one of them, according to the girl. They make "passes" at her, every last mother's son of them, until she's sick of the whole sex, she tells in one breath. In the next, she asks where and how one can meet the right kind.

The girl tells that she lives alone in a single room apartment into which she invites these men willy-nilly, serving them drinks and letting them remain late. She knows she's been talked about in the building in which she lives. But, according to her, it's not her fault. It's all on the other side. One of her more recent "suitors" informed her that what was wrong about her was that she had no background and that living alone as she did was no manner in which to earn respect. This man, incidentally, is the one whose respect she'd enjoy.

Incidentally, the young woman tells that when men ask her about her family, she tells them her family is her business, not theirs. The truth is, admittedly, that the girl is alienated from her family, the reason for which is not explained.

We cannot believe, and will not believe, that out of a wide group of associates a woman who honestly deserves the respect of men wouldn't earn it. Granted the young woman who lives alone is open to advances for no other reason that lack of background, lack of chaperonage, or call it support, from another woman on the premises, we still hold an accumulation of such treatment brings the guilt down on the girl's head. She does not have to continue inviting men in and serving them liquor and drinking with them. The girl living alone has to be a thorogoing Puritan to buck the attitude that the average man still entertains toward her. Better to suffer the inconveniences of doubling up with another young woman.

Cottage cheese isn't really a salad material, but we have come to think of it as such because of the frequency with which it appears on luncheon salad plates, and as part of a salad combination.

Cottage cheese combines beautifully with crisp vegetables or with fruit, and it often is used in jellied or frozen salad combinations as well. When used in the salad itself, or as an accompaniment to salad, cottage cheese takes that particular salad out of the strictly salad class. It makes of the mixture a saladlike luncheon dish, a heartier food than the orthodox salad, which is served either as an appetizer or as a crisp plate of greens to perk one up after the heavy meat course of a dinner.

These so-called salads belong with light meals, and, in fact, may be the most important part of a luncheon or supper. They are nutritious and wholesome combinations which youngsters as well as adults will like.

Cottage Cheese and Crisp Vegetable Salad.

[Serves Four.]

2 cups cottage cheese
Salt, paprika
½ cup sliced crisp red radishes
½ cup diced cucumber
¼ cup sliced green onions, tops included
Mayonnaise
Watercress

Fold vegetables into cottage cheese which has been seasoned with salt and paprika. Serve on crisp watercress with mayonnaise dressing.

PEAR AND COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD.

Place two cored, peeled halves of fresh pear or two canned pear halves together with a cottage cheese filling. The cottage cheese may be combined with chopped nuts, if desired, or chopped green pepper and pimiento may be added. Serve chilled on a bed of greens with mayonnaise, fruit salad dressing or a jelly salad dressing. The last named gives attractive color and is good with the pear and plain cheese or cheese and nuts. It is made by blending equal parts whipped cream and mayonnaise and folding in a small amount of grape or currant jelly, enough to give color. A little lemon juice may be added to prevent the dressing from becoming too sweet.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND SALMON OR TUNA SALAD.

Combine equal parts cottage cheese and flaked salmon. Add a fourth as much chopped celery, and several tablespoons chopped sweet pickle. Season with salt, pepper, and paprika, and blend with mayonnaise. Serve on crisp greens, very cold.

COTTAGE CHEESE RING WITH FRUIT.

[For the Buffet.]

Combine 2 tablespoons plain gelatin with ½ cup cold water, and let soak 5 minutes. Dissolve over boiling water and add to well seasoned cottage cheese, 2 pounds of it, which has been put thru a sieve. Pack into a greased ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on a platter of greens and fill the center of the ring with sliced fresh fruit. Accompany this cheese and fruit combination with a separate bowl of French dressing.

Sometimes whipped cream is folded into cottage cheese to make a ring mold of this kind. If you use cream, you won't need so much cottage cheese.

Jellied Cottage Cheese Salad.

[Six to Eight Servings.]

1 package lime flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water or orange juice
½ pound cottage cheese
6 stuffed olives, sliced
¼ cup chopped pecans

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water and cool. When mixture begins to congeal, whip until of whipped cream consistency. Add green coloring. Fold in cottage cheese, olives, and pecans. Fill individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and garnish with pimiento or a sliced olive.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the second recipe for banana bread, which appeared in this column yesterday, the eggs were omitted from the list of ingredients. Here is the corrected recipe:

Banana Bread II.

[One loaf.]

2 cups sifted flour.
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup wheat bran
⅓ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons thick sour cream
1½ cups mashed bananas

Sift flour with soda, salt and baking powder several times. Add bran and nuts. Cream shortening and sugar, and beat in eggs, singly, mixing well. Add sour cream to bananas. Add banana mixture alternately with dry ingredients to creamed combination, and stir only enough to mix. Bake in a greased loaf pan at 350 degrees for an hour and a half.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Sept. 26, 1940.

Universal Day—Make a list of all the "jobs" to be done and see how many you can check off today.

October—For those in a four year, this year, October should be the most active of the year. There will be opportunity to break out of the rut and to get a taste of the year that is ahead of you. Make any changes now that have been hanging fire—move to a new location or shift the furniture around to give you a fresh viewpoint. Things start to speed up from now on. An important year is ahead.

Year Ahead—Those born today are in a four year, so the above advice applies to them. Get into stride now!

Joan Bennett Stars Tonight in W-G-N Show

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Joan Bennett, who enjoys radio work, is looking with eagerness to her return to W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system tonight. Two years ago she made a special appearance on W-G-N in behalf of the Red Cross along with Helen Hayes. She will appear from 7:30 to 8 o'clock tonight in a radio adaptation of "Foreign Correspondent," a new moving picture produced by the Walter Wanger studios. Wanger, who is Miss Bennett's husband, will appear on the program also, discussing movie making.

The Wangers arrived yesterday from New York City and put in a busy day with William A. Bacher, W-G-N production chief, going over the script. Then Miss Bennett posed for color pictures in The Tribune studio.

Miss Bennett and Wanger have been touring the east in the interest of "Foreign Correspondent," rated by critics as one of the best pictures of the year. It will be shown here soon at the United Artists theater. Miss Bennett is to return to Hollywood soon to make a new picture for Twentieth Century Fox. Her latest movie is "House Across the Bay."

Wanger said he would continue his trek about the country, working on what he calls "the Wanger poll" thru which he is endeavoring to ascertain new trends in public taste. He is to address the Chicago Federated Advertising club at 12:15 p. m. today in Hotel Sherman on "The Screen: It's Obligation to the Public in the Present Crisis."

An outspoken foe of movie censorship, Wanger asserted that he ragards moving pictures as the greatest ambassadors of democracy. American movies, he said, are held in the highest esteem abroad, not only for their technical perfection, but because they so accurately reflect the freedom of people living in a democracy.

Tonight's production is one of the "movie nights" presented periodically on In Chicago Tonight. The W-G-N Dance orchestra, directed by Harold Stokes, will provide the musical backdrop.

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR

One writer has declared that the meanest woman in the world is the one who gives her neighbor a pet recipe with an essential ingredient left out. I cannot believe this is a common feminine practice. Good recipes should be common coinage, passing freely from hand to hand, or should I say hand to mouth?

You are welcome to any recipes I have, but to be fair to you I must insist that Wilson's Certified Meat Products should be used where they are indicated, because they are what I use in creating these recipes and I cannot guarantee the same pleasing results otherwise.

George Rector
Food Consultant

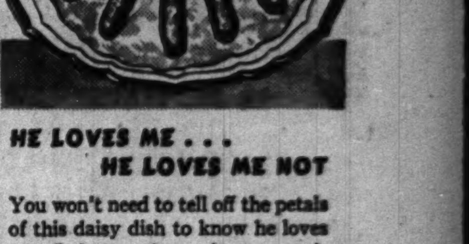
IT'S TIME FOR SAUSAGES!

The family will be looking for you to serve Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links any day now. For your convenience, this delicious, all-pork sausage meat, superbly seasoned, comes in three different kinds of links:

1. Dainty, succulent little links averaging 14-16 to the pound. Come packed in 1-lb. cellophane wrapped packages.

2. Large plump links running 5-7 to the pound. Look for the familiar little yellow "Wilson's Certified Quality" tag placed at intervals between links.

3. Country Style Sausage—the same good sausage meat stuffed in a large continuous casing, averaging about 2 feet to the pound. Buy it in any convenient amount and use exactly as you would individual links.



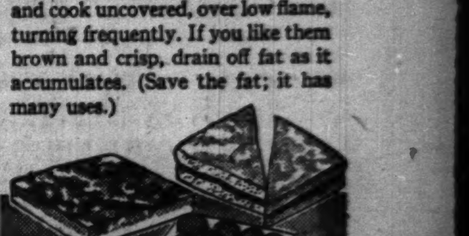
HE LOVES ME . . . HE LOVES ME NOT

You won't need to tell off the petals of this daisy dish to know he loves you. It is enough to win any man's deepest affections.

Cook plenty of Wilson's Certified Link Sausages, small or large, and arrange on top of a heaping mound of whipped potatoes. Place a generous piece of Clear Brook Butter in the center to complete the picture.

A good way to cook Sausage Links

Arrange links in a cold skillet. Pour over them ¼ cup of water, cover and let simmer for 5 minutes. Drain, and cook uncovered, over low flame, turning frequently. If you like them brown and crisp, drain off fat as it accumulates. (Save the fat; it has many uses.)



EVER EAT 'EM COLD?

In cooking sausages to serve with scrambled eggs, waffles, sauerkraut or just by their own satisfactory selves, fry all you have on hand. Any that is left over makes an irresistible cold snack later on. Or, sliced thin, cold fried sausages make a perfect filling for lunch-box sandwiches. One side of the bread may be lightly spread with apple sauce or apple butter.

JOHNSON SEEKS TO SHOVE BLAME ONTO SKIDMORE

Defense Shows Its Hand at Income Tax Trial.

The defense showed its hand yesterday in the trial of William R. Johnson, reputed gambling boss, and eight other defendants accused of conspiracy to evade payment of $1,887,864 in income taxes.

The hand, it was indicated, would be used to shove all the blame and most of the tax debt onto the capacious lap of William R. Skidmore, Johnson's erstwhile friend and alleged front man and fixer for the gambling syndicate in Cook county.

A casual remark by Floyd E. Thompson, chief of defense counsel, concerning the array of witnesses he plans calling when the defense opens today before a federal jury in the courtroom of Judge John P. Barnes was taken as confirmation of the rift reported between Johnson and Skidmore since both were indicted. Thompson was asked whether he would call Skidmore as a witness.

Calls Him a U. S. Agent.

"Call Skidmore?" exclaimed Thompson. "Why, he's a government agent! We're going to show that Skidmore, and not Johnson, owned not half but up to 100 per cent of all the gambling establishments credited to Johnson."

Government prosecutors have attempted to show that Johnson owned 23 gambling houses which returned him income of $3,500,000 during the last four years.

Skidmore, long reputed to be Johnson's partner, was indicted with Johnson, but he and three other co-defendants were dismissed at the start of the trial. He is under separate indictment on charges of evading a total of $822,484 in income taxes.

Skidmore ostensibly runs a junk yard at 2840 South Kedzie avenue. He is, however, extremely wealthy, the owner of seven farms in McHenry county. During the federal grand jury investigation of gamblers' incomes, testimony was given that many police officials and politicians were regular callers at the junk yard headquarters.

Directed Verdict Refused.

Judge Barnes yesterday overruled a defense motion for a directed verdict of not guilty in behalf of all defendants after the government had closed its case. In four and one-half weeks 150 witnesses were heard.

One of the last government witnesses, William Ruggaber, a revenue agent, testified that the late Carl Laemmle, motion picture producer, lost $4,525 in a faro game in the Drake hotel in 1936 to Ed Wait, one of the defendants.

Wait, confronted with Laemmle's canceled checks, explained to Ruggaber that he did not keep the money, but thought it "probably" had been given to Jack Sommers, another defendant. Sommers has been accused of handling more than $3,000,000 in receipts from gambling for Johnson from 1936 thru 1939, and the government's inference was that any money won by Wait eventually passed thru Summers' hands into the Johnson treasury.

Johnson, his co-defendants, and 40 other witnesses are expected to be called before the defense rests.

ARMY AUTHORITIES ASK HELP IN SEARCH FOR MISSING OFFICER

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 25 [Special].—A new appeal for aid in the search for Lieut. Col. Layson E. Atkins, who disappeared while a patient at Letterman hospital, has been made by army authorities. He is 48 years old, 6 feet tall, and weighs about 155 pounds. He has blue eyes and graying hair. Col. Atkins served on the British front in the world war. He suffered a nervous breakdown while on duty as a United States district engineer at Seattle, Wash.

Col. Atkins.

UNION RECEIVER TO GIVE REPORT TO BARTENDERS

Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the Bartenders' union, local 278, announced yesterday that a general meeting of the membership would be held at noon Monday in the Morrison hotel.

At the assembly, Keehn said, he will make a complete report on all that he has discovered about the management of the organization. He was placed in charge after George B. McLane, a veteran business agent, made formal charges that the union president, Louis Romano, is under the domination of Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and the syndicate ruled by the old Capone mobsters.

In a two hour conference with State's Attorney Courtney Gen. Keehn disclosed that he plans to have an impartial election of officers held in December. He now has a petition before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne, who established the receivership, asking permission to call witnesses under oath to determine the membership qualifications of certain suspected persons.

HARMON BLAMED FOR ST. CHARLES' USELESS FENCING

Blame for the useless condition of the so-called security fence at the Illinois Training School for Boys at St. Charles was placed squarely yesterday on William T. Harmon, superintendent of the institution, by two state officials.

The fence, built at a cost of $22,611, was constructed after 76 young hoodlums had escaped from the institution in 1939 and terrorized Fox river valley residents. It was disclosed Tuesday that the barrier has two feet of free space along much of its bottom thru which inmates can crawl to freedom.

Makes Charge of Buck Passing.

"Harmon is entirely responsible," said State Senator Thomas P. Gunning, head of the legislative commission which made possible the fence construction. "He didn't want the fence in the first place and now he's trying to pass the buck."

Gunning and C. Herrick Hammond, state supervising architect, said Harmon agreed to do the necessary grading to make the fence escapeproof, and later denied he made such an agreement. They said the work was to have been done with inmate labor, according to the agreement.

Applying such terms as "arrogant" and "noncoöperative" to Harmon, Gunning commented:

"The law specified that the state department of public welfare build the fence at once. I understand Harmon agreed to do the grading work to make it escape proof and then denied he had such an agreement."

No Comment from Bowen.

A. L. Bowen, public welfare director, who was convicted June 27 for gross omission of duty in connection with the typhoid deaths in 1939 of 60 persons at Manteno State hospital, could not be reached for comment on the St. Charles situation. His office reported, "He is out of town."

Bowen was ordered removed from office by Circuit Judge Ross Bartley at Kankakee after Bowen's conviction, but he still is on the job pending an appeal. Yesterday, the Illinois Supreme court deferred consideration of the appeal until the December term.

Mayor Myron M. Lehman of Elgin, one of the towns in which St. Charles escapees have frequently spread terror, demanded action yesterday to make the fence escape proof.

"St. Charles is nothing but a reform school," he said. "Why build a fence and leave a two foot hole underneath it to kid the public?"

At the state architect's office it was explained that the bottom gap resulted when it was decided to make the top of the fence on an even line and not follow contours of the ground.

CARDINALS SCORE 21 TO 7 UPSET OVER BEARS

TIGERS DEFEAT SOX, 10-9 AND 3-2; INDIANS WIN, 4-2

BUCK NEWSOM GETS CREDIT FOR BOTH TRIUMPHS

Detroit Increases Lead to 2 Games.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 25.—The Tigers, with blustery Buck Newsom in the lead, today marched right up to the threshhold of the world series.

They bowled over the White Sox, their season's tormentors, in the front half of a double header, 10 to 9, after 10 wild innings. Then they came back to record another success, 3 to 2. It was Newsom who saved the first game after Tommy Bridges, Al Benton, and Paul [Dizzy] Trout had been battered. And in the second game it was Newsom all the way as he added his 21st triumph to No. 20, which had been his reward in the first game.

The Tigers now are camping so close to the American league title that nothing short of disaster can keep them from taking over the scepter wielded for four straight years by the Yanks. With three games to go—all against the Indians—the Tigers can eliminate the last mathematical doubt with one victory in those three engagements. A sweep for the Indians would put them at the top. And the Yanks, now lurking in the background, would have to win all their remaining six to tie if the Tigers should win one more or the Indians three.

Lose Two Leads in Opener.

The Sox surrendered the first decision only after leads had been twice snatched away from them. When the Chicagoans warmed up in a frigid atmosphere with a six run explosion in the fifth inning it looked as if they could carry their winning streak over the Tigers to nine games. But Thornton [Lefty] Lee, none too steady at any time, finally had to be recalled. His successor, Clint Brown, was no better. He failed to clean up for Lee in the seventh, was belted for the tying run in the eighth after the Sox had gone ahead and was flattened for keeps in the 10th when Barney McCosky singled and rode home on Rudy York's two bagger.

Newsom Enters the Scene.

The Tigers' scheme of sending Bridges against the Sox because he usually beats them didn't pan out. The little curvist, along with Benton, got the six run abuse in the fifth. Next came Trout and he was hammered for two runs in the eighth, putting the Sox in front for a few minutes, 9 to 8. But after this episode, Newsom strolled forth, yielding only one hit in the last two innings. Then he decided he might as well pitch the second game.

Newsom experienced only one serious spell in the second struggle. Larry Rosenthal frisked him for a homer with a mate on base in the second inning. John Rigney lost half that edge in the same inning despite an allowance of only one safe clout prior to the seventh.

Greenberg Hits 41st Homer.

But in the seventh Hank Greenberg, who had been unusually quiet all afternoon, rifled his 41st homer into the seats, tying the score. In the next inning McCosky and Charley Gehringer connected with Rigney's pitches to produce the runs that simplified the Tigers' pennant task.

The Sox prolonged the agony a bit for the Tigers in the ninth. Wright led off with a single to center and was forced by Rosenthal. After Kennedy fanned, Silvestri, batting for Rigney, walked, but a moment later it was all over. Kolloway grounded to Bartell, who tossed to Gehringer for the final putout.

A bit of wildness coupled with a fluke hit caused Lee to surrender a run to the Tigers in the opening in-

Have They No Imagination?

We have great faith at our house in The Tribune cooking column conducted by Mary Meade, so we were very happy to try the following recipe which appeared the other day:

Chop four slices of bacon and cook until crisp. Combine with 1 cup diced pineapple, 1 tomato cut in small pieces, and 1 cup sliced celery. Serve on watercress or lettuce with mayonnaise. This is a very rich, creamy chocolate pie which I know you will love.

Served it to the family for dessert, and it still was tomato, bacon, and pineapple salad to them. —D. M. B.

Ownership.

Thru years and years of renting,
We tired of the pace
Which tenants always follow
In moving place to place.
Hotels, apartments, houses,
And cottages on lakes
Were but a routine pathway
And fraught with sad mistakes.
The pride of owning something
Wai not for uo, we toought,
A settled scheme of living
We'd never wished nor sought.
Then once, in aimless touring,
We saw a simple place
Which stirred a something in us
That logic cannot trace.
We wanted it as badly
As prince e'er wished a throne—
And now we know the pleasure
Of a place to call our own.

—Well.

The Irish Find Freedom.

Do you remember 'way back when
There was a group among the men
Newly arrived from foreign shores
Whose daily tasks were humble chores?

These stalwarts were of Erin's soil—
Sought riches, freedom, honest toil,
They wielded shovel, hoe and pick;
Were often known as Mike or Mick.

Our horse-drawn cars they whipped along,
The fares regaled with Irish song.
They joined "the force," patroled their beats;
Made safe at nights our homes, our streets.

The curbs were lined March 17
To watch these lads parade in green
Or join them in a friendly toast
To some fair lass: An Irish boast.

O'Briens, Kellys, and O'Sheas,
The Patricks, Murphys, and the Fays,
A glut of Mooneys and Morans
Comprised in part these worthy clans.

Each saved and skimped and laid away
A precious hoard for use one day
To bring from Eire a bonnie miss
For wifehood and eternal bliss.

From out this host real patriots came
To keep all free men's hearts aflame
With burning love of liberty
And solemn vow: We will keep free!

CLEVELAND FLAG CHANCES FADE DESPITE VICTORY

Milnar Defeats Browns for No. 17.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 25.—The Indians, thankful for one of Vern Kennedy's wild tantrums in the fourth inning, today beat the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 2, to retain an equity in American league pennant claims. The game was played in an arctic setting before relatives of the Indians, club officials, journalists, a radio announcer or two, and telegraphers.

Al Milnar, in achieving his 17th victory of the season, held the Browns to six hits, but excepting for Kennedy's aforesaid fourth inning blowup, was outpitched by the eccentric Missourian. Kennedy, by the way, suffered his 17th loss of the season, but probably will not match his 1939 record, when he lost 20 to lead the American league in the department. Vern today surrendered only seven hits. He walked five and three of the passes tell the story of the Browns' failure to whip the Indians for the twelfth time this season.

The Indians scored one run in the first inning in a routine way. Roy Weatherly singled with one down, stole second, stopped at third on Lou Boudreau's single and scored on Hal Trosky's infield bouncer.

Kennedy Loses Control.

The score was 1 to 0 for the Indians going into the fourth. Kennedy, famous for his tantrums in his days as a White Sox and a Detroit Tiger, seemed to have more than his usual poise. At the start of the fourth Trosky rolled gently to Johnny Berardino and Beau Bell lifted a soft fly to Roy Cullenbine. Then things began to happen.

Ken Keltner knocked a single to left and this apparently threw Vern into a rage, tho it seemed an innocuous smack at the time. Ray Mack and Frankie Pytlak stood and watched Vern miss the plate, both walking to load the bases. Milnar, who had fanned his first time up, stood with his bat on his shoulder and took four wide ones, forcing Keltner home, with the bases remaining loaded, of course. Ben Chapman then whanged a singled to center, Mack and Pytlak scoring the runs that proved to be the winning margin, and Milnar reaching third. Kennedy then seemed to regain his composure as suddenly as he had lost it. He made Weatherly roll out to Don Heffner and was sound and calm the rest of the way. In the last four innings he yielded only two hits, both by Trosky.

Swift Drives in Berardino.

Till two were out in the fifth, Milnar was charged with only one hit.

Bierman Doesn't Rate Gophers as Highly as Their Backers Do

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 25.—"Well, they're still afraid of Jack Dempsey, aren't they?"

With this metaphor Bernie Bierman, whose Minnesota football teams have won or shared four Western conference championships in the last six years, dismissed the information that the 1940 Gophers are considered by many rivals the dark horse in the impending race.

Bierman's innuendo was obvious, but he went on to explain:

"Minnesota always has had the reputation of possessing big, rugged players. Other teams forget that material can run out at Minnesota just as it does at other universities. I suppose it is natural that Minnesota is remembered for its fine teams of 1934 and 1935. [Minnesota also won the conference title in 1937 and 1938.]

Depend on Last Year's Men.

"I'm not trying to play down my squad," Bierman continued. "That isn't necessary. Last year's record—two conference victories, three defeats and one tie—is all the evidence one needs. And Minnesota will depend largely on the same boys who were available last year.

"Minnesota also lost some of last year's talent, notably Harold Van Every. There's no depth to the backs, at all. While the first back field will do, reserve material is depleted.

"The linemen run from mediocre to poor. Few stand out, with the result that linemen on the fourth team frequently outplay the varsity. Move them up and they're outplayed by the men they displaced.

"This team won't be appreciably faster than last year's," Bierman went on in detail, "for George Franck is the only sprinter in the back field. We've got some runners, but no other sprinters. There's one fast guard, but the tackles and centers are fair and the ends are so slow they handicap the team offensively on pass reception and defensively on covering kicks.

Rest of Lineup Uncertain.

"Who will start against Washington Saturday?" Bierman repeated the question. "Franck, Bruce Smith, and Bob Sweiger will start. The rest of the lineup [including the co-captains] is uncertain."

Minnesota's prospects for 1940 may be as uncertain as Bierman indicated today. His superplayers of 1934 and 1935 are gone. There are no Bevans, Widseths, or Lunds. For this other members of the conference should give thanks. Minnesota has only what may be called average material. That is, average for Minnesota. Minnesota is second in numbers to Ohio State, but Bierman believes the size of the squad is a handicap since mediocrity of the varsity makes it necessary to try out all candidates.

Play Well Against Michigan.

Minnesota played superlative football last year against Michigan. This game and the second half of the Wisconsin game, according to Bierman, represented the Gophers' offensive peak. In between, the team played indifferently. The loss to Iowa is regarded as the most embarrassing, for the Hawkeyes hadn't bothered Minnesota for a decade. On the other hand, losing to Northwestern was a more familiar story since the Wildcats won over Minnesota in 1936 to snatch the Big Nine title. Minnesota hasn't won a game in Dyche stadium since 1929.

W-G-N TO BRING LISTENERS EIGHT FOOTBALL GAMES

A schedule of eight football broadcasts packed with interest to followers of Western conference teams and Notre Dame was announced yesterday by station W-G-N.

Bob Elson, sports announcer whose name and voice are well known to millions of listeners, will describe the contests over W-G-N. The games, beginning Oct. 12, will be sponsored by the Ford dealers of Chicago.

Illinois, Northwestern, and Notre Dame occupy the most prominent places on the schedule, but the W-G-N audience likewise will have an opportunity to follow the fortunes of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio State, and Southern California sometime during the season.

Signalizing the forthcoming transition from baseball to football, W-G-N will present broadcasts of both sports on Saturday, Oct. 5.

After the world series game on that afternoon, W-G-N will broadcast the remaining part of Notre Dame's season opener against the College of the Pacific from Notre Dame. Guy Savage will be at the microphone.

Elson will take over the following Saturday. The complete schedule:

Oct. 5—College of the Pacific at Notre Dame [partial].
Oct. 12—Southern California at Illinois.
Oct. 19—Northwestern at Wisconsin.
Oct. 26—Notre Dame at Illinois.
Nov. 2—Minnesota at Northwestern.
Nov. 9—Illinois at Northwestern.
Nov. 16—Ohio State at Illinois.
Nov. 23—Notre Dame at Northwestern.

BAER, COMISKEY TO MEET TONIGHT; MAY DRAW 25,000

Jersey City, N. J. Sept. 25 (AP).—The experienced fistic clowning of old Maxie Baer and the youth and hitting power of Irish Pat Comiskey collide in the Jersey City ball park tomorrow night. Even the betting commissioners don't know which to tab as favorite. Some odds makers have installed the 19 year old Irish walloper on top at 5 to 7, others just reverse the procedure.

The chances are it'll be even money when they climb into the ring about 9 p. m. [Chicago time] tomorrow—weather permitting—before a hoped for crowd of 25,000.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Chicago's young Cardinals, 22 of them new to the team and 19 making their third starts as professionals, last night fought their way to what will survive the season as one of football's major surprises. They whipped the mighty Chicago Bears, 21 to 7.

Touchdowns in the first, second, and fourth periods, all made the hard way on good sound football and the old college try, sent the 23,181, mostly Cardinal partisans, away from Comiskey park talking to themselves. The Bears' touchdown came in the second period after the Cardinals had taken a 14 point lead and was scored by Harry Clark, a rookie half back from West Virginia.

Cards Start in Earnest.

With a starting lineup that included three rookies and seven veterans who have salvaged a deep affection for the game out of the reorganization of the coaching staff, the Cardinals set out with the opening kickoff to establish their superiority over the team that is being hailed as the finest aggregation in the history of the National league. They took the kick-off, carried it back 16 yards, then marched sixty-one yards to their first touchdown.

John Hall, a freshman half back from Texas Christian, scored it on a thirty-six yard pass from Hugh McCullough, obtained on the waiver route from Cleveland. It was all the more spectacular to the shrieking Cardinal followers because Hall was being covered by George McAfee, the Duke product who was counted upon to be the star of this game for the Bears.

Madden Goes Sixty-Two Yards.

In the second period the Cardinals turned loose another rookie, one Lloyd Madden, who led the nation's college scorers last year at the Colorado School of Mines. With one sixty-two yard sprint Madden placed the ball on the 7 yard line from where Marshall Goldberg legged it around the Bears' left end for a touchdown on the next play.

It took the Bears 10 plays after this touchdown to get their only score. Clark split the guards for eight yards after a twenty-four yard pass, Sid Luckman to Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State and the Tribune's All-Star squad, had placed the ball on the 8 yard line. Jack Manders kicked the extra point.

Cardinals Stem Tide.

The looked for Bear might appeared to be gaining its momentum, and threatened to break loose any minute, but the Cardinals stemmed the tide on sheer fight and stubborness, taking the ball once on down on their 9 yard line and again on their 8.

Having beat back the Bears' attempt to tie the score on the 9 yard line in the third period, the Cardinals roared back in the fourth to place the contest definitely out of the Bears' reach. Defying the biggest line in professional football, they hammered away at the guards and tackles until they had advanced twen-

CUBS WIN TWO FROM PIRATES, 2 TO 1 AND 6 TO 4

Chicago Captures Opener in 11 Innings.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Cubs yesterday spent nearly five hours in the chilly confines of Wrigley field in whittling down the lead of the fourth place Pirates to a single game by dint of 2 to 1 and 6 to 4 decisions over the visitors. The North siders close their 1940 National league season in these parts this afternoon against the same Pirates. A victory will give them a fourth place tie as they head for their final series with the Cardinals in St. Louis.

Lee Gains Ninth Victory.

Louisiana William Lee, who has not been having too gay a time of it this season, had to go 11 innings to win his ninth game in the opener. His opponent, Rip Sewell, who had a 15 and 4 record before the game, went away with his fifth defeat as a result of walking in the deciding run in the eleventh. Stan Hack opened the inning with a double and moved to third when Rabbit Warstler beat out a bunt. Bill Nicholson was purposely passed, whereupon Sewell evinced his generosity by walking Glen Russell.

Olsen Fails to Finish It.

Vern Olsen, Cub rookie southpaw, accomplished his thirteenth victory in 22 starts in the second game, but was not present at the finish of the day's business. After having nurtured a 1 to 0 lead thru six innings, Olsen found himself the recipient of a five run Cub seventh that eventually did in old Mace Brown, the Pirate starter. The visitors retorted with four runs in their side of the eighth, causing Ken Raffensberger to enter for Olsen.

WAILING WALL TO HEAR GOPHER OFFICIAL MONDAY

Alumni of many schools, including those of the Western conference, will get together next Monday noon in the Bal Tabarin of the Sherman hotel—known for their purposes as the Wailing Wall—for the first of a series of college football discussions, each dealing with an important game of the previous Saturday.

At Monday's meeting, Athletic Director Frank McCormick of Minnesota will show pictures and add his comments on the Minnesota-Washington game, to be played at Minneapolis Saturday. James Masker, Big Nine official, will explain 1940 rule changes.

The suggestion for such a series arose from a session arranged the day of the College All Stars-Green Bay Packers' game by Maj. John L. Griffith, Western conference commissioner. A committee to carry on the series was appointed and now includes alumni of 22 schools, those of the conference, and Amherst, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Michigan State, Missouri, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Yale, and the University of Washington.

If — — — —

If the Tigers win two of their remaining three games with the Indians nothing can stop them from capturing the American league pennant. By winning one they can assure themselves a tie, but even for this eventuality, the third place Yankees would have to win all of their remaining six games.

The second place Indians would have to sweep the three game series with the Tigers starting tomorrow to beat out the leaders. Each is idle today. The Yankees play a double header with Philadelphia today.

If the Tigers win two and the Yanks six, the final standing will be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Detroit	91	63	.591
New York	90	64	.584
Cleveland	88	66	.566

If the Tigers win one and the Yanks win six, the final standing will be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Detroit	90	64	.584
New York	90	64	.584
Cleveland	89	65	.578

If the Indians win three, the Yanks six and the Tigers none, the final standing will be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cleveland	90	64	.584
New York	90	64	.584
Detroit	89	65	.578

GAMES TO PLAY.

Tigers Take Two from Sox; Increase Lead

ning of the first game. Bartell walked and McCosky hit a single over third. They were pushed along on Gehringer's bunt, after which Greenberg was intentionally passed. York's stiff grounder slipped off Kennedy's glove into the hands of Appling, who tossed to Kolloway to force Greenberg, Bartell scoring.

Fox started the second with a single on which Kolloway made a great stop but he threw wild past Kuhel, sending Fox to second, whence he scored on a single by Bridges. The Sox recovered this run in the third when Kennedy walked, Lee singled, and Kolloway singled.

Lee gave Gehringer a walk to open the home third and after two were gone, Higgins grounded to Appling, whose throw to first apparently beat the runner, but Umpire Kolls decided otherwise. Fox then tripled to right center, scoring Gehringer and Higgins.

Kennedy Starts Big Rally.

Kennedy touched off the fifth inning rally by singling to left. Lee singled to center and when McCosky fumbled the hit, Kennedy skipped to third. Kolloway beat out a hit to Higgins, Kennedy scoring. Higgins' throw to York was bad, so Kolloway took second and Lee third. Tresh walked, filling the bases and Kuhel's tap to York resulted in a force of Lee at the plate. After Solters popped to Gehringer for the second out, Appling and Wright banged singles, driving in Kolloway, Tresh and Kuhel. Benton came to the rescue and Rosenthal doubled to center, Appling and Wright scoring to complete the six run cluster.

Appling and Kennedy fumbled on Fox and Tebbetts to open the sixth and Stainback batted for Benton, but tapped into a double play. Then Bartell hammered his homer into the left field seats. In the seventh, York doubled to left with one out. Lee was carted away and Brown came in to get a three base welcome from Higgins, York scoring. Fox's fly let Higgins run home, putting the Tigers ahead, 8 to 7.

Sox Go Ahead Again.

Trout, who took over the Tiger pitching in the seventh, did well enough until one was retired in the eighth. Tresh slashed a single into left and scored on Kuhel's double to left center. After Kuhel had gone to third on Solters' fly, Trout let loose a wild pitch and Kuhel scored to put the Sox ahead, 9 to 8.

The Tigers tied it up in their half on McCosky's single and Gehringer's double and that is all they got despite intentional passes to Greenberg and York with one out. The next two men popped to infielders.

988,975 WATCH YANKEES PLAY ON HOME FIELD

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—The New York Yankees' 1940 attendance was so good they broke a precedent today to announce the official paid figures for home games at 988,975. Only the fact that today's final home game with the Washington Senators was rained out kept them from touching the million mark. Even so, the turnout this season was considerably larger than last year, when they were rolling to their fourth consecutive world championship.

At the start of the game Keltner fumbled a bounder from Cullenbine's bat. The scorer, mindful of the wintry scene, excused Keltner and gave Cullenbine a hit. Cullenbine didn't last long. He was caught shivering off first and Heffner and Rip Radcliff supplied infield outs.

In the fifth, Harlond Clift supplied an easy out and George McQuinn fanned. Berardino drew Milnar's first pass and scored on Bob Swift's double to center. Swift stopped at third on Kennedy's sharp single to left and was left there when Cullenbine fanned.

The other St. Louis run came in the eighth. Heffner singled to center, and, after Radcliff had rounded out a hitless day with a fly to Weatherly, Walter Judnich singled to right, putting Heffner on third, whence he scored on Clift's fly to Weatherly.

Indians Are Idle Today.

After Boudreau had thrown out Berardino at the start of the ninth, Manager Fred Haney tried to rally his Browns with pinch batters. Chet Laabs, batting for Swift, fouled to Pytlak and Lucadello, batting for Kennedy, was tossed out by Milnar.

The Indians will rest tomorrow, perhaps holding a few secret meetings to decide how to beat the Tigers three straight without asking the advice of their manager, Oscar Vitt. Tonight, however, Vitt and his rebels seem agreed that Bob Feller should and will pitch against Lynwood Rowe and fellow Tigers in the opening of the do-or-die Detroit series, which will be played here Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

While the other Indians were rushing for reports of the Tiger-Sox second game this afternoon, Feller went out on the field for a workout. Feller has been resting since he won his 27th victory in Detroit last Sunday. He will loosen up again tomorrow and is determined to pitch one of his best games Friday, he says.

Tho it was bitter cold and windy here today, the sun broke out in the middle of the game and indications are that there will be no rainouts to complicate the mathematics of the final big series.

SOUTH BEND NINE DEFEATS CHICAGO IN AMATEUR PLAY

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 25 (AP).—Birmingham, Ala., continued undefeated in the amateur world series of the American Baseball congress today by handing Battle Creek its first setback, 7 to 4. The Dixie team meets South Bend, Ind., Friday. Battle Creek drew a bye until Saturday.

In other games Holyoke, Mass., eliminated Detroit, 12 to 0; South Bend won from Chicago, 2 to 1, and Charlotte, N. C., took a 13 inning thriller from Grant Town, W. Va., 9 to 8, leaving only five of the original entry of 16 teams in the meet.

C. D. G. A. TEAM TITLE IS TAKEN BY WESTWARD HO

The Westward Ho sextet, West District league winner, won the annual Chicago District team championship yesterday at the Chicago Golf club by scoring 71½ out of a possible 108 points. Other scores were: Edgewood Valley, Southwest league, 58½; Midlothian, South district, 49, and Skokie, North Shore district, 36.

Trailing the Southwest district team by three points at the half way mark, Westward Ho made a strong finish in the afternoon. Fred Wagner made a clean sweep in his matches for the No. 2 team. Earl Wilde posted the lowest medal score, 79—72—151.

Wagner was the individual point winner of the 36 hole interleague matches with a total of 15½ out of 18.

MICHIGAN TEAM IS OFF BY PLANE FOR CALIFORNIA

Squad of 35 Stops Off at Airport.

The second Michigan football team in history to invade the Pacific coast passed thru Chicago yesterday afternoon, enroute by plane to Berkeley, Cal., and the season's opener with the University of California Saturday.

The 35 man squad plus coaches, newspaper men and equipment, filling three United Air Lines planes, stopped here for 15 minutes. It will reach Salt Lake City in time for lunch today and will hold a light workout in the University of Utah stadium before again taking to the air.

Coach Fritz Crisler announced two additions to the squad roster following a morning practice in Ann Arbor. Tackle Rudy Sengel of Louisville, Ky., and Half Back Elmer Madar of Detroit, Mich., were named. Sengel has been suffering from an ankle sprain but the team doctors believed that he would be fit by Saturday.

WORBAN, ILLINI SOPH, STARS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 25 [Special].—Johnny Worban, sophomore left half back, was the offensive star in an hour long Illinois intrasquad scrimmage. Worban reeled off two first downs and then followed with a twenty-two yard dash off right tackle.

N. U. HAS BLOCKING DRILL.

A blocking drill topped off with a scrimmage constituted Northwestern's workout yesterday as the team prepared for a brush with the freshmen Saturday. The small number of frosh candidates has forced cancellation of the traditional varsity-frosh game.

PURDUE WORKS ON DEFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 25 [Special].—Purdue again was given a general defensive drill with a yearling eleven using Butler plays. The necessity for alertness in stopping Butler's speedy backs was emphasized.

IRISH LINEUP NEARLY SET.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 25 [Special].—Eight of the 11 positions in Notre Dame's starting lineup appeared to be set as the Irish got work on kickoffs, punting, and passing, followed by dummy scrimmage.

HERBERT OUT FOR SEASON.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 25 [Special].—Eddie Herbert of Gary, who called signals from the full back post, probably will be lost to Indiana this season, Coach McMillin announced, after examinatio.. by an Indianapolis specialist disclosed that Herbert is suffering from a broken cartilage in the right leg.

BADGER SOPHS PUSH VETERANS.

Madison, Wis., Sept. [Special].—Sophomores continued to push the veterans for starting jobs at the end, tackle, and left half back positions as Wisconsin's Badgers went thru a long scrimmage designed to improve the running and passing attack.

IOWA ENDS DOUBLE DRILLS.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 25 [Special].—Iowa's varsity was kept intact as the squad romped thru its final day of double practice. Jim Youel was at left half, Ray Murphy and Bill Green alternated at full back, Al Couppee called signals and Bill Gallagher was at right half.

LOU BARKHAUSEN TO BE FETED AT DINNER TONIGHT

Chicago sportsmen will attend a testimonial dinner for Lou H. Barkhausen, state chairman of Ducks Unlimited, tonight in the Union League club. William R. O'Donnell, chairman of the dinner, said yesterday that Mr. Barkhausen will be presented with a gift in appreciation of his work in waterfowl conservation. Proceeds from the dinner will go to the Chicago office of Ducks Unlimited.

Ohio Tag Drill Develops Into a Scrimmage

Columbus, O., Sept. 25 [Special].—Ohio State's football team had another look at the Pittsburgh plays as demonstrated by the reserves in a defensive drill today. Starting as a tag scrimmage, the workout grew into the real thing. It probably will be the last hard drill before the season opener with the Panthers here Saturday.

The Ohio State starting lineup probably will see Anderson and Clair at ends, Nosker and Thom at guards, Maag and Daniell, tackles, and White, center. In the back field along with Capt. Langhurst at full back and Don Scott at quarter back will be Kinkaid at right half back and Fisher at left.

MONARCHS ROLL 3,108; WIN 2 IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

Bowling 3,108 at the Archer-Kedzie Recreation, the Monarch Beers won two games from the Koenig Braus in the Wednesday division of the Classic league last night. The Koenigs totaled 3,059 and won the last game by five pins. The Pabsts took three from Ruppert and went into second place, Koenig dropping to third. The Michelobs defeated Blatz Beers twice and joined them in a tie for fourth with the former and Schlitz, who won all three from Ambrosia. Harry Ledene Jr. bowled 234, 236, and 200 for high individual series, and Joe Hunter's 257 was high game. Scores:

Maroon Alumni to Cheer Stagg On at Notre Dame

Sports adherents of the University of Chicago, who won't have a team to cheer for this season, will get at least one chance to join in the October parade to the football stadiums and root for a favorite.

Their sole opportunity will come a week from Saturday when the College of Pacific plays Notre Dame. Few of the Maroon sympathizers have ever been in Stockton, Cal., where C. of P. is located. The team's coach is the magnet. He is Amos Alonzo Stagg, caught by the 70 year age limit at Chicago seven years ago, but who came back with his California team two autumns ago and whipped the Maroons, 32 to 0, helping sound the death knell of the game on the Midway.

Moreover, the veteran coach will give deserted Stagg field its only collegiate touch of the year. His players will drill there a week from Friday afternoon. The squad will arrive at 9 a. m. the same morning at the Dearborn street station. Headquarters will be in the Windermere hotel until the Californians leave Saturday morning for Notre Dame.

Football-minded alumni, headed by Judge Hugo M. Friend of the appellate court, who is president of the order of the "C," and Jay Berwanger, last of Chicago's great fotball players, are in charge of arrangements for a group to attend the game. More than 100 reservations for the party have been made. Chicago alumni who wish to make the trip to Notre Dame are asked to contact either Judge Friend or Berwanger.

Gopher Coach Doesn't Rate Team Too High

In the list of sophomore material, four stand out. There's Dick Wildung, 210 pound tackle, who probably will be the No. 1 man all the way. Bill Daley, St. Cloud full back, is hard on Sweiger's heels and Sweiger, you will recall, beat out the veteran Marty Christiansen for the full back job in the last four games in 1939.

Leo Van Sistine from West Depere, Wis., is a fine candidate for right end. Then there's Gene Bierhaus, quarter back, who has been moved up behind Bob Paffrath.

Gophers Want Blocking.

All Minnesota wants from its quarter backs this year is blocking. Franck will call the signals from a half back position even as Van Every did last year. Don't be surprised, however, if John Bartelt gets the quarter back spot. He can block and he also can call signals.

Center and quarter back are the positions causing coaches the most worry. Bob Bjorklund, co-captain, may or may not start at center. He won a letter as an end in 1938, but now is suffering from a charley horse.

As usual, Minneapolis supporters have made the Gophers favorites in their opening games against exceptionally strong foes. These in order are: Washington, a Pacific coast favorite; Nebraska, favorite to win the Big Six title, and Ohio State, defending champion in the Western conference.

The list of varsity rankings, with asterisks denoting those who are sophomores, follows:

Center—Bob Bjorklund, Bob Kolliner, Gene Flick.
Right tackle—Urban Odson, Ed Lochner, Jim Luschino.
Right end—Bill Johnson, *Leo Van Sistine, *Carl Ekberg.
Quarter back—Bob Paffrath, Gene Bierhaus, John Bartelt.
Right half—George Franck, Joe Jamnik, *Mike O'Bradovich.
Full back—Bob Sweiger, *Bill Daley, Ed Steinbauer.

Odson, right tackle, weighs 247 pounds, and Luschino, a candidate for the same position, weighs 234 pounds.

Mat Foes Fall from Ring; Krauser Is Given Decision

Karol Krauser, Polish heavyweight wrestler, won a decision over George Dusette of Boston in the Rainbo Fronton last night when both grapplers fell from the ring and Krauser climbed back before the 20 count, while Dusette was unable to get back in time. The time of the match was 42 minutes and 20 seconds. In other matches Dizzy Davis tossed Jack [Bad Boy] Brown in 9 minutes and 16 seconds; Fred Grubmier beat Pete Schu in 20 minutes and 10 seconds when the latter conceded the fall, and Pierre La Belle and Tarzan Kraus wrestled a 30 minute draw.

CARDINALS DEAL BEARS SURPRISE DEFEAT, 21 TO 7

Passes, End Run Bring Victors' Touchdowns.

ty-five yards in five plays. McCullough then passed seventeen yards to Alton Coppage, a rookie end from Oklahoma. This placed the ball on the Bears' 11 yard line.

Tinsley Takes Pass for Score.

Goldberg picked up one at the Bears' right tackle, a spot that appeared to have improved some since the Packers maltreated it Sunday. On the next play Gaynell Tinsley, Cardinal end, slipped past Ray Nolting, and before the Bear half back could recover, Tinsley had taken McCullough's pass in the end zone. McCullough kicked the extra point.

Lou Zontini, former Notre Dame full back and a member of the 1940 All-Star team, obtained on waivers from Cleveland Tuesday, made momentary appearances to kick the first two. He also came in for one play in the third period to attempt a field goal from the Bears' 32 yard line. It was wide. The Bears also attempted a field goal, Lee Artoe's placement from the 31 yard line in the second period falling short and setting the stage for Madden's run.

No Night for McAfee.

McAfee, whose run back of a kickoff for a touchdown and 44 yard sprint thru the Packers on Sunday had made him the most talked of player in the league, found no opportunity to shine last night. The Cardinals established early that he is not to be feared as a blocker and that passes, when fired by the opposition, seem to bewilder him.

Yet all the Bears were having the same trouble against the Cardinals—all except Danny Fortmann, who attempted to play the entire left side of the Bear line after Tackler Joe Stydahar had been ejected with William Dewell, Cardinal rookie end, for a set-to in the second quarter.

Fortmann Shows Punch.

Fortmann alone of all the Bears gave the kind of a performance the crowd had expected from the championship favorites. Without the young interne and a break that kept alive their touchdown march the Bears might have been subjected to greater humiliation.

Their scoring drive was stopped on their own 39 yard line. On fourth down with ten yards to go McAfee punted sixty-one yards to a touchback. A holding penalty was called on the Cardinals, however, and the ball went back to the Bears on their 46 yard line, where it was first down. An eighteen yard gain by Joe Maniaci, Luckman's twenty-four yard pass to Kavanaugh and Clark's eight yard touchdown plunge followed.

Reds Defeat Cardinals, 5-0; Then Lose, 4-3

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 25 (AP).—Bucky Walters went down to defeat before the Cardinals today, 4 to 3, in the second game of a double header, after the National league champions won the opener, 5 to 0.

Against Walters, Johnny Mize hit his 42d home run, equaling the record for a St. Louis player, established by Rogers Hornsby while with the Cardinals in 1922.

MORCARINE WINS FEATURED SPRINT AT HAWTHORNE

Upsets Favorites by Length in Six Furlongs.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Morcarine, racing at odds of more than 6 to 1, upset the calculations of the Hawthorne betters yesterday by leading the way home in the afternoon's main event while the co-favorites, Prairie Dog and Rude Awakening, were finishing second and third, respectively.

This six furlong sprint, which was called the Chicago Coal Merchants handicap, shaped up as one of those races which the Denemark stable was going after in earnest. Dave Womeldorff, the country's leading trainer, sent out not only Prairie Dog, but also Court Dance, winner of the Hawthorne Inaugural handicap. The crowd would have gone overboard for that entry if it were not for the presence of Rude Awakening.

Silverette Breaks Last.

This filly, owned by C. E. Hagyard, Lexington veterinarian, had beaten Lexbrook stable's Potranco and other good sprinters in her last start. Then too, there was All Lizzie, which is capable of brilliant speed when she's right. So the wagering was pretty well split up. Morcarine was held at fourth choice. The only other in the field was the 10 year old mare, Silverette, quoted at 13 to 1.

Silverette broke swiftly and Court Dance went out to force the pace. Jockey Willie Garner rated Morcarine along in third place. Then came Prairie Dog and All Lizzie. Rude Awakening was running last.

Court Dance Challenges.

Court Dance launched a strong challenge on the turn and conquered Silverette as they approached the stretch. The Denemark mare took command for a few yards as the run thru the straightaway began, but Morcarine then moved up steadily and soon was out in front. As Court Dance tired, her stablemate, Prairie Dog, took up the chase and Rude Awakening also closed powerfully.

Keeping Morcarine under a drive, Garner sent her across the finish line a little more than a length in advance of Prairie Dog. Rude Awakening was another length farther back.

Man alive! This schedule of America's football games is just what I need... a guide to the Autumn thrill spots of the whole nation... and right here at home, too.

Here's another spot that thrills... a swell drink... because it's made with Seagram's 5 Crown. You can be sure of satisfaction in any drink made with this whiskey. Always, with a smile, you can say...

Here's how!

Here's how...

TO BE SURE ABOUT YOUR CHOICE OF WHISKEY...

1. SURE of that full, fine flavor that makes a satisfying highball every time, bar none!
2. SURE of that grand aroma and authority that produces a perfect cocktail whenever you signal for one.
3. SURE of that rare bouquet and mellowness that gives real enjoyment straight and in any drink.
4. SURE of all these qualities without incurring a penalty on your budget... and that is something!
5. SURE OF WHISKEY SATISFACTION every time. All the time, for every drink, without hesitation... just SAY:

STAR OF YEARS AGO, MARGUERITE CLARK, IS DEAD

Began Film Career in '14 with Famous Players.

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—Marguerite Clark, star of silent film days, died of pneumonia today in Leroy sanitarium.

Miss Clark began appearing in silent pictures with Famous Players in 1914, playing the female lead in "Wild Flower," "The Crucible," and "Goose Girl."

The former actress, who was 53, was the widow of Harry Palmerston Williams, airplane manufacturer and member of a prominent Louisiana family. They were married in 1918, and her husband died in 1936 in New Orleans.

Made Debut in Baltimore.

A native of Cincinnati, O., she was educated in a convent and made her first stage appearance with the Aborn Opera company in Baltimore. Many stage engagements in New York followed before she entered the motion pictures. She abandoned the stage and screen soon after her marriage.

In 1935 Miss Clark was named a member of the motion picture censorship board of Louisiana by the late Senator Huey Long. Shortly before Long was shot to death she announced she would campaign in his behalf if he was nominated for the Presidency.

Living with Sister.

Recently Miss Clark had been living with her sister, Cora, in New York. The sister is the sole survivor.

Miss Clark was taken to the Leroy sanitarium last Thursday after she suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

A cousin of Hugh R. Wilson, former United States ambassador to Germany, Miss Clark's first theatrical experience was with De Wolf Hopper. Within two years she was co-starred with him and played in several Shubert musical shows.

A few years after making her first film appearance she attained a popularity equaled only by Mary Pickford's.

SHOT CLEANING HIS GUN.

Special Officer William Blodgett, 1807 Lincoln Park West, chief of police for the Crane company, shot himself in the left hand yesterday while cleaning his gun as he visited at 5509 South Whipple street.

A POSTMASTER'S FRIENDLY IDEA; LET'S ALL WRITE

Have you met the only girl in the world? Do the tea leaves say you're going to marry a millionaire? Well, Uncle Sam suggests that you tell somebody about it—by letter. He'll sell you the stamps.

Postmaster Ernest J. Kreutgen announced yesterday that Oct. 6 to 12 will be the third national letter writing week, when you should take your pen in hand and write those letters that you've been putting off.

"Remember," he said, "your most distant friends are only on the other side of your mail box."

Day by Day on the Farm

By HOMER NEISZ

An Intricate Process

Sept. 25, 1940.

STUDIES by the Du Page county farm workers of the digestive systems of farm animals have revealed to them the intricate processes by which foods are formed and then digested and used by animals. Nature has provided an elaborate system for taking elemental substances and changing them into nourishment for all living things.

It starts with the plant food elements in soil, water, and air. Plants alone have the power to take these substances in their natural state and change them, with the aid of sunlight, into foods that can be used to build plant tissue. The plants, in turn, form the food of plant-eating animals. All animals then, whether they eat plants or meat or both, are directly or indirectly dependent upon plants for their food supply.

Must Be Digested.

The food that animals eat is of no use to them until it is digested and transformed into substances that can be absorbed into the blood and used for energy or for building body tissue. This process of digestion and absorption takes place as the food passes thru the alimentary canal, which is similar in all mammals, but varies with each species.

The various farm animals have digestive systems especially suited to the kinds of food they eat. For example, the cow has a large stomach, divided into four compartments, for digesting large quantities of roughage. In contrast, the pig has a much smaller stomach because it eats more concentrated foods. The horse eats much roughage like the cow and has only one relatively small stomach, but parts of the large intestine are greatly enlarged to aid in digesting coarse feeds.

Digestion of food is part mechanical and part chemical. It begins in the mouth where the food is chewed and mixed with saliva, one of the digestive juices. Saliva contains some of the enzymes that aid digestion. When food reaches the stomach it is further broken up mechanically by action of the stomach muscles. It is further digested chemically by the gastric juice, secreted by glands in the stomach walls. This contains hydrochloric acid and enzymes, chiefly pepsin.

The stomach, rather than digesting food ready for absorption by the blood, merely prepares the food further for the final digestive and absorption processes in the intestines.

The food must be in a semiliquid state before the pylorus muscles will allow it to pass from the stomach into the small intestine. Here it is mixed with many enzymes and with pancreatic juice from the pancreas, bile from the liver, and digestive juices secreted by glands in the walls of the small intestine.

How Enzymes Work.

Enzymes are organic compounds which bring about changes in other organic compounds without themselves being changed or broken down.

In most animals, digestion and absorption are virtually completed in the small intestine. This is not true with the horse, however, as these processes are continued in the enlarged portions of the large intestine.

A horse's large intestine holds 120 to 140 quarts, compared with 40 quarts for that of a cow. Another peculiarity of the horse is that it has no gall bladder for storing bile secreted by the liver, the bile going directly into the small intestine as it is produced.

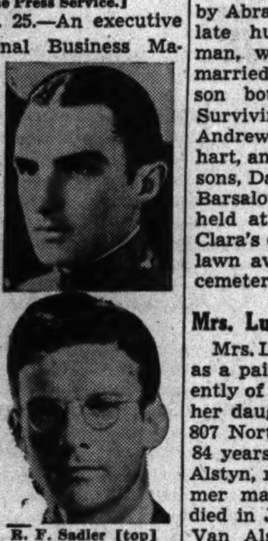
BLAMING SELF FOR 3 DEATHS ENDS OWN LIFE

Act Makes Loss of One Job Cost Four Lives.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 25.—An executive of the International Business Machines corporation, a West Point graduate, whose report on a subordinate was responsible indirectly for the man's suicide after he had killed his two sons, today did the only thing he thought would ease his conscience.



R. F. Sadler [top] and Donal O'Reilly. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Parking his car near the Brooklyn end of the Manhattan bridge, Robert Fletcher Sadler, 32 years old, leaped to his death in the East river, 135 feet below. He lived at Hempstead, N. Y., with his wife and their children, Louise, 5, and Robert Jr., 1.

It was a report he had made on the ability of Donal O'Reilly, an installation man employed by the company for 11 years, which led to O'Reilly's discharge a little over a week ago.

Hides Job Loss from Wife.

O'Reilly kept the loss of his job a secret from his wife during a frantic search for work. Then, unable to keep up the deception any longer, he took his two sons, 7 and 8 years old, to a carnival in the Bronx Monday night before killing them and himself in a tree shaded section of Bronx River parkway.

Sadler learned of the murders and suicide today. His immediate superior, Charles S. Scott, manager of the firm's offices in Brooklyn, told police that Sadler had been greatly upset when he heard of O'Reilly's death.

Refuses to Be Consoled.

"He told me he was responsible for it," Scott said, "altho I tried to make him realize that his was only one of several reports on O'Reilly which resulted in the man's dismissal."

Sadler and Scott lunched together in Manhattan, the manager said, and they parted about 1 p. m. Sadler was on his way to the army base at Brooklyn where he was supervising the installation of equipment he recently sold.

Twenty minutes later he stopped his automobile 90 feet from the Brooklyn tower of the bridge and climbed onto the railing. Witnesses tried to stop him, but before they could reach him he plunged over the edge. A tugboat crew recovered his body.

Insists He Was 26 Blocks Away; Jailed in Collision

Edward Swanson was driving in Warren boulevard when his automobile struck a parked car. Police emphasized that yesterday when they testified in Safety court against Swanson, a tunnel worker living at 2617 North Spaulding avenue. Judge Joseph B. Hermes sentenced him to 10 days in jail for drunken driving after hearing the policemen's story. They said that Swanson insisted he was on Logan boulevard, 26 blocks north.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Going some place in a hurry? Here's a worth while tip: The journey will be comfortable, pleasant and safe if you do what most Chicagoans do . . .

COUPLE BATTLE AT COURT; 20 JOIN IN FREE FOR ALL

New York, Sept. 25 [Special].—A furious free for all fight occurred today in the New York county courthouse as Frank J. Long and his estranged wife, Bunny Howard, night club singer, battled for the custody of their daughter, Jacqueline, 6 years old.

The fight started a few minutes after Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter adjourned to Oct. 30 a suit brought by Long to recover the child from Miss Howard.

As photographers were urging the couple to pose with the child, Long seized Jacqueline and ran toward the elevator. His wife and several friends hurried after him and tried to wrench Jacqueline, who was screaming "I want father," from his arms. They all piled into the elevator and the fight continued for 10 minutes in the rotunda of the building. Before it was over, more than 20 lawyers, court attendants, elevator operators, and bystanders had joined the fray. Long suffered a head injury.

Long is a $21 a week program seller at the World's Fair. His wife, a red headed torch singer, earns considerably more. They were married Sept. 5, 1933, at Newton, Ill., and separated last Aug. 13.

BYSTANDER HURT AT STRIKE RIOT AWARDED $7,500

Victor Anderson, 9919 Ewing avenue, a janitor, won a $7,500 jury verdict in the Superior court of Judge Michael L. McKinley yesterday against the city of Chicago. He was injured during the 1937 Memorial day strike disorders at the Republic Steel company plant in which 10 persons were killed. Anderson, who said he was a bystander, sued on the contention that the city had permitted crowds to assemble for unlawful purposes. During the mêlée between strikers and police he was shot in the left leg and beaten.

BANKS' BILLIONS AWAIT CALL TO PAY FOR PLANTS

Defense Group Asks Their Enlistment.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Commercial banks have at least 3 billion dollars available for immediate financing of emergency defense plant expansion, the National Defense Advisory commission announced tonight in advocating use of the funds.

The commission's statement was based upon a rapid survey made for it by the federal reserve system, which indicated that the banks are ready to loan "an amount several times that which at present is believed required for building emergency production."

Loans would be made by commercial banks to companies having national defense contracts, the contracts serving as security. Legislation is now pending in congress which would permit the assignment of claims against the government to the banks.

Advocates Lower Interest.

"Because of the security thus afforded, interest rates should be lower than on the usual type of commercial loans," the commission said.

This announcement advocating private financing rather than waiting for the government to provide funds for defense expansion is expected to have an immediate beneficial effect on finance and industry—affording the banks an investment channel for long stagnated funds and giving industry the "go ahead" signal on defense contracts.

Bankers have already expressed eagerness to participate in the national defense program and were awaiting details of the rumored government financing plan as they met at Atlantic City, N. J., for the annual convention of the American Bankers' association. The government was recently granted an additional one billion dollars in defense lending authority thru the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Most of the RFC's loans have been at 4 per cent.

Banks Eager to Lend.

"This 48 hour test mobilization of bank credit available for defense plant construction loans shows that the commercial banks of the country are eager to do their part in the national defense program," commented William S. Knudsen of the Advisory commission.

"Not only are they eager," he said, "but they stand ready with funds far in excess of the amount needed for this purpose. As soon as the pending legislation has been passed which will allow the form of contract developed by the commission to be assigned as security for such loans, I believe that manufacturers needing to expand their plants on account of the defense program should have no trouble in obtaining funds for construction promptly and at low rates of interest thru their usual banking connections."

Banks polled in the survey were not asked to make binding commitments, the commission said. They were requested to indicate the funds immediately available, without reference to funds which might be obtained from correspondent banks or federal reserve banks or advances or discounts, which would swell the total considerably.

Has Two Specific Purposes.

The commission said that the new contract plan has two specific purposes: [1] to expedite signing of contracts by the army and navy by assuring the contractor against loss on construction for military purposes; and [2] to safeguard the government's interest in such facilities on termination or completion of the contract.

"The plan provides," said the commission, "that the government reimburse the contractor not in additions to the unit price of the product purchased as heretofore, but in five equal annual instalments covering the amount of his capital expansion costs. Thus, cost of supplies and amortization of construction cost by the government would be separated. Prices are thereby held at a minimum and, while the manufacturer is relieved of the risk involved in building fixed assets for the emergency, he shill absorbs all the ordinary risks involved in production.

"Adoption of this plan assures that neither the private manufacturer nor the government would assume in advance all the risk, nor subsequently reap as a profit the residual value. The contract contains provisions whereby the contractor may, by purchase or lease from the government, acquire use of the facilities for himself after they have served their purpose in connection with emergency defense needs.

Should Aid Investment.

"It is expected that the plan will conserve government funds and stimulate investment of private capital in the defense construction program. At the same time, private manufacturers would provide management and operation and assume all the ordinary risks of the business. Government participation would be limited to actual expansion costs."

Simultaneously, the labor division of the defense commission announced an "up-grading plan" for filling skilled labor requirements of the defense program as the need arises. The plan is aimed at rapid promotion of mechanics thru emphasis on development of higher skills, leaving vacancies at the bottom for hiring the unemployed. Twenty district representatives are now being appointed to supervise this undertaking in 20 industrial centers.

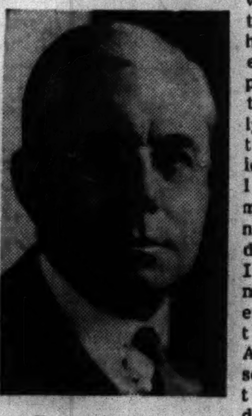
Banker Claims RFC Is Stifling Private Capital



Emmett F. Connely.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 26 [Special].—The government is using the war situation to hasten an economic paralysis that is slowly stifling the American way of life, Emmett F. Connely, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, asserted here today. He declared that the encroachment on private finance threatens the existence of free enterprise.

Connely spoke at a joint luncheon meeting of the Bond Club of Philadelphia and the eastern Pennsylvania group of the Investment Bankers' association.

"Using the defense program as an easy and popular excuse," he said, "the proponents of national capitalism have skilfully sold the public on the idea that the expediency of the situation requires that the Reconstruction Finance corporation finance industry's preparation for the rearmament job. So, in a few short months, the RFC has authorized more than half a billion dollars for expansion of plants for defense orders."

RFC Faces Few Restrictions.

This course was not followed because of any inability or unwillingness of the investment bankers, he asserted. But, he added, private investment banking cannot compete with the government that regulates it when the government does not subject itself to the same regulations.

"Government, in its capacity as banker," he explained, "does not use the same standards that it exacts of the investment banking industry. It does not register its issues. It does not have to demand up-to-date audits. It does not have to analyze operations by means of engineering reports."

There need be no carefully drawn indenture in an RFC loan, Connely said.

Called Unbeatable Competitor.

"Also, I understand that today the RFC offers to take back plants that won't be used by the borrower after the war," Connely said. "Now, between this offer and the right of foreclosure the government is rapidly putting itself in the position to own and operate plants that will be in direct competition with industry.

"The government does not have to worry about profit or amortization, hence it becomes an unbeatable competitor to ably managed companies."

OFF STREET AUTO PARKING VOTED BY ZONING GROUP

A recommendation that future apartments, hotels, theaters, and certain other buildings be required to provide auto parking facilities was adopted yesterday by the city council subcommittee on rezoning.

The proposal would require buildings with two, three or four apartments to furnish garages or other "off the street" parking places for each family. Six apartment buildings would have to furnish space for four cars; and buildings with eight or more apartments, space for 75 per cent of the tenants.

Other recommended requirements were: Apartment hotels, parking space for one-half the tenants; transient hotels, space for 25 per cent of the tenants; theaters, a parking place for each 10 seats; department stores, parking area 25 per cent of the ground floor area; food marts; space equal to the floor area, and commercial and manufacturing plants, space equaling 20 per cent of the floor area.

MILLERS FROM 11 STATES PROTEST U. S. WHEAT LOAN

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 25 (AP).—Flour millers from 11 states named a committee late today to study "problems" they said were created for small inland millers by the government wheat loan program. The action came after a day long conference with Commodity Credit corporation and Agricultural Adjustment administration officials.

Today's meeting was attended by millers from Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri.

The millers asserted government loans have tied up hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat and there is not enough "free" grain to keep smaller mills supplied.

BRITISH REPORT BIG INCREASE IN AUGUST IMPORTS

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP).—The government announced today British imports increased £8,012,326 [about $32,049,304] in August over July and £13,946,737 [$53,786,948 over August, 1939].

Total imports were valued at £95,019,856 [about $380,079,424]; exports totaled £32,554,729 [$130,218,916], an increase of £1,365,485 [$5,461,940] over July and a decrease of £4,522,245 [$18-088,980] compared with August, 1939.

Baldwin Locomotive Has Big Gain in New Business

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25 (AP).—The dollar value of orders taken in August by the Baldwin Locomotive works and subsidiary companies, including the Midvale company, was announced today as $16,490,709 as compared with $5,972,204 for August, 1939. August shipments totaled $4,551,658, against $3,676,669 in July and $4,037,126 in August, 1929.

FEAR BUSINESS BOOM MAY TURN INTO TIME BOMB

U. S. Fiscal Policies Worry Bankers.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 25.—The bankers gathered here for the annual convention of the American Bankers association are agreed that the country has on its hands a first class business boom. They are not so happy about it, however. There is a general feeling that the boom generated by the national rearmament program may turn out to be a time bomb.

That feeling was expressed in comments and speeches heard at today's session of the convention.

The basis for the uneasiness is the fiscal policy of the federal government. When and if the explosion will occur will hinge, it is felt, on the methods by which the government finances the rearmament program and the degree of control which is exercised over other governmental expenditures.

Hanes Summarizes Attitude.

The opinion of the convention was summarized in the speech of Robert M. Hanes, retiring president of the association.

"The emergency defense program," he said, "may direct attention to realities which will help the country appraise soberly some of the policies which we have been blindly following."

The vast bureaucracy of the federal government, the concentration of power in the executive branch and the detailed regulation of the country's economic life have been accepted thus far, he said, without a general understanding of their significance.

"We not only proceed from year to year on an unbalanced federal budget," Hanes asserted, "but we have permitted the compounding of the federal debt to a huge total which threatens the solvency of the entire economy."

Lists Possible Consequences.

One of four consequences may follow, he said. These he listed: 1. The repudiation of the government debt; 2. Further devaluation of the dollar; 3. Confiscatory taxation; 4. Printing press inflation.

"No country," he said, "can achieve military defense unless it is economically prepared. This country is rich enough in resources and manpower to build adequate defenses against military attack, provided it pursues fiscal policies which are designed to encourage thrift and strengthen solvency."

The dictatorships in Germany and Italy, he said, were preceded by internal bankruptcy in those countries. In each the seizure of power by the revolutionary dictatorships followed a period of waste, extravagance, and disregard of the rights of workers and the thrifty classes of citizens, he asserted.

Warns of Dictatorship Here.

"As a nation," Hanes added, "we have indicated our readiness to pay for the larger part of our national defense program by increased taxation. Against this process there is no significant protest. But unless we put an end to deficit financing, to profligate spending, and to indifference to the nature and extent of government borrowing, we shall surely take the road to dictatorship."

The delegates prepared to wind up their sessions early tomorrow. The remaining sessions are concerned mainly with problems of bank management and the selection of committees that will function during the next year.

UNFILLED PLANE ORDERS PLACED ABOVE 2 BILLIONS

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—Unfilled orders of aircraft producers exceed $2,000,000,000, compared with $300,000,000 a year ago, the magazine Aviation reported today.

Still larger backlogs are in the offing, the publication said, since the war department had authorized 21 companies to tool up for $1,250,000,000 of assured orders.

Among the largest backlogs listed were: Curtiss-Wright, $550,000,000; United, $450,000,000; Lockheed, $190,000,000; Douglas, $140,000,000; Boeing, $130,000,000; Consolidated, $120,000,000; Glenn Martin, $110,000,000; North American, $100,000,000; Vultee, $80,000,000.

Expansion plans, the magazine said, call for a 150 per cent increase in aircraft factory space.

Air Associates, Inc., maker of airplane parts, announced it would start producing Oct. 1 in its new $500,000 factory at Bendix, N. J., in a shift from its old plant at Garden City, Long Island.

Smith Leaves Bankers' Post to Hemingway

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 25.—Russel G. Smith of San Francisco, executive vice president of the Bank of America, today withdrew his bid for the presidency of the American Bankers association.

Smith was a candidate for the office of second vice president of the association, a position which would lead to his succession to the presidency of the organization two years hence.

He withdrew when it became apparent that the convention would reject the movement to select a man connected with the bank of which A. P. Giannini is chairman.

Hemingway Gets Post.

W. L. Hemingway, president of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust company, St. Louis, was selected for the post by the convention's nominating committee. Because of Smith's withdrawal, Hemingway's election in the balloting tomorrow is assured. He is classed as a "Willkie Democrat."

Meanwhile Giannini abandoned his plan to carry his fight for Smith's election to the convention floor at tomorrow's session. In announcing his decision Giannini declared that he had received information from Washington that the opposition to Smith's candidacy was drummed up by the treasury department.

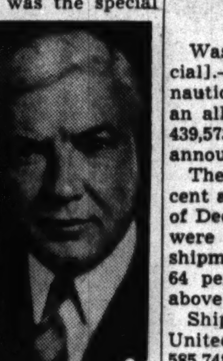
The opposition was based mainly on the desire to avoid an indirect indorsement by the convention of Giannini in his feud with the treasury.

Branch Banking Involved.

The issue of branch banking versus unit banking was also involved in the contest. Giannini is the largest branch banker in the United States.

There was no contest over the other offices. P. D. Houston, chairman of the American National bank of Nashville, Tenn., heretofore first vice president, succeeds to the presidency of the organization. H. W. Koeneke, president of the Security bank of Ponca City, Okla., will move up from second to first vice president.

PRESIDENT J. L. BEVEN HONORED AS HE ENDS 40TH YEAR WITH I. C.



J. L. Beven.

J. L. Beven, president of the Illinois Central system, was the special guest last night at a dinner in the Stevens hotel given by officers of the railroad to celebrate his 40th anniversary with the road.

He received a lifetime pass, given only to those who have been with the company for 40 years, from John W. Cousins, New Orleans, retired superintendent, who hired Beven as a messenger boy. C. A. Tweedy, chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, presented him an embossed testimonial on behalf of 18 railway labor organizations.

Beven is the first president whose entire career has been with the Illinois Central, and he is the first southerner to hold the post. He was born in McComb, Miss., the son of an Illinois Central locomotive engineer. He became president in December, 1938, succeeding the late L. A. Downs.

Tug of War Over Traction Ordinance on Again Today

The tug of war over terms of a unified traction ordinance will be resumed this morning when the city council local transportation committee meets with representatives of the surface and elevated lines. The groups will try to reach an agreement on six points still unsettled in the ordinance. The remainder of the ordinance has been drafted jointly for the last six weeks by attorneys for the city and the companies in accordance with agreements previously made.

August Plane Exports Reach All-Time Peak

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 [Special].—United States exports of aeronautical products in August reached an all-time record high value of $37,439,573, the department of commerce announced today.

The August total was almost 30 per cent above the previous record month of December, 1939, when such exports were valued at $28,893,811. August shipments exceeded those of July by 64 per cent and were 208 per cent above those of August, 1939.

Shipments during August to the United Kingdom amounted to $29,585,748, or 79 per cent of the total.

August exports consisted of 329 land planes valued at $23,777,862; 54 land planes to be assembled abroad valued at $1,099,864; 451 engines valued at $5,065,151; engine parts and accessories valued at $2,282,009; instruments and parts valued at $985,706; propellers and parts valued at $1,521,717; parachutes and parts valued at $108,492; and other parts and accessories valued at $2,598,772.

The August figure brought total aeronautics exports for the first eight months of 1940 to $198,640,264, or almost 70 per cent in excess of the total for the entire year of 1939. The 12 principal countries of destination for exports during the eight months ending Aug. 31 and the value of their purchases were:

France	$75,402,397

Army Awards 171 Millions in Plane Orders

The war department yesterday announced orders of $171,746,293 for airplanes and engine and $9,000,000 for shell casings. Other "defense" news included plans announced by three railroads to increase equipment at a cost of more than $12,000,000. Meanwhile the navy department disclosed that it has agreed to finance necessary expansion of private shipyards to speed construction of the proposed "two ocean" fleet.

Under the airplane order, two divisions of the Curtiss Wright corporation in Roberston, Mo., and Buffalo, N. Y., received contracts for planes costing more than $94,000,000, and North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Cal., got a $72,857,049 contract. An award of $4,727,542 for airplane engines went to the Continental Motors corporation, Muskegon, Mich. Types, delivery dates, and quantities were withheld in all cases.

Expand Plane Factory.

Officials of North American Aviation said that plans have been completed for the construction of a plant at Dallas to cost an estimated $7,000,000. The factory, involving 1,000,000 square feet of floor space, is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy in March, 1941.

General Motors corporation, which received the $9,000,000 shell order, will produce the casings in its newly acquired heavy press plant at Lansing, Mich. Preparations to tool the plant will be started immediately, according to C. E. Wilson, acting president, and first deliveries are anticipated in about eight months.

Southern railway announced the award of contracts for 3,180 freight cars. Estimated cost, based on current quotations, is about $8,000,000. Manufacturers which will share in the order are Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, Pressed Steel Car company, American Car & Foundry company, and Mount Vernon Car Manufacturing company.

Will Build Own Cars.

A $3,000,000 car construction and engine conversion program will be started by the Reading company in its own plants at Reading, Pa., E. W. Scheer, president, said.

Louisville & Nashville railroad placed an order with the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, for 31,000 tons of steel rail for November and December delivery. It is valued at $1,400,000.

One of the largest orders in its history was announced by the Seiberling Rubber company, Akron, O. The contract for more than $500,000, received thru the White Motor company, calls for bullet seal tubes and mud and snow tires for use on vehicles being made for the government. The company said that because the award came when replacement tire production was normally low, no particular personnel or plant expansion would be necessary.

Get Detroit Housing Job.

Contracts have been signed by A. Smith & Co. and Lipman Construction company, both of Chicago, joint contractors, and the city of Detroit for the building of an $8,088,000 housing project there.

SENATE VERSION GAINING IN TAX BILL DICKERING

But Main Points Are Still at Issue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Some progress was reported today by conferees on the excess profits tax bill, but the main hurdles remained to be crossed.

The bill is now before a joint conference committee where differences between the house and senate versions must be smoothed out. The points of greatest variance—the rates and basis of excess profits taxation—are still in controversy.

So far the senate version has prevailed in the points agreed upon, which appears promising for the bigger items. The senate bill generally is considered more lenient than the house measure.

Expect Report Next Week.

The committee now is not expected to report on the bill before next week. It will then be up to the house and senate to accept or reject the conference report. There is no doubt about President Roosevelt's approving the bill. He has been waiting impatiently for the measure to get out of congress.

Suspension of the Vinson-Trammell profit limitations on warship and warplane contracts was agreed upon, with acceptance of the senate version. Agreement was also reached on the senate provision for consolidated tax returns by corporations and their subsidiaries. The senate section, however, defining an affiliated corporation as one where 95 per cent of each class of stock is owned by another was changed to exclude nonvoting preferred stock.

Exempt AAA Refunds.

The conferees also adopted the senate provisions permitting, under the average earnings method of determining excess profits, deductions for long term capital losses; deductions for expenses incurred by refinancing and refunding operations, and ruling out from normal tax deductions the penalty tax on "unreasonable accumulations" of earnings.

The senate provision also prevailed on exempting income received thru repayment of AAA processing taxes as well as permitting a deduction by the company making the repayment.

The rider attached to the senate bill, empowering the President to establish the necessary machinery for insurance covering the National Guardsmen and draftees called into active military service, was approved. Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the conference committee, said that the new provision leaves intact the present world war veterans insurance fund, but provides for a new system to cover the trainees. The rights of railroad men under the rail-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—Preferred shares left the common stocks far behind today for the third session in succession, lending stability to a market which was inclined to sell lower. Senior issues rose as much as 3 points.

Observers said such stocks were in demand by investors who believed the present high rate of operations of the companies represented would result in accrued dividend payoffs. Emergence of these shares as a rallying factor occurred toward noon, after many prominent common stock issues had slipped almost 2 points.

The Associated Press index of 60 selected stocks closed down .1 of a point at 45. Transactions totaled 603,960 shares, compared with 710,510 yesterday.

Nonferrous metal company stocks closed higher as consumer demands for copper, lead, and zinc continued at high levels. Aircraft issues, too, held their ground, some making small gains, altho the session ended before the Washington announcement of the $171,000,000 airplane and engine award.

Among rising preferred shares were General Steel Castings, Certain-Teed, Pittsburgh Steel, Alleghany, and Devoe and Raynolds. Advancing common stocks included Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Allied Chemical, and Caterpillar. On the downside were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Harvester, du Pont, Dow Chemical, and American Can.

Sale of an exchange membership was arranged at $42,000, an increase of $4,000 over the preceding sale. The price was the highest posted since May.

New York Bonds.

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—The bond market declined some today under pressure of offerings in some low priced rails and a group of foreign dollar obligations but the list had many firm spots, including United States government issues which gained up to 23-32d's of a point.

Reports that the Japanese might become more closely identified with the German-Italian axis brought losses of 1 to nearly 2 points in bonds of all three powers. German 5½s and 7s; Italian 7s, and Japanese 5½s and 6½s were affected mostly. Other dollar bonds deviated little from Tuesday's range.

Domestic corporate loans with losses of fractions to around a point included Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s at 14½, Nickel Plate 4½s at 59⅝, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 4s at 105⅛, St. Paul Adjustment 5s at 1¼, International Telephone 5s at 27½, and Northern Pacific 3s at 44¼. Colorado & Southern 4½s slumped 2¼ to 16½, following yesterday's loss of around 3.

Issues closing higher included Alleghany Stamped 5s, Delaware & Hudson 4s, Shell Union 2½s, and Pacific Gas 3⅝s.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading was erratic on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as turnover dropped to 19,000 shares from 21,000 on Tuesday. Of the 86 active issues, 37 were unchanged, 26 declined, and 23 advanced. Allied Products gained 1⅛ points to establish a new 1940 record at 15.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois shares advanced half a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

GRAIN MARKETS TURN STRONGER AFTER EARLY DIP

Grain markets turned upward yesterday after a small decline in the early trading. May wheat and oats reached new seasonal high levels. Professional traders who sold on the early decline found little for sale when they tried to cover.

Closing trades on wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade were at gains of ¼ to ⅜ cent on the old crop months, while July was unchanged. Corn was ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher. Oats showed greater strength and finished 1 to 1⅛ cents higher. Rye was ¾ cent higher.

Soy beans, which staged a substantial upturn on Tuesday, closed 1 to 1½ cent lower, despite reports that farm organizations were supporting the movement to ask the department of agriculture to establish a government loan on this commodity.

COTTON

American cotton markets strengthened in the late trading yesterday after a moderate decline. Closing trades were about the top, with gains of .02 to .06 cent a pound. Buying by mills and strength in securities more than offset hedge sales. The latter was less in evidence than on Tuesday.

The Liverpool market will be closed from Sept. 26 to 28 inclusive, it is announced.

Spot cotton closed .04 to .05 cent higher, with New York, 9.77 cents; New Orleans, 9.63 cents; Galveston, 9.29 cents, and Houston at 9.25 cents a pound. Price follow:

Commodities

Price trends were irregular yesterday in principal commodity futures markets. Copper reacted after Tuesday's sharp rise and Santos coffee and lead were lower. Wool tops continued the steady climb of the last several days to new seasonal highs, while hides, silk, cocoa, cottonseed oil, and Rio coffee showed small gains. Rubber, zinc and domestic sugar were mixed.

The exceptional demand for domestic copper subsided yesterday after Tuesday's sales brought the month's total to 241,052 tons—well above any previous records in the industry. Tuesday's new price of 12 cents a pound held firm in the cash market, but copper futures declined 0.11 to 0.18 cent a pound. December deliveries closed at 10.65 to 10.68 cents a pound.

Export copper — principally metal produced in foreign mines and held for reshipment abroad—remained steady at 9.9 cents a pound and most of the inquiry for this is coming from the Japanese.

In other metal markets, cash zinc and lead were firm at the new higher price levels set earlier in the week, but zinc futures were 0.10 cent a pound lower to 0.15 cent higher, and lead futures were unchanged to 0.02 cent lower.

Wool tops futures pushed ahead 0.2 to 1.4 cents a pound with October and December contracts setting new highs at $1.07 and 99.9 cents bid. Rubber futures finished 0.09 cent a pound higher to 0.03 cent lower. December deliveries were quoted at 19.18 cents.

Domestic sugar futures responded to a strong raw market and closed 0.01 cent a pound higher to 0.01 cent lower. Liquidation and hedging influenced Santos coffee futures in an erratic market and prices were 0.10 to 0.13 cent a pound lower as buying lost momentum.

FIX SOFT COAL PRICES AFTER 3 YEARS' EFFORT

Appeals Against Federal Regulations Closed.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes marked "closed" today on the record of appeals from coal division findings and declared minimum prices for the sale of all soft coal at the mines, effective Oct. 1.

His action ended three years of effort by the coal division—previously the national bituminous coal commission—to determine minimum rates.

The minimum prices, which boost soft coal costs an average of 11 cents a ton, will be applicable to the tonnage of 12,500 mines which produce substantially all of the bituminous coal consumed in the United States.

Minor Changes Made.

Only a few minor changes were made by Ickes in his review of appeals from findings of Director Howard A. Gray of the coal division.

The principal amendment repealed provisions of the marketing rules limiting terms of contracts for coal deliveries to 30 days. Under the amendment contracts after Nov. 15 may run for any period up to a year. Longer contracts, he ruled, might be made upon approval of the coal division. Most other changes were in specific prices for particular grades of coal.

Hearings Termed Fair.

Ickes held generally that the record of the hearings, which lasted more than two years, showed "beyond any doubt" that a "full and fair hearing" was accorded all producers and consumers.

He described "without merit or immaterial" specific objections to procedure at the hearings, and added: "Some of them exhibit solely a desire further to encumber this record and to obstruct the accomplishment of this task; some are hypertechnical; some indicate merely a preference for courses of action different from that taken, but not demonstrably superior."

2 CHICAGO AREA FIRMS INCREASE THEIR DIVIDENDS

Two Chicago area companies yesterday declared interim dividends larger than previous payments this year, and a third cleared arrears on its preferred stock.

The Sivyer Steel Casting company, with plants in Chicago and West Milwaukee, authorized a dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock. The last disbursement was 25 cents on July 20.

Directors of the Goodman Manufacturing company, Chicago, voted a dividend of 75 cents a share on the common. The enterprise, which manufactures machinery for the coal and other industries, paid 50 cents on June 28 and 25 cents on March 29.

House Group Votes Wider Bank Deposit Insurance

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 (AP).—The house banking committee recommended today insurance provided by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation be increased from $5,000 to cover bank accounts up to $10,000. It reported favorably on a bill providing for this, and to decrease from one-twelfth of one per cent to one-fourteenth the assessment rate on deposits of insured banks.

Place Young Men on Draft Boards, Association Urges

The committee on national defense of the Junior Association of Commerce of Chicago last night discussed further plans in its campaign to get young men of conscription age placed on draft boards thruout the country "to present the viewpoint of youth." The group met in the Hotel La Salle.

SENATE VERSION GAINING IN TAX BILL DICKERING

But Main Points Are Still at Issue.

Omit Social Security Section.

It was decided not to incorporate any provision concerning social security payments, after social security officials told the conferees that the status of Guardsmen and draftees under the social security act was not endangered. Such a guarantee of social security status had been incorporated in the senate bill upon the recommendation of the President. If legislation regarding social security payments for army men is found necessary it will be enacted later.

The house and senate bills differ on rates of the excess profits taxes—the house version ranging from 20 to 50 per cent on excess profits and the senate levies amounting to 25 to 50 per cent.

Also, the house bill encourages computation of excess profits on a return on invested capital basis, which opponents say penalizes normal earnings as well as abnormal earnings arising from the defense program, while the senate bill removes discrimination against an average earnings formula for determining the taxable income. Both bills provide for amortization of plant and equipment expansion costs for defense over a period of five years.

CENTRAL AREA LEADS NATIONAL POWER INCREASE

Expansion of activity in the central industrial area, of which Chicago is the hub, boosted last week's electrical power production 11.9 per cent above the corresponding 1939 period, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday.

The Commonwealth Edison company reported its electricity output for the week aggregated 157,565,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 154,757,000 in the preceding week, and 149,279,000 last year. The year-to-year gain was 5.6 per cent.

National power output totaled 2,628,667,000 kilowatt hours, showing a less than seasonal decline of 0.4 per cent from the 2,638,634,000 kilowatt hours of the preceding week when production was the second highest on record. The figure represented a 7.3 per cent gain over a year earlier when output aggregated 2,448,888,000 kilowatt hours.

August Job Total Topped Only During Peak of '37

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25 (AP).—The department of labor reported today that expanding industrial activity, notably in industries producing national defense needs, boosted August employment to the highest August level on record with the exception of 1937. The department estimated that nearly 36,000,000 workers were employed last month, an increase of 1,130,000 over August, 1939.

ARMY INQUIRES FOR VAST SUPPLY OF SHELL STEEL

Expect Chicago to Turn Out 100,000 Tons.

Chicago area steel mills some time in October are expected to start producing 100,000 tons of steel for the manufacture of shells, it was disclosed yesterday. The Pittsburgh district is expected to get ordnance orders for a like amount of steel and it is reported that other eastern producing areas may be awarded similar contracts.

Chicago steel company executives said yesterday that altho the orders have not been placed, bids are being asked which shortly will be translated into actual orders.

The Chicago contracts, it was said, will provide for 1,703,000 shells. Both the Chicago and Pittsburgh munitions contracts will provide steel for identical sizes of shells—155 mm., 105 mm., 90 mm., 75 mm., and 3 inch.

Seek Steel for Bombs.

It is also reported that the ordnance department is making inquiry for an undisclosed amount of steel to be used in manufacturing 500 pound demolition bombs.

Iron Age reports that defense activity in addition to the shell steel is producing an increasing number of inquiries and orders.

About 42,000 tons of steel to be used for building construction, largely for defense manufacturing purposes, were ordered last week. Among the orders were: Chrysler tank plant at Detroit, 6,700 tons; du Pont powder plant at Charleston, Ind., 6,210 tons; Grumman Aircraft Engineering plant at Bethpage, N. Y., 2,600 tons and Mesta Machine company plant expansion at Pittsburgh, 1,500 tons.

Room for Expansion.

Altho large orders are being placed for structural shapes, many of the independent steel fabricators are operating at not more than 50 per cent of capacity, providing room for future expansion, Iron Age indicated. Shipyards are taking large amounts of the steel shapes being fabricated.

Iron Age says that whether additional plants should be constructed to handle the defense orders is a moot question. It adds that steel company managements feel that no additions to open hearth capacity are required if orders are kept from being bunched too heavily. It reports that the only serious bottle neck so far has been in electric furnace capacity.

Steel ingot production continued this week at 93 per cent of plant capacity, Iron Age estimated.

TARGET PAPER SALES BOOMING, MAKER REPORTS

Because defense preparations have stimulated interest in such things as bullets and target paper, the Peninsular Paper company, Ypsilanti, Mich., is enjoying a minor sales boom. This was learned yesterday by delegates to the semiannual convention of the National Paper Trade association in the Stevens hotel.

Police departments, schools, clubs, Y. M. C. A. groups and other organizations with rifle ranges are ready customers, the company reported. "The special paper punctures so cleanly that scores are easy to read," the company said in explaining the wide acceptance.

ARMY LETS MORE CONTRACTS FOR PLANES, ENGINES

Day's Total 171 Million; 9 Million for Shells.

dens, the project will consist of 2,150 dwelling units to house more than 10,000 persons. During construction, which is scheduled to be finished early in 1942, as many as 2,500 men will be employed at the project site.

Sites at Omaha and Grand Island, Neb., are being considered as possible locations for an $8,000,000 inland factory for the Consolidated Aircraft corporation of San Diego, Cal., Maj. Reuben H. Fleet, president, said. Nashville, Tenn., Dallas, and Austin, Tex., also are being studied, he added.

More Army Contracts.

The war department subsequently announced other contracts totaling $34,978,843 representing chiefly orders for munitions for the ordnance department and signal corps. Among them were contracts to:

Pettibone Mulliken corporation, Chicago, artillery material, $3,817,884.

Byron Jackson company, Los Angeles, Cal., artillery material, $2,643,709.

Budd Wheel company, Detroit, ammunition components, $2,415,000.

Miller Printing Machinery company, Pittsburgh, Pa., artillery material, $1,736,941.

Walworth company, Kewanee, Ill., ammunition components, $1,660,250.

L. L. Rosenthal & Co., Chicago, wool overcoats, $16,957.50.

Illinois Firms Get Orders.

The navy announced award of the following contracts to Illinois firms: Elgin National Watch company, Elgin, aircraft clocks, $35,088.45; Lindberg Engineering company, Chicago, electrical furnace, $12,520; Jas. P. Marsh corporation, Chicago, pressure gages, $21,596.69; Magnaflux corporation, Chicago, magnetic inspection equipment, $11,501.33; Holmes Projector company, Chicago, sound motion picture equipment, $23,946.16; Durabilt Steel Locker company, Aurora, metal lockers, $17,988; All-Steel Equipment Company, Inc., Aurora, metal lockers, $11,411.80.

Approximately 16,000,000 yards of cotton and woolen fabrics will be purchased by the army at the Philadelphia Quartermaster depot on Oct. 4. This large purchase is to be in addition to the 16,000,000 square yards of khaki cotton cloth on which bids will be opened on Oct. 2.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

With lard production falling rapidly as a result of the decreased volume of heavy hogs in recent receipts, demand at the stockyards yesterday again showed a marked preference for the big weights. Heavy butchers and sows rose 10 to 15 cents, with some 25 cents higher. Light hogs were about steady.

The top and average at $6.60 to $6.25 a hundred pounds, respectively, were only 35 cents apart. The day's peak was paid for 239 and 261 pound averages, the top showing 5 cents advance. The average was up 10 cents.

Colder weather and the recovery of hog prices stimulated buying of steers and yearling cattle at steady to strong prices. Best heifers held steady, others selling steady to lower. Steady prices prevailed for beef cows.

Advances of 25 to 35 cents were registered in lambs.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

How to choose an apartment quickly and with no regrets

To get the apartment that fits your needs, make sure you overlook no worthwhile value. You can do this best by following the Apartments to Rent columns in the Tribune want ad section.

You know that the greater the selection you have from which to make a choice, the more certain you are to get what you want. That is why it is to your advantage to consult the want ads in the Tribune. Rental agents and landlords place more Apartments to Rent want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

With the aid of Tribune want ads you can make up a list of apartments which you know in advance are most likely to suit you. Then you can go directly to them, knowing they offer you what you want.

To end your apartment hunt happily, begin it in the Tribune want ad section!

For your convenience

The Tribune want ad section lists Apartments to Rent want ads by locations in the city or suburb, and by number of rooms. Thus, you can turn at once to the grouping which offers apartments of the size and in the location you prefer.

LANDLORDS! RENTAL AGENTS! With more than 730,000 circulation right in Chicago and suburbs every day of the week, the Tribune sells from 335,000 to 500,000 more copies in metropolitan Chicago than are sold by other Chicago newspapers. To get quick action from Chicago's largest, most responsive audience, call SUPerior 0100—Want Ad-Viser.

RAILROADS EARN MORE IN AUGUST THAN LAST YEAR

First 12 Roads to Report Have 11 Pct. Gain.

Heavier traffic, due partly to shipments for the national preparedness program, have resulted in substantial increases in revenues for a number of railroads, reports issued yesterday indicated.

The net operating income [before bond interest and other fixed charges] of the first 12 roads to report for August showed an increase of 32.3 per cent over July, and 11.8 per cent increase over August of last year.

Among railroads reporting gains in net operating income for August yesterday were the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Santa Fe, and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific.

Railroad earnings reported yesterday compared as follows:

GLASS BULBS.

I see that Corning Glass Works has been indicted with the General Electric company on charges of conspiring to monopolize the supply of glass bulbs and tubes in this country in violation of the antitrust laws. I would like to know more about Corning Glass and its products.—C. L.

Answer: Corning Glass Works was incorporated in 1936 to continue a business founded in 1868. The company manufactures glass of special chemical composition for various purposes. Trade names of the glass products include "Pyrex," "Steuben," "Thermo," "Monax," and "Galax." The company's main plants and office are in Corning, N. Y.

Capital stock of the company is closely held. Capitalization consists of 23,774 shares of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value and 642,768 shares of $10 par common stock. Total assets of the business are valued at approximately 18 million dollars.

RECAPITALIZATION.

I own stock in a company which is working out a recapitalization plan. The reclassification is not connected with a court reorganization. If I refuse to accept the plan what can I do?—C. M.

Answer: If the recapitalization plan is approved by the percentage of security holders required by the laws of the state in which the company is incorporated or by the company's charter, then the plan is effective. You can either exchange your securities for the new securities provided under the plan or sell them. By refusing to make the exchange you are not gaining an advantage. If, however, you think the plan unfair or that approval of the stockholders was obtained fraudulently, you may bring suit to stop its execution.

If neither the state law or the company's charter specifically requires a majority or other ratio of the security holders to approve the plan, then it cannot become fully operative until the unanimous consent of all the stockholders is obtained. Those who do not agree to the new capitalization cannot force the dissenters to accept the exchange of securities.

CUMULATIVE PREFERRED.

What is cumulative preferred stock? What is the effect of unpaid preferred dividends on the common stock?—O. T.

Answer: Cumulative preferred stock carries the provision that if the regular dividends are unpaid, they accumulate and must be cleared off before anything can be paid on the common or other junior stocks. When a corporation falls behind in paying the required dividends on its cumulative preferred stock, the price of its common stock usually is depressed because the chances of common stock dividends become more remote.

CORN CROP NEARS MATURITY; MOST IS OUT OF DANGER

Dry Soil Delays Plowing for Winter Wheat.

Dry and warm weather during most of the last week hastened maturity of corn and the bulk of the crop is now safe from frost in practically all regions, the weather bureau reported yesterday. In Iowa, which is representative of a considerable portion of the central area, 83 per cent is safe, averaging about 10 days earlier than usual.

A large amount of corn has been cut for silage or fodder, especially in the drier sections where the yield of grain is not heavy, the bureau said. Harvesting of corn for grain has started in the more northern sections of the main belt, and this work is well along in the southwest.

Wheat Seeding Is Delayed.

While the dry and hot weather favored the corn crop it increased the need of rain for winter wheat. Seeding made rapid progress in areas where there was sufficient moisture, but this work and plowing is behind schedule in dry sections.

Crop conditions in Illinois, as reported by the weather bureau, follow: About 74 per cent of the corn and 70 per cent of the soy bean crops are safe from frost; corn will probably be 90 per cent safe by Sept. 30. Unseasonable warmth favored maturity of corn. Soil moisture is badly depleted, particularly in central and southern parts of the state. Plowing and seeding were retarded in many localities by dry soil conditions.

Rainfall Reports.

Rainfall for the week ending Sept. 24 and from April 1 to Sept. 24, in inches and hundredths of inches, as reported by the weather bureau follow:

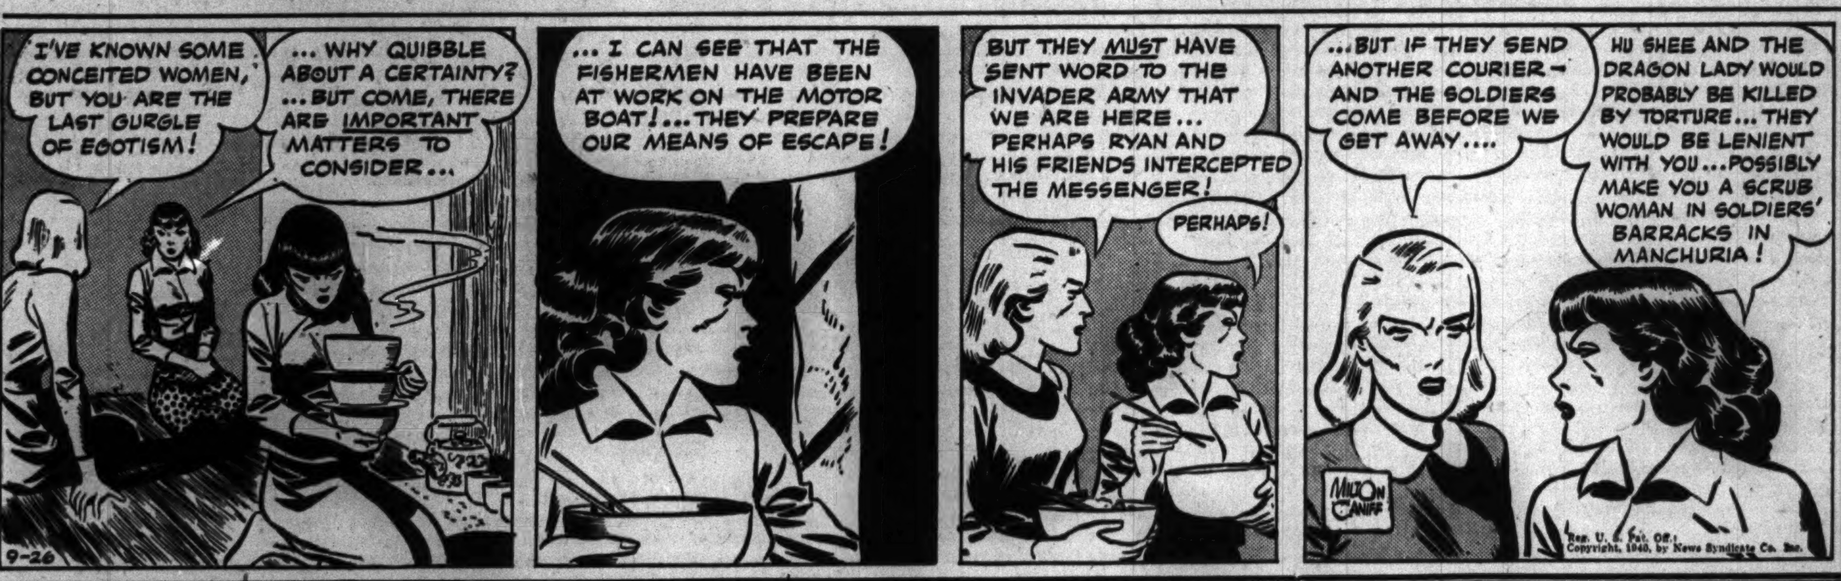
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—SHE'LL MAKE THE BUCKET BRIGADE



I'VE KNOWN SOME CONCEITED WOMEN, BUT YOU ARE THE LAST GURGLE OF EGOTISM!
... WHY QUIBBLE ABOUT A CERTAINTY? ... BUT COME, THERE ARE IMPORTANT MATTERS TO CONSIDER ...
... I CAN SEE THAT THE FISHERMEN HAVE BEEN AT WORK ON THE MOTOR BOAT! ... THEY PREPARE OUR MEANS OF ESCAPE!
BUT THEY MUST HAVE SENT WORD TO THE INVADER ARMY THAT WE ARE HERE ... PERHAPS RYAN AND HIS FRIENDS INTERCEPTED THE MESSENGER!
PERHAPS!
... BUT IF THEY SEND ANOTHER COURIER— AND THE SOLDIERS COME BEFORE WE GET AWAY ....
HU SHEE AND THE DRAGON LADY WOULD PROBABLY BE KILLED BY TORTURE ... THEY WOULD BE LENIENT WITH YOU ... POSSIBLY MAKE YOU A SCRUB WOMAN IN SOLDIERS' BARRACKS IN MANCHURIA!
